No. 3 of 1876.

A Bill to extend the Criminal Tribes' Act, 1871, to the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

Extension of section 1, Act XXVII of 1871, to Lower Provinces of Bengal.

1. Section one of the said Act shall be read as if, after the words "Lieutenant-Governors of," the following word were inserted (namely) :—"Bengal."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

For the last four years the Criminal Tribes' Act has been in force in the North-Western Provinces, the Panjab, and Oudh; and the result has been a satisfactory diminution in the number of the offences against which the provisions of that Act are directed. The object of the present Bill is to extend those provisions to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, in parts of which there is reason to fear that there are, if not tribes, at least gangs and classes of persons addicted to the systematic commission of non-bailable offences.

[Second Publication.]

The 21st February 1876.

No. 92.—Notification.—The following draft Rules, having reference to the Main Western Canal, first section; the Arrah Canal; the Buxar Canal, first section; the Main Eastern Canal, first section; and the Patna Canal, are hereby published under the provisions of Sections XI and XII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," (No. V, B.L.C.) :—

I. Every vessel on entering any of the above canals shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorized by Government to be charged on the canal.

II. The tonnage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and of these Rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

(a.) The product of half the length of the vessel, from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b.) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c.) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on vessels exceeding 100 maunds tonnage, any fraction of 100 maunds less than 25 maunds is to be omitted; exceeding 25 and not exceeding 50 maunds, is to be charged as 25 maunds only; exceeding 50, and not exceeding 75 maunds, to be charged as 50 maunds only; and exceeding 75 maunds as 75 maunds only. Above 1,000 maunds no fraction of 100 maunds tonnage is to be charged

Toll will be charged on vessels under 100 maunds tonnage on the actual measurements of the vessels, omitting fractions of tens of maunds.

III. Every vessel entering any of the above canals shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date the vessel entered the canal, the point to which it may proceed in the canal, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, and the number of days for which the vessel may remain in the canal, and the date of such last day. The number of days which the vessel may remain in the canal, without additional payment, shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed.

IV. Toll may be paid at the first station either for the entire number of toll stations on the line of navigation, or for any less number of stations.

V. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorized Canal Officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The ticket shall be delivered up at the last toll station.

VI. Owners of vessels may compound by the payment of a fixed sum for the use of the whole or a portion of any of the above canals for any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. Each vessel so compounded for shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded for, and the limits of the canal within which the vessel may pass; such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under Rule V, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

VII. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and the dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by officers in charge of toll stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

VIII. Vessels remaining in the canals for a period exceeding that allowed under Rule III, will pay a demurrage of eight annas per 100 maunds per diem for each day or part of a day that they may remain in excess.

IX. No boats above 18 feet beam over all, and no rafts or floats of more than 10 feet width and 150 in length, will be allowed to enter the canals.

X. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

[Government Gazette, 29*th February* 1876.]

XI. Vessels must have their masts fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed; and when under sail, vessels must always keep in the middle of thecanal; when being tracked, vessels are, as far as practicable, to keep to their port or left side of the canals.

XII. All vessels anchoring at night are to keep to their port or left bank ofthe canals.

XIII. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a Canal Officer. No vessels shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation; and no bamboos or poles shall be allowed to be erected on vessels when at anchor. Any infringement of this rule will be punishable by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XIV. Every vessel when put to shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board of it: any infringement of this rule will be punishable, by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XV. In every case of wreck or obstruction of the channel by sunken vessels, the Canal Officers may call upon the person in charge of the vessel to remove the same without delay, and shall give every reasonable assistance towards so doing. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Canal Officers, these Officers may undertake the removal of the obstruction themselves at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in Section IX of the "Canals' Act, 1864."

XVI. If the Canal Officers be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boat seized under the "Canals' Act," he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

XVII. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the Canal Officers may detain the vessel within the canal for a period not exceeding 24 hours, provided that within that period, the Canal Officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under Section XVI of the "Canals' Act."

XVIII. The banks or berms of the canals shall not be used as wharves for the deposit of goods, under a penalty of Rs. 10 for each offence; but, except in special cases, when the permission of the Canal Officers will be necessary, all articles shall be removed to the outer banks of the canals, and all such articles as shall not be finally removed from within the boundaries of the canals within a period of six days after being so deposited, shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds.

XIX. The canals may be closed once a year, for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

XX. All offences against the provisions of these Rules shall be punishable as provided for in Section XVIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and all fines imposed may be recovered in the manner mentioned in Section XVII of the same Act.

XXI. The term "Canal Officers" in the foregoing Rules shall include the persons alluded to in Section VIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and any other persons who may be specially appointed to exercise such powers by the person appointed to collect the tolls.

To—The Government of India.

I have considered in Council your Financial letter, dated the 30th August last, No. 301, in which you recommend that mechanics and others engaged for service in India, who, after completion of their service under covenant, continue to serve under the ordinary conditions applicable to uncovenanted officers, might be allowed to continue the privilege of remitting a portion of their pay through this office for the support of their families.

It must also be a condition of the concession of this privilege that remittances shall be adjusted at the rate of exchange annually fixed between this office and Her Majesty's Treasury, and shall in no case exceed 12*l.* per mensem, as laid down in my Financial despatch to the Government of Bombay, dated the 31st March 1874, No. 45, a copy of which was forwarded to you with my Financial despatch of the same date, No. 181.

The 29th February 1876.—The Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of the following rules and instructions, prepared by the Board of Revenue, for the appointment and guidance of Patwarees in Orissa:—

IN future settlements one or more putwaree shall be appointed, under the provisions of Regulation XII of 1817, in all estates or groups of contiguous estates the Government revenue of which exceeds Rs. 300, or in which it shall seem fit to the Board of Revenue to appoint them.

2. The putwaree shall, at the time of the settlement, be appointed by the Collector on the nomination of the zemindar or other person with whom the direct engagement for payment of revenue to Government rests.

3. If the zemindar or other such person fail to nominate a putwaree in such estate or village in which it is provided that one should be maintained, the Collector may of his own accord select and appoint a putwaree.

4. When a vacancy in the office of putwaree is to be filled up, the preference should in general be given to the members of the late putwaree's family, but only on condition that any of them be found duly qualified to fill the office.

5. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of putwaree, owing to the failure of competent heirs to succeed the late putwaree or otherwise, the persons engaging for the settlement shall be held responsible for the nomination of a person to fill the vacancy; and if the Collector approve of the nomination, he shall confer the appointment; if he consider the person nominated not qualified, he shall pass such orders as may appear to him just and necessary.

6. A putwaree may be removed from his office by the Collector, on sufficient cause shewn therefor to the satisfaction of the Collector, by the persons engaging for the settlement of the estate, or by the ryots, or under-tenants thereof.

7. A register of putwarees shall be kept in the Collector's office, in which the names of all persons appointed as putwarees, as well as all punishments inflicted on such putwarees, shall be entered. One of the ministerial officers, and in Orissa the sudder canoongo, shall have charge of the register, and shall be held responsible for its being correctly kept.

8. Persons engaging for the settlement, who may fail to nominate a putwaree on a vacancy occurring, or may remove a putwaree from office without the authority of the Collector, shall be liable to the penalties respectively prescribed in sections 11 and 13 of Regulation XII of 1817.

9. The duties of a putwaree are detailed in section 16 of the above Regulation. In accordance with that section, the Board of Revenue now declares that the papers of the villages in his circle to be required from a putwaree are the following:—

1st. The current account of collections of rent in each village.
2nd. The annual balance-sheet of ditto.
3rd. Register shewing the details of thanee ryots—first part.
4th. The same of chandna-holders—second part.
5th. The same of pahee ryots—third part.
6th. Register of lakhirajdars—first part.
7th. The same of jagirdars—second part.

The above papers shall be prepared in the forms herewith annexed.

10. These papers are to be drawn out by the putwaree and submitted to the district or sub-divisional collectorate office, as may be ordered, on the 1st of Cheyt each year, or on such dates as the Collector may consider most convenient with reference to the revenue arrangements, crops, &c., of the district.

11. Whenever summoned by the Collector or other authorized officer on any matter connected with the duties of his office, the putwaree shall attend at the time and place appointed, and shall produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, rents, collections, and charges of the village which he may be called upon to produce.

12. Every attempt should be made to secure the consent of the ryots and the person to whom their rent is paid to an arrangement whereby the putwaree may be present at the annual or biennial auditing of the accounts, or at least to the attestation by him of receipts given on payment of rent; and it shall be the duty of the putwaree, before attesting any receipt, to see that it is full, clear, and correct, and to note the amount of the payment in his accounts.

13. It shall be the duty of the putwaree to carry out any orders issued to him by the Collector or other authorized officer with reference to the collection of statistical information in the village or villages to which he is appointed, or to the survey and measurement of lands by order of a competent court or officer, or to other duties connected with his office.

14. Failure on the part of a putwaree to obey any order issued to him in writing by an authorized officer of Government, which does not in the opinion of the Collector necessitate his immediate removal from office, or which requires severer punishment than mere removal, may be dealt with as laid down in the 23rd to 27th sections of Regulation XII of 1817, or under the Penal Code.

15. At the time of settlement provision should be made for the remuneration of the necessary number of putwarees to be maintained in the estate. The scale of remuneration should be as follows:—

For estates of which the Government revenue has been—

From Rs. 300 to	600	Rs.	2-8.

If the remuneration be made in the shape of grants of rent-free lands, the quantity and quality of the lands granted should be such as to yield to him equivalents to the sums above stated. An engagement shall be taken from the zemindar of every estate in which a putwaree has been appointed to deposit the putwaree's salary in the collectorate along with the Government revenue, so that the putwaree shall receive his salary from the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be.

16. In the settlement of all estates for which it may seem inexpedient to arrange for the appointment and maintenance of a putwaree, an engagement shall be taken from the zemindar or other person entering into direct engagement with the Government to submit to the Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer the several registers and papers mentioned in paragraph 9 of these rules, and such other accounts or statements as the Collector may direct, and such zemindar or other person shall be subject to the various rules framed for putwarees under Regulation XII of 1817, in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of that Regulation.

17. All orders passed by the Collector shall be appealable to the Commissioner, and the orders of the Commissioner shall be subject to the revision of the Board.

Instructions subsidiary to the foregoing rules issued by the Commissioner with the approval of the Board of Revenue.

1. In all estates where putwarees exist they will be called on to conform strictly to the rules.

2. Where estates in which a putwaree was originally provided for at the settlement have been divided into two or more separate estates, the putwaree will perform his duty separately for all the shares into which the estate may have been divided.

3. Where no putwarees exist, all zemindars paying revenue to Government are liable to perform the putwarees' duties as defined in these rules and to keep and submit the necessary registers.

4. The register prescribed by rule 7 should be at once prepared, if not already existing. This register will contain the names of all putwarees duly appointed.

5. Where duly appointed putwarees are remunerated in land, Collector will register the amount of their land as extracted from the settlement papers, and Collector will ascertain that they are in full possession and enjoyment of their lands.

6. Where duly appointed putwarees are, under the settlement, paid in cash directly by the zemindar, who has received a set off for such payments, Collector will require the zemindar by formal notice to pay the putwaree's allowance into his office with his revenue kist, and Collector will see that the putwaree is duly and periodically paid.

7. Where no putwaree has been appointed, Collector will require the zemindar of the estate either to give in a formal agreement to undertake the duties prescribed by Regulation XII of 1817 himself, or, if he prefer it, to nominate a putwaree, paying his salary on the scale laid down in rule 15, together with the Government revenue, into Collector's office. Every new putwaree so appointed will be registered under rule 7. If a zemindar paying revenue of less than Rs. 300 per year desires to appoint a putwaree in lieu of doing the work himself, he will pay at the lowest scale laid down in rule 15.

8. Every zemindar of every estate paying revenue to Government in which a putwaree is not specially appointed will be required to submit the papers required by rule 9.

9. Surburakars of Khoordha, in Pooree, and Noanund, in Balasore, will be required to keep the necessary accounts and to file them, and to perform the duties of putwaree.

10. Similarly in peshkush, or permanently-settled estates, where no putwarees exist, or in which no provision was made at the settlement for putwarees, the zemindars must be required to execute the necessary agreement to perform putwarees' duties, or to nominate and pay a putwaree as directed in paragraph 7. If the estates are large and the zemindars undertake to perform the putwarees' duties themselves, they may be allowed to make their own arrangements therefor; but if they agree to nominate putwarees for the work, they must name as many as the Collector may deem necessary for each estate.

11. In the case of wards' estates provision should be made for putwarees. The putwarees' work should not be done through the wards' establishment, as it is an object to keep the collecting agency separate from the putwaree.

12. The rules and instructions apply to all estates paying revenue to Government; but will not apply to lakirajdars and proprietors of estates not paying Government revenue, who are exempt from the operation of the rules. Subordinate tenure-holders paying their revenue through their superior zemindars cannot be brought under the rules. In such cases Government look to the zemindar, who is amenable to the rules.

13. Revised forms of putwarees' registers, as per Board's latest instructions, are herewith forwarded. The revised rules, forms of account and instructions, will be published in the local gazette, and spare copies forwarded for issue to zemindars and putwarees.

14. Collectors should now proceed to complete their register of putwarees, and to see that the registers are properly kept and submitted both by zemindars and putwarees, and that the rules and instructions are strictly acted up to.

The 21st February 1876.

No. 92.—Notification.—The following draft Rules, having reference to the Main Western Canal, first section; the Arrah Canal; the Buxar Canal, first section; the Main Eastern Canal, first section; and the Patna Canal, are hereby published under the provisions of Sections XI and XII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," (No. V, B.L.C.):—

I. Every vessel on entering any of the above canals shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorized by Government to be charged on the canal.

II. The tonnage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and of these Rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

(a.) The product of half the length of the vessel, from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b.) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c.) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on vessels exceeding 100 maunds tonnage, any fraction of 100 maunds less than 25 maunds is to be omitted; exceeding 25 and not exceeding 50 maunds, is to be charged as 25 maunds only; exceeding 50, and not exceeding 75 maunds, to be charged as 50 maunds only; and exceeding 75 maunds as 75 maunds only. Above 1,000 maunds no fraction of 100 maunds tonnage is to be charged Toll will be charged on vessels under 100 maunds tonnage on the actual measurements of the vessels, omitting fractions of tens of maunds.

III. Every vessel entering any of the above canals shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date the vessel entered the canal, the point to which it may proceed in the canal, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, and the number of days for which the vessel may remain in the canal, and the date of such last day. The number of days which the vessel may remain in the canal, without additional payment, shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed.

IV. Toll may be paid at the first station either for the entire number of toll stations on the line of navigation, or for any less number of stations.

V. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorized Canal Officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The ticket shall be delivered up at the last toll station.

VI. Owners of vessels may compound by the payment of a fixed sum for the use of the whole or a portion of any of the above canals for any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. Each vessel so compounded for shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded for, and the limits of the canal within which the vessel may pass; such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under Rule V, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

VII. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and the dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by officers in charge of toll stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

VIII. Vessels remaining in the canals for a period exceeding that allowed under Rule III, will pay a demurrage of eight annas per 100 maunds per diem for each day or part of a day that they may remain in excess.

IX. No boats above 18 feet beam over all, and no rafts or floats of more than 10 feet width and 150 in length, will be allowed to enter the canals.

X. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

[Government Gazette, 29*th February* 1876.]

XI. Vessels must have their masts fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed; and when under sail, vessels must always keep in the middle of the canal; when being tracked, vessels are, as far as practicable, to keep to their port or left side of the canals.

XII. All vessels anchoring at night are to keep to their port or left bank of the canals.

XIII. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks, and no vessel shall be made fast. or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a Canal Officer. No vessels shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation; and no bamboos or poles shall be allowed to be erected on vessels when at anchor. Any infringement of this rule will be punishable by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XIV. Every vessel when put to shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board of it : any infringement of this rule will be punishable, by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XV. In every case of wreck or obstruction of the channel by sunken vessels, the Canal Officers may call upon the person in charge of the vessel to remove the same without delay, and shall give every reasonable assistance towards so doing. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Canal Officers, these Officers may undertake the removal of the obstruction themselves at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in Section IX of the "Canals' Act, 1864."

XVI. If the Canal Officers be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boat seized under the "Canals' Act," he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

XVII. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the Canal Officers may detain the vessel within the canal for a period not exceeding 24 hours, provided that within that period, the Canal Officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under Section XVI of the "Canals' Act."

XVIII. The banks or berms of the canals shall not be used as wharves for the deposit of goods, under a penalty of Rs. 10 for each offence; but, except in special cases, when the permission of the Canal Officers will be necessary, all articles shall be removed to the outer banks of the canals, and all such articles as shall not be finally removed from within the boundaries of the canals within a period of six days after being so deposited, shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds.

XIX. The canals may be closed once a year, for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

XX All offences against the provisions of these Rules shall be punishable as provided for in Section XVIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and all fines imposed may be recovered in the manner mentioned in Section XVII of the same Act.

XXI. The term "Canal Officers" in the foregoing Rules shall include the persons alluded to in Section VIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and any other persons who may be specially appointed to exercise such powers by the person appointed to collect the tolls.

List of Special Jurors how prepared.

(1). Mode of proceeding to draw the names of the Special and Common Jurors to be summoned.

VII. The mode of proceeding to draw the names of such Special and Common Jurors respectively shall be as follows:—

The names of all the Jurors in the lists of Special and Common Jurors respectively prepared by the Clerk of the Crown, shall be numbered consecutively. The Judge may order the name of any person who has actually served as a Juror in the preceding year, and of any person known or believed to be dead, absent from Calcutta, or likely to be unable from illness or otherwise to attend, or known or believed not to be qualified or liable to serve as a Juror under these rules, to be set aside; and in every such case, an additional name shall be drawn in lieu of that so set aside, and the Judge, if he think fit, may order the name of any person so set aside, except on account of death or disqualification, to be entered on the list of Special or Common Jurors, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be then fixed.

Names of persons excused from service to be entered in list for future service.

A copy of such lists shall be annexed to a Precept to the Sheriff, commanding him to summon the first 27 on the list of Special Jurors, and the first 55 on the list of Common Jurors, and, in case he shall not be able to summon the whole of the first 27 or 55, as the case may be, then to summon as many as shall be necessary to make up the full number of 27 or 55, of those in numerical order in such lists respectively next after the first 27 or 55.

Copy of lists to be annexed to Precept to the Sheriff to summon 27 Special Jurors and 55 Common Jurors in numerical order.

X. Any person whose name is included in the Special or Common Jurors' List for any Session may apply to the Clerk of the Crown to cause him to be excused from attendance as a Juror, either generally or at the particular Session. Such application shall be made at least one week before the day fixed for the commencement of the Session, and shall specify the grounds upon which the application is made. The Clerk of the Crown shall, as soon as possible after the last day allowed for making such applications, bring them before one of the Judges of the Court, and such Judge shall pass orders thereupon, which shall be communicated by the Clerk of the Crown to the respective applicants. If the Judge shall think fit to excuse any of the applicants from attendance at the particular Session, he may do so unconditionally, or on condition of his serving at the next or some subsequent Session to be fixed, and any such conditional order shall operate as an authority to the Clerk of the Crown to include the name of such person in the list for such subsequent Session under the provisions of Rule VI.

The name of any Juror excused attending at one Session, on condition of his serving at a subsequent Session, to be inserted by the Clerk of the Crown in the list for such subsequent Session.

XI. Every person named in the lists mentioned in Rule VIII shall forthwith, or as soon as possible after the receipt of the Precept by the Sheriff, be summoned by him to attend at the Session for which he shall have been appointed to serve as a Juror, and such summons shall be served at least 10 day's before the first day of the Session.

Jurors to be summoned 10 days before the first day of the Session.

XII. A summons to a Juror who resides out of the limits of the Town of Calcutta, and to whom access at his office or place of business within such limits is denied to the Sheriff's Officer, as also all notices, orders, or other proceedings required to be served on him, shall, unless otherwise ordered, be addressed to him at his office or place of business aforesaid, or at his place of residence, and forwarded to him by post duly registered. The transmision by post as aforesaid of every such summons, or notice, or of a copy, authenticated by the seal of the Court, of every such order or other proceeding, shall, unless good cause be shown to the contrary, be deemed sufficient service thereof.

Service of a summons, or other process, on a Juror.

By post.

XIII. In all other cases every such summons, notice, order, or other proceeding shall, unless otherwise ordered, be served on a Juror personally.

Personally.

XIV. The Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after service of the summons, and not later than one week before the commencement of the Session, return the Precept to the Clerk of the Crown, with two panels annexed thereto, one of the Special Jurors and one of the Common Jurors, which panels shall show in a tabular form the names of the persons summoned and the particulars of service upon each; and if any person or persons named in the lists annexed to the Precept shall not have been served, the panel shall state that fact, and the reason why such person or persons has or have not been summoned: and in every case the reason why such service has not been effected shall be verified by the affidavit of the Officer whose duty it was to effect such service, and such affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of the Crown, with the return to the Precept.

Sheriff to return Precept with two panels, one of Special Jurors and one of Common Jurors, showing in tabular form names and particulars of service, and accounting for non-service.

XV. On the receipt of such return, the Clerk of the Crown shall, without delay bring the same before one of the Judges of the Court. The said Judge may, if necessary, examine the Sheriff's Officer or Officers as to the truth of such return, and as to the circumstances of the service or of the absence of service on any person, and may direct service to be made upon the person or persons not already served in such manner as to him shall seem fit. The Judge, if he think fit, may cause the name of any person returned by the Sheriff as not summoned to be entered on the list of Jurors, either Special or Common, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be fixed by the Judge.

Sheriff's return to be immediately laid before a Judge for orders.

XVI. If the Judge shall be of opinion that the number of Jurors named in either of the said lists who shall have been served is not likely to be sufficient, he may cause to be drawn by lot, in the mode provided by Rule VII, such further number of names as may be required to make up the full number of Special and Common Jurors summoned to attend at the Session to 80 and 70 respectively.

If sufficient number of Jurors not served, further names of Jurors to be drawn by lot, as provided by Rule VII.

XVII. Such lists shall be called the Supplemental Lists of Special or Common, Jurors, as the case may be, and shall be prepared and signed in the manner hereinbefore provided with respect to the original lists, and copies thereof shall be sent to the Sheriff with an additional Precept, and the Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after the receipt of such additional Precept, cause the persons named therein to be summoned to attend at the Session, and shall return the Precept to the Court not later than one clear day before the first day of the Session, with a panel similar to that provided by Rule XIV in respect of the original lists and Precept.

XIX. If, by reason of absence, or disallowance on challenge, or any other cause there be a deficiency of Jurors, the Court may command the Sheriff, or other Officer to name or summon a sufficient number of persons to make up a full Jury; and the Sheriff or other Officer shall, at such command of the Court, return such men duly qualified to serve as shall be then present or can be found to serve on such Jury, and the course of proceeding shall be the same as if their names had been returned in the panel and drawn by ballot under Rule XVIII: provided that, in case of a Special Jury, the additional Jurors may be taken from the list of Common Jurors summoned to serve at the same Session, if a sufficient number of Jurors qualified to serve as Special Jurors shall not be present in Court.

Proceedings in case of deficient Jurors.

XX. After each Session the Clerk of the Crown shall make an entry in the list of Jurors opposite the names of those who shall have served or shall have been summoned to serve at such Session and shall not have made default, together with the date of service, or of the Session for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

After each Session entry to be made by the Clerk of the Crown against the name of each Juror who has not made default.

MOFUSSIL MUNICIPALITIES.

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities.

Section 6, as amended at the last meeting of the Council, provided that in existing municipalities the rate on houses and lands, and the tax on persons, should be continued to be levied at the present rates "until the Commissioners at a meeting, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, shall otherwise direct."

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER similar words were added to the second clause of the section, which provided for the levy of other existing taxes.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the substitution of the following sections for sections 10, 11, and 12 of the Bill: they were intended to meet the objection of the hon'ble member opposite (Sir Stuart Hogg) to the use of the term "tract of country," for which it was now proposed to substitute the words "town or village":—

"10. Chapters I, II, and V of this Act shall not be extended to any town or village as provided in section 7, unless the Magistrate shall have certified to the Lieutenant-Governor that three-fourths of the adult male population of such town or village are chiefly employed in pursuits other than agricultural, and that such town or village contains a number of inhabitants not being less than three thousand, and an average number of not less than one thousand inhabitants to the square mile of the area of such town or village.

11. No town or village shall be declared under section 8 to be a first class municipality unless the Magistrate shall have certified to the Lieutenant-Governor that such town or village contains at least fifteen thousand inhabitants, and an average number of not less than two thousand inhabitants to the square mile of the area of such town or village."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that there was no definition of the word "town" as applied to these sections; the definition of "town" contained in the Bill was with reference to places which were now under the Chowkidari Act. If the word were not defined, it might be taken to mean any collection of villages to which the name of "town" might be given. The District Towns Act contemplated townships of that description; though one particular village was taken as a starting point, many agricultural villages lying between the starting point and the extreme point of the municipality might be included. For instance, two good sized villages might lie at the two ends of a municipality, and the intermediate villages might be entirely agricultural and not fit for municipal purposes. But to join these two villages together into a municipality all these villages might be included. His object in moving that three-fourths of the inhabitants should be non-agricultural, was to indicate that no place should be brought under the Municipal Act which was not really a town, and not a collection of villages, to which the name of a town might be given.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER explained that, in accordance with the determination come to at the last meeting, the words "town or village" were now used instead of "tract of country," in order that fields might not be included: what was meant was a town or village in the ordinary acceptation of the term.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said, supposing there were two contiguous towns, each containing 1,500 inhabitants. If they were contiguous towns, would they come within the definition? Take, for instance, the towns of Kanchrapara and Haleshur: they were close together and might form one municipality, if they contained the requisite number and average of population.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that they were discussing the formation of a nucleus, the thing which must contain at least 3,000 inhabitants and an average of 1,000 to the square mile. Apart from these sections, there was another section which provided that you should not unite with that nucleus any place lying beyond one mile of the exterior boundary of the nucleus. Lands lying between the nucleus and the united places were not to be subject to taxation, though they would be within the municipality so far as the benefits to be derived from it went.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said the nucleus of a municipality should be a single town, like Bankipore or Patna. He was opposed to what he understood to be the proposal of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill—viz. that several towns or villages might be lumped together, and the average of population calculated upon the said towns and villages.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that he thought a town, if not otherwise defined, would be taken in the ordinary acceptation of the term, which was a congeries or collection of houses, without any intervening open space, having so many inhabitants.

After some further conversation, the proposed new sections were agreed to.

In sections 7, 8, 9, 13, and 14 the words "town or village" were substituted for "tract of country."

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that sections 58 and 59 had been amended at the last meeting, on the motion of the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal). But the sections as they stood were not quite complete, and he had therefore re-drafted them, embodying the principle agreed to at the last meeting, which was that under no circumstances should a Commissioner be allowed to take a contract from the municipality. The sections which he proposed to substitute for sections 58 and 59 were as follows:—

"58. No Commissioner or Member of a Ward Committee shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract made with the Commissioners, and if any Commissioner shall be so interested, he shall thereby become incapable of continuing in office as a Commissioner, and shall on conviction before a Magistrate be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Provided that no person shall, by reason of being a shareholder in, or a member of, any incorporated or registered company, be deemed interested in any contract entered into between such company and the Commissioners.

But no such shareholder or member shall act as a Commissioner or Member of a Ward Committee in a matter relating to any contract entered into between such company and the Commissioners.

59. No Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall vote on any question which regards exclusively the assessment of himself, or the valuation of his property, or his liability to any tax."

The sections were agreed to.

Section 61 provided that the Commissioners should set apart a certain sum, amongst other purposes, for the payment of their own establishment and the expenses of their office. The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the addition to this clause of the following words, which were rendered necessary by the introduction of the section requiring municipalities to contribute towards the cost of the necessary establishment in the offices of the Magistrate and Commissioner of the division:—

"And for the payment of the municipal establishments entertained in the offices of the Magistrate and of the Commissioner of the division under section 73A."

The motion was agreed to.

Section 62 specified the purposes to which the municipal fund might be applied, and provided that no expenditure should be incurred for schools, hospitals or dispensaries, or the promotion of vaccination, without the sanction of "a majority" of the Commissioners at a meeting.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words "not intended for the propagation of any religion" after the word "schools" in line 2 of clause 4. He said the object of his amendment was to confine the education grant to the support of such schools as would be maintained by the rate-payers themselves. It was well known to this Council that the municipal taxes were contributed by Hindus and Mahomedans. Now there were philanthropic gentlemen who kept schools, and whose object was the propagation of Christianity; and while we ought to be grateful for their educational labours, he thought the rate-payers ought not to be made to pay for the support of schools whose primary object was the subversion of their own religion. One or two cases had lately occurred in the Suburban Municipality to which he would call the attention of the Council. A number of Hindu gentlemen had founded an English school in Bhowanipore for the benefit of the youths of that place, and a grant-in-aid was given by the local municipality for the support of the institution. But owing to certain influences at work that grant was stopped, because the school was in competition with a Christian institution in the neighbourhood. This had been mentioned to him as an illustration of the way in which missionary influence worked in the appropriation of the municipal grant to the detriment of the indigenous institutions of the country. It was not his object to discuss the educational policy of the State; but as the object of a municipal fund was to promote local purposes, and to assist local undertakings, he submitted that it could not be consistent with justice or sound policy to divert any portion of the municipal funds of mofussil towns to the support of institutions for the propagation of the Christian religion, and indirectly for the subversion of the religions of those who contributed the money.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he did not think the words proposed should appear in the Bill. No municipal body need contribute their funds to any denominational school.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE said he had personal knowledge of the fact referred to by the hon'ble mover of the amendment. The Suburban Municipal Commissioners had assigned a large portion of their fund for the maintenance of schools within the municipality, and asked the District School Committee to distribute the money to the different schools, according to the requirements of each institution. It appeared that a large portion of the money so assigned was made over for the support and maintenance of girls' schools within the municipality.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG observed that the objection seemed reasonable, and unless the hon'ble mover of the Bill would suggest some other words in lieu of the words proposed, he would support the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he thought it was not right to limit the discretion of the Commissioners. For himself, he was totally opposed to contributions being made for the maintenance of schools of any class. He thought that no mofussil municipality had sufficient funds to provide proper conservancy arrangements, and it was most unreasonable to call upon or allow Municipal Commissioners to vote municipal funds away for educational purposes which ought primarily to be devoted to conservancy arrangements. If it was considered necessary to devote funds locally raised to the support of schools, he thought there ought to be a separate educational cess; but if funds were to be given to schools at all, he thought that the Commissioners should have full power to make grants to any schools they pleased.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER would ask the Council to bear in mind the history of the question. Sir George Campbell's Bill had made it compulsory on municipalities to contribute funds towards the furtherance of primary education, and that was one of the grounds on which the Governor-General withheld his assent; but the principle of empowering municipalities to contribute towards education, if they chose to do so, met with approval.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL wished to point out, in reply to the observation made by the hon'ble mover of the Bill, that the Municipal Commissioners had no power to distribute the educational grant. The distribution was made by the District School Committee, and it was the District School Committee who had appropriated the grant in the way he had mentioned. But whether the distribution were made by the School Committee, or the Commissioners, it came to the same thing. If the Magistrate was to be the guiding spirit of the municipality for many years to come, as was held by the hon'ble mover of the Bill, it entirely depended upon his sympathies whether the grant should be given to this or that institution. He had been told that the case to which he had referred had given rise to considerable discontent among the rate-payers of the Suburban Municipality. If such flagrant cases could arise in the vicinity of Calcutta, there was nothing to prevent similar proceedings in other places, and in order to guard against such cases, he thought a limitation should be prescribed as to the character of the schools to the maintenance of which municipal funds might be applied.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL pointed out that native boys were admitted to these schools, and therefore the discretion of the Commissioners should not be limited as to the class of schools for the support of which they might devote municipal funds. He knew a number of persons who had been educated in Roman Catholic schools who had not changed their religion.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said there was no doubt that the hon'ble mover of the Bill was quite correct in reference to what the Governor-General had stated in reference to voluntary contributions by municipalities for the support of education. His Excellency said:—

"It might also, in His Excellency's opinion, be desirable to amend the present law so as to enable municipalities under Acts III of 1864 and VI of 1868 voluntarily to contribute in aid of education within their districts."

HIS HONOR thought there would be great objection to the amendment as proposed by the hon'ble member. It was impossible to go into the question whether certain schools were intended to propagate religion; it was impossible to say whether they were or were not so intended.

The Council then divided:—

Ayes 6.	Noes 6.
The Hon'ble Nawab Ashgur Ali.	The Hon'ble Moulvie Meer Mahomed Ali.
" Baboo Kristodas Pal.	" Mr. Brookes.
" Baboo Ramshunker Sen.	" Mr. Bell.
" Baboo Juggadanund Mookerjee.	" Mr. Dampier.
" Mr. Reynolds.	" the Advocate-General.
" Sir Stuart Hogg.	His Honor the President.

The numbers being equal, the President gave his casting vote with the Noes.

So the motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN said that in addition to the works enumerated in clause (1) of section 62, he thought provision should be made for the construction and maintenance of jetties, wells, privies, latrines, and urinals. He knew from experience that these works were much needed in mofussil municipalities, and he had therefore prepared an amendment for the purpose.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER accepted the proposed amendment, but considered that the wording would be improved if the following arrangement were substituted in lines 6 and 16—"roads, bridges, embankments, wharves, jetties, tanks, wells, ghâts, channels, drains, privies, latrines, and urinals, being the property of the Commissioners," and a similar arrangement of words would be necessary in section 33.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER'S amendment was agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the inclusion of "squares and gardens" amongst the works which the Commissioners might construct or maintain. He thought it might in the course of time be very necessary to have gardens and squares in certain crowded towns such as Dacca or Patna.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL objected to the amendment, because, as pointed out by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Bell), the funds of most mofussil municipalities were very limited; and, moreover, he did not consider that gardens and squares would be legitimate objects of municipal expenditure in mofussil towns which were not so densely populated as Calcutta. He thought the list of objects on which municipal funds might be expended was sufficiently comprehensive, and in most municipalities even those objects could not be sufficiently provided for. He thought it was not wise, therefore, to give this power to the Municipal Commissioners.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he was also opposed to the amendment. He thought the Commissioners had sufficient work on their hands without having anything to do with squares or gardens.

The HON'BLE the ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that under the Bill the Commissioners were bound to do certain things, and if they had no money left after providing for those necessary objects, they could not expend any money upon them. But as the hon'ble mover of the amendment considered that in the course of time it would be necessary to construct squares and gardens, the ADVOCATE-GENERAL did not see any objection to the insertion of the words.

The motion was then agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the introduction of the following clause after clause (3) of section 62; such buildings existed in some municipalities, and the necessity for them might arise in other places:—

"(3a).—The erection and maintenance of offices, police stations, and other buildings under the control of the Commissioners."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL objected to the motion on the same ground that he had urged in opposition to the previous amendment.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE said he thought the amendment was unnecessary, inasmuch as all the expenditure for the maintenance and construction of police stations, &c., must be included in the regular budget, and therefore separate provision was not wanted. He thought, however, that the construction or maintenance of all these works, if separately asked for, should be sanctioned by the Commissioners at a meeting.

The HON'BLE the ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that if the view that expenditure on these works was impliedly given was correct, then there could be no objection to their being specifically provided for.

The motion was then agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL the words "at a meeting" were inserted after the word "Commissioners" in line 4 of section 62.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL then moved the substitution of the words "two-thirds" for "a majority" in line 43 of the same section. As the funds of the Municipal Commissioners were very limited, expenditure on account of schools, hospitals, or dispensaries should not be incurred on the vote of a bare majority of the Commissioners.

The HON'BLE the ADVOCATE-GENERAL considered that as the purposes here specified were all useful purposes, the discretion of the Commissioners should not be clogged in the way proposed.

The motion was then negatived.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the following section after section 62 :—

"62*a*.—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners of a second class municipality to apply the municipal fund to the maintenance of the police, the construction and maintenance of roads and drains, and the carrying out of measures for the conservation of the health of the inhabitants generally, and not to any other purpose."

He said his object in moving this amendment was that, as second class municipalities were very poor, and had not funds sufficient to provide for their legitimate wants and requirements, the power of applying their funds to the voluntary objects indicated in the Bill ought not to be given to the Commissioners of second class municipalities. He held a paper in his hand, from which it appeared that the average income of second class municipalities, after deducting the contribution on account of police, was Rs. 250, and out of that the Commissioners had to provide for establishments, roads, conservancy, lighting, and other charges; and if there were any surplus, they might apply it to these voluntary objects. It was quite clear that second class municipalities had not the means of carrying out these objects. In these towns the existing Act did not permit such expenditure. He found that in 1873-74 the total number of second class towns under Act VI of 1868 was 92. The total income of these 92 second class municipalities was Rs. 4,90,000. The police contributions amounted to Rs. 2,07,000, and the balance was Rs. 2,82,000. The average income left was about Rs. 3,000 per annum, or Rs. 250 per month. He would put the instance of the nearest of these second class municipalities to Calcutta, and he thought it might be considered a typical municipality, and a fairly prosperous place; he alluded to the South Suburban Municipality. He found that the total income of that municipality was Rs. 22,000, and the police contribution was Rs. 15,000, leaving a balance of Rs. 7,000, out of which Rs. 4,000 could not be collected at all, or, in other words, were bad debts. The net balance therefore was Rs. 3,000. When so limited was the income of this class of municipalities, he put it to the Council whether they should be saddled with these voluntary charges, even if two-thirds of the Commissioners should vote for them, seeing that the Commissioners could not be looked upon in the proper sense of the term as representatives of the people; the Council ought therefore to take into consideration the peculiar position and character of these municipalities, and limit their expenditure to objects of necessity only.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he thought there was great danger of the Commissioners of small municipalities frittering away their money on all sorts of petty objects. In the majority of cases there were not sufficient funds to devote to purposes of conservancy. But the amendment as put was very wide, and therefore he could not support it. Of all popular purposes for the expenditure of municipal funds, there was perhaps none so popular as digging tanks, or providing other means of water supply. Another popular object was the promotion of vaccination. On both these objects the Commissioners of second class municipalities would, by this amendment as it stood, be deprived of the power of expending funds. He should be happy to support an amendment which restricted the expenditure of municipal funds to strictly necessary objects, but several necessary objects would be excluded if the amendment were carried. He would suggest that the hon'ble member should re-consider his amendment and bring it forward at another meeting.

His Honor the President thought it would be better to put the amendment as it was proposed, with permission to any hon'ble member to bring forward another amendment at a subsequent meeting.

The motion was then put and negatived.

Section 63 enabled a municipality to contribute funds to other municipalities for works calculated to benefit the inhabitants of the contributing municipality.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said he strongly objected to this section on financial grounds. He submitted that if this principle were conceded—if a municipality were permitted to contribute its funds to other municipalities—there would be no limit to taxation. For there could not be any two places, the sanitary arrangements of which were not calculated to benefit one another. If this principle were admitted, then municipal taxation must be greatly enhanced. He would move the omission of the section.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General said that he considered this section to be a very salutary provision, as it provided for those cases in which one municipality might not alone be able to undertake a particular work. The object of the section was to enable two or three municipalities to club together to achieve a common object.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was agreed to.

Sections 64 to 67 were agreed to.

Section 68 provided for the revision of estimates of expenditure.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal moved the addition of the following proviso:—

"Provided that the provisions of sections 67 and 68 shall not be held applicable to a first class municipality, and that the orders of the Commissioners of such municipality in respect of estimates and receipts of expenditure shall be final."

He said that at present first class municipalities were not required to submit their budget estimates to the Lieutenant-Governor for sanction.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier explained that this section, and the preceding one, were introduced in order to strike out the general section at the end of the Bill, giving the Commissioner of the division and the Lieutenant-Governor a general supervising authority in all matters.

The motion was negatived and the section was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved the introduction of the following words at the end of section 70:—

"If any work is estimated to cost above three thousand rupees, the Lieutenant-Governor may require the plans and estimates of such work to be submitted for his approval, or for the approval of any officer of Government, before such work is commenced, and may require statements of the progress and completion of such work, with accounts of the expenditure on the same, to be submitted from time to time, in such form as he may prescribe, for his approval, or for the approval of such officer of Government."

This addition was necessary, in order to give the benefit of the advice of the Government Engineers to municipalities. The Public Works Department had asked for the introduction of a special provision on the subject.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Baboo Ramshunker Sen a verbal amendment was made in section 73.

Section 74 provided for the custody of municipal funds.

The Hon'ble Baboo Ramshunker Sen moved the omission of the words "with the sanction of the Commissioner of the divison" and the insertion of the words "used as a Government treasury" after the words "branch bank."

His object was that no bank, either public or private, should be used as a municipal treasury, unless it was also used by Government for deposits of public money. There were in Fureedpore, Tipperah, and other places banks on the limited liability principle, in which natives were holding shares. These might be very good institutions in their own way, but he thought that municipal funds should not be lodged in such banks, unless they were also used as Government treasuries.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE agreed that such a provision was very necessary.

The motion was then agreed to.

Section 75 declared the mode in which orders for the payment of money should be drawn.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words "Provided that such disbursement has been sanctioned by the Commissioners at a meeting." The object of the amendment was to guard against the expenditure of money by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, which was not sanctioned in the budget, without the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved by way of amendment the substitution for the above words, of the following—

"No such order shall be issued otherwise than for the payment of money of which the expenditure has been authorized by the Commissioners at a meeting, as provided in section 70, either by a general or special resolution."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL having withdrawn his motion, the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER's amendment was carried.

The further consideration of the Bill was then postponed.

ROAD-CESS VALUATIONS DURING 1874-75.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LOCAL TAXATION.

READ—

The Resolution of this Government in the Land Revenue Department, dated the 3rd August 1874, reviewing the progress of the road-cess valuations up to the close of the road-cess year 1872-73.

A letter from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, No. 229A., dated the 19th April 1875, reporting the completion of the valuations in the districts of Tipperah and Maubhoom.

A letter from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, No. 72A., dated the 11th February 1876, reporting on the further progress of the operations.

UP to the end of the road-cess year 1872-73 (i.e., the 30th September 1873), the valuations had been completed in sixteen districts of the Lower Provinces, which are enumerated in the Resolution of the 3rd August 1874. In the following year the districts of Tipperah and Manbhoom were similarly completed. In the year 1874-75, the districts of Bankoora, Beerbhoom, Mymensingh, and Maldah were completed, as well as the sub-division of Madaripore, which is now a part of the Fureedpore district, but which belonged to the district of Backergunge when the valuations in Fureedpore were originally taken in hand.

2. During the year 1874-75, eighteen additional districts were brought under the operation of the Act, in one of which (Maldah) the valuations were actually completed during the year, and in three others—Chumparun, Julpigoree, and Dinagepore—they have since been brought to completion, and the collection of the road-cess has begun. It is, however, to be remarked that the figured statements for these four districts have not yet been submitted. There accordingly remain fourteen districts in which the valuations are now in progress, and it is anticipated that, with one exception, these districts will all be completed in time to allow of the collection of the cess from 1st October next. The only exception is the district of Chittagong, in which the number of estates is so large that it is not thought probable that the valuations will be finished earlier than the 30th September 1877.

3. There are now only the five districts noted in the margin to which the Road-cess Act X (B C.) of 1871 has not yet been extended. The circumstances of some of these districts are such as to make the provisions of the Act inapplicable to them; to other districts it is probable that the Act will be extended hereafter.

4. The figures given in statement A appended to the letters of the Board of Revenue afford some useful and interesting information regarding the comparative incidence of the land revenue in the several districts referred to in the statements, the extent to which the multiplication of tenures has been carried, and the total amounts realized as rent in each of the districts. The pressure of the land revenue is lightest in Manbhoom, in which 66 estates, valued at Rs. 11,80,795, pay a sudder jumma of only Rs. 88,200. In other words, the rental is to the revenue in Manbhoom as 13·3 to 1. In Beerbhoom, on the other hand, the number of estates valued was 882, of which the valuation amounted to Rs. 16,14,177, while the Government revenue is Rs. 7,37,900, or about 45 per cent. of the rental. In Manbhoom the 66 estates contained 12,172 subordinate tenures; in Beerbhoom the number of tenures was 22,195; while in Bankoora, in which the number of estates is very nearly the same as in Beerbhoom, the number of tenures was only 9,114. The total amount of the valuations was greatest in Mymensingh, in which the estates were valued at Rs. 51,55,085, and the tenures at Rs. 34,48,011, the Government revenue of the district being Rs. 8,33,869.

5. It is stated in the 3rd paragraph of the Board's letter of the 11th February 1876, that the statements submitted are in the same form as those which accompanied the report of the operations up to the end of 1873-74.

But the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the form of statement A is not the same as was adopted for the returns of the year 1872-73, the heading of columns 3, 4, 5, 6 having been altered from "Number of estates and tenures valued" to "Number of estates and tenures entered." In the last return there is for the first time a discrepancy, and in general a very considerable discrepancy, between the number of estates and tenures shown in statement A as having been entered, and in statement B as having been valued. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish to receive some explanation of this difference.

6. It is satisfactory to observe that it has not been found necessary to put in force, to any considerable extent, the provisions of the law for fining proprietors who neglect to make the returns required from them. The largest amount of fines levied was in Tipperah, in which it amounted to Rs. 1,632. In Bankoora, a single fine of one rupee was imposed and levied. In the large district of Mymensingh, in which 5,224 returns were received, a sum of only Rs. 370 was levied by way of fine. The appeals to Commissioners under sections 18 and 19 of the Act were only 12 in number; 11 of these were from the district of Tipperah, and one from Beerbhoom.

7. Operations under Part III of the Act (valuations of mines, &c.,) were confined to the district of Manbhoom, and in this district the valuations amounted only to a sum of Rs. 100.

8. The variations in the returns of house assessment under Part IV, which were noticed in the Resolution of the 3rd August 1874, are not less observable in the statements subsequently submitted. The greatest number of villages assessed, and the largest amount of assessment, was in Manbhoom, in which 584 villages were assessed at Rs. 10,848. The two districts of Beerbhoom and Bankoora have together a population considerably larger than that of Manbhoom, but in these two districts, taken together, only 190 villages were assessed, and the amount of assessment was Rs. 4,480. In the district of Tipperah, again, 497 villages were assessed, but the assessment yielded only Rs. 3,477.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that, in the present report, the Member in charge again bears testimony to the cordial assistance he has received from the Commissioners, Collectors, and Deputy Collectors who have been entrusted with the conduct of the operations. The thanks of Government are due to Mr. Schalch for his zealous and efficient supervision of this department of the land revenue administration.

		Howrah, „ 4, „	3·03	Weather—Heavy rain with severe thunder-storms early in the week. There are no crops to be now influenced by the weather.
		Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6	24-Pergunnahs, Mar. 6,† '76	2·77	Weather—Cloudy with occasional rains. Cold weather crops are nearly off the ground. The rain will enable cultivators to prepare the ground for the spring sowings. Cholera and fever have much abated.
	7	Nuddea, „ 4, „	0·72	Weather—There has been general rain. The rain will do some harm to ripe crops on the ground or just cut, but it will be of great service in enabling the cultivators to prepare their land for the early rice.
	8	Jessore, „ 4 „	·89	Weather—Changeable wind from all parts of the compass, and some smart showers. The rain has done good to the spring rice, and made the ground for the early rice fit for ploughing, in which the ryots are consequently busily engaged.
	9	Moorshedabad „ 4, „	1·60	Weather—Cloudy. Heavy showers. Temperature close and warm. Crops are fair. Boro dhan promising. A good outturn is expected of the rubbee crops, pease, lentils, linseed, and gram, which are being cut. The heavy showers have damaged the mangoe blossoms and slightly the wheat and barley. Some cases of cholera reported from Rampore Haut.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.	10	Dinagepore, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather—Warm and cloudy. A few drops of rain fell in the station on the morning of the 2nd and 3rd instants. Rubbee crops on the whole are good. Tobacco is a 16-anna crop, and sugarcane 8 to 10 annas, and mustard 8 annas.
	11	Maldah, „ 4, „	0·06	Weather—Slight rain fell on this day at the Sudder station, but how far in the interior is not yet reported. Heat is increasing in the daytime, but the early morning continues cool Sarsa and rye being cut in thana Nowabgunge. The sowing of the bhadoi (joli) has commenced in the thana Gorgoriba. Rubbee is still suffering from want of rain. A quarter of the expected outturn of the rubbee crops in thana Gomustapore has been lost from drought. No failure is yet reported from other thanas, but more rain is wanted.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 4, „	0·7	Weather—Very slight rain on the 3rd at head-quarters and at Godagari, and in the Nattore sub-division. There is no change in the state and prospects of the crops. The rain that has fallen has been quite insufficient to do any good, and much more is urgently required. The general health is good, excepting a few cases of small-pox.
	13	Rungpore, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather—Rain threatening, but none has yet fallen. Ploughing for aus rice is general. Tobacco is promising; wheat and pulse damaged for want of rain.
	14	Bogra, „ 4, „	Few drops.	A few drops of rain fell at the Sudder station, but not appreciable by the rain-gauge. Weather was stormy with a little rain, which was in places actually not less than half an inch, which the rain gauge should indicate. The lands are now being broken up with a view to sowing at the commencement of the rains. The rain, however small, has been exceedingly beneficial.
	15	Pubna, „ 4, „	1·38	Weather—Cloudy and rainy. There have been good showers during the week, which, it is hoped, will prove very beneficial to the crops. General health of the district is good. No case of cholera reported since the last return.

* Telegram of the 6th March, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 6th March, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

BENGAL.—(Contd.)
COOCH BEHAR DIVN. 16	Darjeeling, Mar. 3, '76	Nil.	Weather—The cold weather has continued longer than usual. The March winds are setting in. On the 3rd there has been a sprinkling of rain, with high wind and mist, threatening more rain. The sowing throughout the district is progressing favorably. A little more rain would be beneficial, and by the appearance of the sky it may be expected soon.
17	Julpigoree, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather—Very pleasant, but in the early part of the week the afternoons were getting rather warm. Friday was cloudy, and apparently there was a storm, and rain must have fallen in the Bhootan Hills. This has cleared the air in Julpigoree greatly. Tobacco crop is not as good as usual. Bhadoi sowing will shortly begin. Rain is greatly needed.
	Cooch Behar, „ 2, „	Nil.	Weather is somewhat warmer than last week. The prospects of the crops continue unfavorable owing to want of rain. Health of the district is good.
	Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN. 18	Dacca, Mar. 6,* '76	1·38	Weather—Cool for the season. Rain is general. Crops are good. The rain has not done particular good to any standing crop, but has allowed ploughing.
19	Fureedpore, „ 4, „	·59	Weather—Unsettled since 1st instant, with frequent thunder-storms from north-west. The rain will do much good and enable ploughing to go on.
20	Backergunge, „ 2, „	·18	Weather—Plenty of rain at the head-quarter sub-division, and a fair amount in Perozepore; but rain is still much wanted in the Patuakhally and Dowlutkhan sub-divisions. Prospects of the crops are fair, but barely an average.
21	Mymensingh, „ 3, „	0·70	Weather is unsettled. A decided improvement in the prospects of the boro crop in consequence of the rainfall.
22	Tipperah, „ 3, „	·10	Weather—Good showers of rain. State and prospects of the crops are favorable. Ploughing is commenced for the rice crops.
CHITTAGONG DIVN. 23	Chittagong, „ 2, „	1·66	Weather—Cloudy, with fogs. Rain in parts of the district. Small-pox prevalent in the town.
24	Noakholly	......	Return not received.
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, Feb. 29, „	·97	Weather—Cool. Some showers of rain on the 24th and 25th instant. The hill people are busily engaged in joom cutting.
	Hill Tipperah, Mar. 1, „	0·27	Weather—Cloudy Hot in the middle of the day, cool at mornings and nights. Boro paddy promises well. Preparations are being made for sowing shaila paddy.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN. 26	Patna, Mar. 6,* '76	Nil.	Weather—A few drops of rain have fallen in the last week, but not sufficient to lay the dust or to be measured. Rain now would do more harm than good, as all the grain that has not been already collected in the threshing floors is being cut. A good deal of small-pox prevails throughout the district.
27	Gya, „ 4, „	In appreciable.	Weather—Very dry in the Sudder station, save a very slight shower for a few minutes one night. Cloudy, and appearance of rain in the north and east. State and prospects of the crops are as before. Very fair, but short of good. Poppy slightly impoverished in the north and west. Public health is very good.
28	Shahabad, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather—Clear and hot during the day. Gram and wheat being gathered; a good crop. Poppy promises to turn out a very good crop. Small-pox has appeared in five or six villages in the Bhuboosh sub-division.
29	Durbhunga, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather—Cloudy on the 29th February and 2nd instant. Tajpore sub-division.—The early rubbee sowings are being harvested. Tobacco has nearly all been gathered. Mudhoobuny sub-division.—No change in the prospects of crops. Rohur is being cut Price of rice in Mudhoobuny bazar has slightly risen during the week. In Khijouli prices have slightly fallen. In other places they are stationary. Durbhunga head-quarters.—No particular change in the prospects of crops. Importation is going on on a large scale.
30	Mozufferpore „ 4, „	Nil.	The weather has been alternately bright and cloudy during the week. On the 4th instant it was clear and warm, with strong west wind. The cutting of the rubbee crops is progressing. Prices remain easy.
31	Sarun, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather—Cold and dry. Sky clear, with fleeting clouds on Thursday and Friday mornings. West wind prevailing. No change in the state and prospects of the crops to report. The rubbee crops are being harvested; a fair outturn is expected. Indigo is being sown. Opium is being collected. There were a few drops of rain on Wednesday night. Prices favorable. General health is good.
32	Chumparun, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather—There has been no rain as yet anywhere throughout the district, though the weather has been cloudy during the past week, and the clouds continue to increase. There will probably be a short rubbee crop in the south-east of the district, and no rain which now falls can do much to benefit the growing crops. In the north and west of the district, where the land has been irrigated, and the rainfall more copious than in the east, the prospects of the crops are excellent.

* Telegrams of the 6th March, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

BEHAR.—(Contd.)
Bhagulpore Divn.	33	Monghyr, Mar. 4, '76	Nil.	Weather—Fair. No change in the state and prospects of the crops since last week. The harvest has commenced in some parts and crops are being cut. without a drop of rain having fallen on them since the day they were planted, The Jamooe sub-divisional officer reports an 8-anna rubbee crop is being cut, but in the Sudder and Begooserai sub-divisions nearly an average crop is expected. Food is remarkably cheap,—cheaper, it is alleged, than it has been for years. This is accounted for by the fact that a recent good harvest in Lower Bengal has caused very little exportation from Behar.
	34	Bhagulpore, " 6,* "	Nil.	Cloudy weather. Wind veering from east to west. Crops ripening fast. Harvesting will be general in a fortnight or three weeks. Prices show no tendency to rise. New wheat is expected to sell at about a rupee a maund in Soopool sub-division. General condition of the people is very good. Some of the lowest classes are naturally badly off. General health is very good. Small-pox in Bhagulpore town, but not many cases.
	35	Purneah, " 4, "	Nil.	Weather—Cloudy, with variable winds. The country is very dry, but the rubbee crops on the low grounds near the Ganges and Koosi rivers are fair. In the north, where however rubbee is not much grown, there has been a failure. Only about a 3-anna or 4-anna crop will be gathered. Prices inclined to fall.
	36	Sonthal Perghs. " 4, "	0·15	Weather—On Thursday there was a good shower of rain close to Dumka, and a little rain in Dumka. The rain was only enough to cool the air and freshen a little indigo. There is no rubbee that could profit by it, and it was not enough for early ploughing.
ORISSA.
Orissa Divn.	37	Cuttack, Feb. 26, "	Nil.	Weather is still dry and hot. A few drops of rain fell on Friday, but not enough to register. Rain is now required for the early ploughing. Winter crops all harvested. Sugarcane, castor-seed, and cotton getting on well from artificial irrigation. Public health is good.
	38	Pooree, Mar. 2, "	Nil.	Weather—Dry and hot, except in the morning; cloudy at intervals. The dalua paddy is generally progressing well, but in few places requires a shower of rain. The state of the other crops is generally good.
	39	Balasore, " 3, "	Nil.	Weather—Throughout the week the sky has been clouded. Rain has threatened almost daily without falling. The early ploughing is still delayed for want of rain. Cholera and small-pox are still rather frequent and fatal. It is to be feared that cholera is increasing.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
		South-Western Frontier Agency.
	40	Hazareebagh, Mar. 3, '76	·02	Weather—Still variable but seasonable. Rain fallen inappreciable. Prospects of the crops remain unaltered. Foot and mouth disease diminishing.
	41	Lohardugga, " 4, "	Traces only.	Weather—A slight shower of rain accompanied by thunder and lightning. Weather cooler since. The rubbee crop has suffered in the Palamow sub-division, and in a part of the Sudder division also. A slight shower of rain fell on Thursday evening, but too slight to admit of registration. The general health of the district continues good. A few cases of small-pox and cholera reported from Palamow sub-division.
	42	Singbhoom, " 3, "	Nil.	Weather—A shower of rain on the night of the 2nd instant, which has made the weather seasonable again. No crops to report about. No further reports of cholera.
	43	Manbhoom, " 4, "	0·15	Weather—Seasonable. Nothing fresh to report about the crops. There was a shower of rain and some heavy mists lately. More rain will be required before ploughing will commence.

* Telegram of the 6th March, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain-gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

The 29th February 1876.—The Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of the following rules and instructions, prepared by the Board of Revenue, for the appointment and guidance of Patwarees in Orissa:—

IN future settlements one or more putwaree shall be appointed, under the provisions of Regulation XII of 1817, in all estates or groups of contiguous estates the Government revenue of which exceeds Rs. 300, or in which it shall seem fit to the Board of Revenue to appoint them.

2. The putwaree shall, at the time of the settlement, be appointed by the Collector on the nomination of the zemindar or other person with whom the direct engagement for payment of revenue to Government rests.

3. If the zemindar or other such person fail to nominate a putwaree in such estate or village in which it is provided that one should be maintained, the Collector may of his own accord select and appoint a putwaree.

4. When a vacancy in the office of putwaree is to be filled up, the preference should in general be given to the members of the late putwaree's family, but only on condition that any of them be found duly qualified to fill the office.

5. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of putwaree, owing to the failure of competent heirs to succeed the late putwaree or otherwise, the persons engaging for the settlement shall be held responsible for the nomination of a person to fill the vacancy; and if the Collector approve of the nomination, he shall confer the appointment; if he consider the person nominated not qualified, he shall pass such orders as may appear to him just and necessary.

6. A putwaree may be removed from his office by the Collector, on sufficient cause shewn therefor to the satisfaction of the Collector, by the persons engaging for the settlement of the estate, or by the ryots, or under-tenants thereof.

7. A register of putwarees shall be kept in the Collector's office, in which the names of all persons appointed as putwarees, as well as all punishments inflicted on such putwarees, shall be entered. One of the ministerial officers, and in Orissa the sudder canoongo, shall have charge of the register, and shall be held responsible for its being correctly kept.

8. Persons engaging for the settlement, who may fail to nominate a putwaree on a vacancy occurring, or may remove a putwaree from office without the authority of the Collector, shall be liable to the penalties respectively prescribed in sections 11 and 13 of Regulation XII of 1817.

9. The duties of a putwaree are detailed in section 16 of the above Regulation. In accordance with that section, the Board of Revenue now declares that the papers of the villages in his circle to be required from a putwaree are the following:—

1st. The current account of collections of rent in each village.
2nd. The annual balance-sheet of ditto.
3rd. Register showing the details of thanee ryots—first part.
4th. The same of chandna-holders—second part.
5th. The same of pahee ryots—third part.
6th. Register of lakhirajdars—first part.
7th. The same of jagirdars—second part.

The above papers shall be prepared in the forms herewith annexed.

10. These papers are to be drawn out by the putwaree and submitted to the district or sub-divisional collectorate office, as may be ordered, on the 1st of Cheyt each year, or on such dates as the Collector may consider most convenient with reference to the revenue arrangements, crops, &c., of the district.

11. Whenever summoned by the Collector or other authorized officer on any matter connected with the duties of his office, the putwaree shall attend at the time and place appointed, and shall produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, rents, collections, and charges of the village which he may be called upon to produce.

12. Every attempt should be made to secure the consent of the ryots and the person to whom their rent is paid to an arrangement whereby the putwaree may be present at the annual or biennial auditing of the accounts, or at least to the attestation by him of receipts given on payment of rent; and it shall be the duty of the putwaree, before attesting any receipt, to see that it is full, clear, and correct, and to note the amount of the payment in his accounts.

13. It shall be the duty of the putwaree to carry out any orders issued to him by the Collector or other authorized officer with reference to the collection of statistical information in the village or villages to which he is appointed, or to the survey and measurement of lands by order of a competent court or officer, or to other duties connected with his office.

14. Failure on the part of a putwaree to obey any order issued to him in writing by an authorized officer of Government, which does not in the opinion of the Collector necessitate his immediate removal from office, or which requires severer punishment than mere removal, may be dealt with as laid down in the 23rd to 27th sections of Regulation XII of 1817, or under the Penal Code.

15. At the time of settlement provision should be made for the remuneration of the necessary number of putwarees to be maintained in the estate. The scale of remuneration should be as follows:—

For estates of which the Government revenue has been—

From Rs. 300 to	600	Rs.	2-8.

If the remuneration be made in the shape of grants of rent-free lands, the quantity and quality of the lands granted should be such as to yield to him equivalents to the sums above stated. An engagement shall be taken from the zemindar of every estate in which a putwaree has been appointed to deposit the putwaree's salary in the collectorate along with the Government revenue, so that the putwaree shall receive his salary from the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be.

16. In the settlement of all estates for which it may seem inexpedient to arrange for the appointment and maintenance of a putwaree, an engagement shall be taken from the zemindar or other person entering into direct engagement with the Government to submit to the Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer the several registers and papers mentioned in paragraph 9 of these rules, and such other accounts or statements as the Collector may direct, and such zemindar or other person shall be subject to the various rules framed for putwarees under Regulation XII of 1817, in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of that Regulation.

17. All orders passed by the Collector shall be appealable to the Commissioner, and the orders of the Commissioner shall be subject to the revision of the Board.

Instructions subsidiary to the foregoing rules issued by the Commissioner with the approval of the Board of Revenue.

1. In all estates where putwarees exist they will be called on to conform strictly to the rules.

2. Where estates in which a putwaree was originally provided for at the settlement have been divided into two or more separate estates, the putwaree will perform his duty separately for all the shares into which the estate may have been divided.

3. Where no putwarees exist, all zemindars paying revenue to Government are liable to perform the putwarees' duties as defined in these rules and to keep and submit the necessary registers.

4. The register prescribed by rule 7 should be at once prepared, if not already existing. This register will contain the names of all putwarees duly appointed.

5. Where duly appointed putwarees are remunerated in land, Collector will register the amount of their land as extracted from the settlement papers, and Collector will ascertain that they are in full possession and enjoyment of their lands.

6. Where duly appointed putwarees are, under the settlement, paid in cash directly by the zemindar, who has received a set off for such payments, Collector will require the zemindar by formal notice to pay the putwaree's allowance into his office with his revenue kist, and Collector will see that the putwaree is duly and periodically paid.

7. Where no putwaree has been appointed, Collector will require the zemindar of the estate either to give in a formal agreement to undertake the duties prescribed by Regulation XII of 1817 himself, or, if he prefer it, to nominate a putwaree, paying his salary on the scale laid down in rule 15, together with the Government revenue, into Collector's office. Every new putwaree so appointed will be registered under rule 7. If a zemindar paying revenue of less than Rs. 300 per year desires to appoint a putwaree in lieu of doing the work himself, he will pay at the lowest scale laid down in rule 15.

8. Every zemindar of every estate paying revenue to Government in which a putwaree is not specially appointed will be required to submit the papers required by rule 9.

9. Surburakars of Khoordha, in Pooree, and Noanund, in Balasore, will be required to keep the necessary accounts and to file them, and to perform the duties of putwaree.

10. Similarly in peshkush, or permanently-settled estates, where no putwarees exist, or in which no provision was made at the settlement for putwarees, the zemindars must be required to execute the necessary agreement to perform putwarees' duties, or to nominate and pay a putwaree as directed in paragraph 7. If the estates are large and the zemindars undertake to perform the putwarees' duties themselves, they may be allowed to make their own arrangements therefor; but if they agree to nominate putwarees for the work, they must name as many as the Collector may deem necessary for each estate.

11. In the case of wards' estates provision should be made for putwarees. The putwarees' work should not be done through the wards' establishment, as it is an object to keep the collecting agency separate from the putwaree.

12. The rules and instructions apply to all estates paying revenue to Government; but will not apply to lakirajdars and proprietors of estates not paying Government revenue, who are exempt from the operation of the rules. Subordinate tenure-holders paying their revenue through their superior zemindars cannot be brought under the rules. In such cases Government look to the zemindar, who is amenable to the rules.

13. Revised forms of putwarees' registers, as per Board's latest instructions, are herewith forwarded. The revised rules, forms of account and instructions, will be published in the local gazette, and spare copies forwarded for issue to zemindars and putwarees.

14. Collectors should now proceed to complete their register of putwarees, and to see that the registers are properly kept and submitted both by zemindars and putwarees, and that the rules and instructions are strictly acted up to.

No. 92.—Notification.—The following draft Rules, having reference to the Main Western Canal, first section; the Arrah Canal; the Buxar Canal, first section; the Main Eastern Canal, first section; and the Patna Canal, are hereby published under the provisions of Sections XI and XII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," (No. V, B.L.C.) :—

I. Every vessel on entering any of the above canals shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorized by Government to be charged on the canal.

II. The tonnage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and of these Rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

(a.) The product of half the length of the vessel, from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b.) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c.) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on vessels exceeding 100 maunds tonnage, any fraction of 100 maunds less than 25 maunds is to be omitted; exceeding 25 and not exceeding 50 maunds, is to be charged as 25 maunds only; exceeding 50, and not exceeding 75 maunds, to be charged as 50 maunds only; and exceeding 75 maunds as 75 maunds only. Above 1,000 maunds no fraction of 100 maunds tonnage is to be charged Toll will be charged on vessels under 100 maunds tonnage on the actual measurements of the vessels, omitting fractions of tens of maunds.

III. Every vessel entering any of the above canals shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date the vessel entered the canal, the point to which it may proceed in the canal, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, and the number of days for which the vessel may remain in the canal, and the date of such last day. The number of days which the vessel may remain in the canal, without additional payment, shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed.

IV. Toll may be paid at the first station either for the entire number of toll stations on the line of navigation, or for any less number of stations.

V. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorized Canal Officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The ticket shall be delivered up at the last toll station.

VI. Owners of vessels may compound by the payment of a fixed sum for the use of the whole or a portion of any of the above canals for any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. Each vessel so compounded for shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded for, and the limits of the canal within which the vessel may pass; such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under Rule V, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

VII. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and the dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by officers in charge of toll stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

VIII. Vessels remaining in the canals for a period exceeding that allowed under Rule III, will pay a demurrage of eight annas per 100 maunds per diem for each day or part of a day that they may remain in excess.

IX. No boats above 18 feet beam over all, and no rafts or floats of more than 10 feet width and 150 in length, will be allowed to enter the canals.

X. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

[Government Gazette, 29th February 1876.]

XI. Vessels must have their masts fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed; and when under sail, vessels must always keep in the middle of thecanal; when being tracked, vessels are, as far as practicable, to keep to their port or left side of the canals.

XII. All vessels anchoring at night are to keep to their port or left bank ofthe canals.

XIII. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks, and no vessel shall be made fast or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a Canal Officer. No vessels shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation; and no bamboos or poles shall be allowed to be erected on vessels when at anchor. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Canal Officers, these Officers may undertake the removal of the obstruction themselves at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in Section IX of the "Canals' Act, 1864."

XVI. If the Canal Officers be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boat seized under the "Canals' Act," he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

XVII. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the Canal Officers may detain the vessel within the canal for a period not exceeding 24 hours, provided that within that period, the Canal Officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under Section XVI of the "Canals' Act."

XVIII. The banks or berms of the canals shall not be used as wharves for the deposit of goods, under a penalty of Rs. 10 for each offence; but, except in special cases, when the permission of the Canal Officers will be necessary, all articles shall be removed to the outer banks of the canals, and all such articles as shall not be finally removed from within the boundaries of the canals within a period of six days after being so deposited, shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds.

XIX. The canals may be closed once a year, for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

XX. All offences against the provisions of these Rules shall be punishable as provided for in Section XVIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and all fines imposed may be recovered in the manner mentioned in Section XVII of the same Act.

XXI. The term "Canal Officers" in the foregoing Rules shall include the persons alluded to in Section VIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and any other persons who may be specially appointed to exercise such powers by the person appointed to collect the tolls.

The Clerk of the Crown shall, as soon as possible after the last day allowed for making such applications, bring them before one of the Judges of the Court, and such Judge shall pass orders thereupon, which shall be communicated by the Clerk of the Crown to the respective applicants. If the Judge shall think fit to excuse any of the applicants from attendance at the particular Session, he may do so unconditionally, or on condition of his serving at the next or some subsequent Session to be fixed, and any such conditional order shall operate as an authority to the Clerk of the Crown to include the name of such person in the list for such subsequent Session under the provisions of Rule VI.

XII. A summons to a Juror who resides out of the limits of the Town of Calcutta, and to whom access at his office or place of business within such limits is denied to the Sheriff's Officer, as also all notices, orders, or other proceedings required to be served on him, shall, unless otherwise ordered, be addressed to him at his office or place of business aforesaid, or at his place of residence, and forwarded to him by post duly registered. The transmision by post as aforesaid of every such summons, or notice, or of a copy, authenticated by the seal of the Court, of every such order or other proceeding, shall, unless good cause be shown to the contrary, be deemed sufficient service thereof.

Service of a summons, or other process, on a Juror.

By post.

XIII. In all other cases every such summons, notice, order, or other proceeding shall, unless otherwise ordered, be served on a Juror personally.

Personally.

XIV. The Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after service of the summons, and not later than one week before the commencement of the Session, return the Precept to the Clerk of the Crown, with two panels annexed thereto, one of the Special Jurors and one of the Common Jurors, which panels shall show in a tabular form the names of the persons summoned and the particulars of service upon each; and if any person or persons named in the lists annexed to the Precept shall not have been served, the panel shall state that fact, and the reason why such person or persons has or have not been summoned: and in every case the reason why such service has not been effected shall be verified by the affidavit of the Officer whose duty it was to effect such service, and such affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of the Crown, with the return to the Precept.

Sheriff to return Precept with two panels, one of Special Jurors and one of Common Jurors, showing in tabular form names and particulars of service, and accounting for non-service.

XV. On the receipt of such return, the Clerk of the Crown shall, without delay bring the same before one of the Judges of the Court. The said Judge may, if necessary, examine the Sheriff's Officer or Officers as to the truth of such return, and as to the circumstances of the service or of the absence of service on any person, and may direct service to be made upon the person or persons not already served in such manner as to him shall seem fit. The Judge, if he think fit, may cause the name of any person returned by the Sheriff as not summoned to be entered on the list of Jurors, either Special or Common, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be fixed by the Judge.

Sheriff's return to be immediately laid before a Judge for orders.

XVI. If the Judge shall be of opinion that the number of Jurors named in either of the said lists who shall have been served is not likely to be sufficient, he may cause to be drawn by lot, in the mode provided by Rule VII, such further number of names as may be required to make up the full number of Special and Common Jurors summoned to attend at the Session to 30 and 70 respectively.

If sufficient number of Jurors not served, further names of Jurors to be drawn by lot, as provided by Rule VII.

Copy of Supplementary Lists of Jurors to be annexed to additional Precept to the Sheriff to summon the persons named therein.

Sheriff to return the Precept with a panel as provided by Rule XIV one clear day before the first day of Session.

XVII. Such lists shall be called the Supplemental Lists of Special or Common, Jurors, as the case may be, and shall be prepared and signed in the manner hereinbefore provided with respect to the original lists, and copies thereof shall be sent to the Sheriff with an additional Precept, and the Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after the receipt of such additional Precept, cause the persons named therein to be summoned to attend at the Session, and shall return the Precept to the Court not later than one clear day before the first day of the Session, with a panel similar to that provided by Rule XIV in respect of the original lists and Precept.

Jury how to be drawn and empanelled.

XVIII. In order to nominate a Jury for the trial of any prisoner or other person to be tried by Jury, the Clerk of the Crown shall cause to be put together into one box cards or pieces of parchment containing the names of all the persons summoned to serve on the Common Jury for the Session, if the trial is to take place before a Common Jury, or on the Special Jury, if the trial is to take place before a Special Jury, except such of the said persons as shall have been excused by the Judge from serving on that day in consequence of his having served as a Juror on the previous day, or for any other cause. Such cards or pieces of parchment shall be, as nearly as may be, of equal size, and each shall bear the name of one person summoned to serve on the Jury for that Session. The Clerk of the Crown shall then in open Court draw or cause to be drawn out of the said box nine of the said cards or pieces of parchment, one after another; and if any of the Jurors whose name shall be so drawn shall not appear, then such further number shall be drawn until nine Jurors shall appear. The prisoner or person to be tried shall be informed that, if he desires to object to any Juror, he must make his objection before the Juror is sworn. The names of the Jurors shall then be called aloud; and if, upon any challenge or objection either by the Government or the party to be tried, or for any other lawful cause, any Juror is not allowed to serve, or is exempted from serving, the Clerk of the Crown shall draw out another card or piece of parchment from the said box; and so on, until nine Jurors shall have been drawn who shall be allowed to serve.

Proceedings in case of deficient Jurors.

XIX. If, by reason of absence, or disallowance on challenge, or any other cause there be a deficiency of Jurors, the Court may command the Sheriff, or other Officer to name or summon a sufficient number of persons to make up a full Jury; and the Sheriff or other Officer shall, at such command of the Court, return such men duly qualified to serve as shall be then present or can be found to serve on such Jury, and the course of proceeding shall be the same as if their names had been returned in the panel and drawn by ballot under Rule XVIII: provided that, in case of a Special Jury, the additional Jurors may be taken from the list of Common Jurors summoned to serve at the same Session, if a sufficient number of Jurors qualified to serve as Special Jurors shall not be present in Court.

After each Session entry to be made by the Clerk of the Crown against the name of each Juror who has not made default.

XX. After each Session the Clerk of the Crown shall make an entry in the list of Jurors opposite the names of those who shall have served or shall have been summoned to serve at such Session and shall not have made default, together with the date of service, or of the Session for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

No person not on the Common Jury List, to be summoned to serve on a Coroner's inquest, and no Juror, except in case of necessity, to be summoned again within twelve months.

Coroner to keep a copy of the Jury Rules, and make an entry against the name of each Juror who has not made default.

XXI. No person shall be summoned to serve upon any inquest before a Coroner unless he is on the Common Jury List, nor, except in the case of necessity, within the period of twelve months after he shall have served on a Coroner's inquest or shall have been summoned to serve on a Coroner's inquest and shall not have made default. The Coroner shall keep a copy of the Common Jury List, and shall enter therein the names of the persons who shall have served or been summoned to serve and not made default, and the date of the inquest at which such Juror shall have served or for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

[Third Publication.]

The 29th February 1876.—The Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to approve of the following rules and instructions, prepared by the Board of Revenue, for the appointment and guidance of Patwarees in Orissa:—

IN future settlements one or more putwaree shall be appointed, under the provisions of Regulation XII of 1817, in all estates or groups of contiguous estates the Government revenue of which exceeds Rs. 300, or in which it shall seem fit to the Board of Revenue to appoint them.

2. The putwaree shall, at the time of the settlement, be appointed by the Collector on the nomination of the zemindar or other person with whom the direct engagement for payment of revenue to Government rests.

3. If the zemindar or other such person fail to nominate a putwaree in such estate or village in which it is provided that one should be maintained, the Collector may of his own accord select and appoint a putwaree.

4. When a vacancy in the office of putwaree is to be filled up, the preference should in general be given to the members of the late putwaree's family, but only on condition that any of them be found duly qualified to fill the office.

5. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of putwaree, owing to the failure of competent heirs to succeed the late putwaree or otherwise, the persons engaging for the settlement shall be held responsible for the nomination of a person to fill the vacancy; and if the Collector approve of the nomination, he shall confer the appointment; if he consider the person nominated not qualified, he shall pass such orders as may appear to him just and necessary.

6. A putwaree may be removed from his office by the Collector, on sufficient cause shewn therefor to the satisfaction of the Collector, by the persons engaging for the settlement of the estate, or by the ryots, or under-tenants thereof.

7. A register of putwarees shall be kept in the Collector's office, in which the names of all persons appointed as putwarees, as well as all punishments inflicted on such putwarees, shall be entered. One of the ministerial officers, and in Orissa the sudder canoongo, shall have charge of the register, and shall be held responsible for its being correctly kept.

8. Persons engaging for the settlement, who may fail to nominate a putwaree on a vacancy occurring, or may remove a putwaree from office without the authority of the Collector, shall be liable to the penalties respectively prescribed in sections 11 and 13 of Regulation XII of 1817.

9. The duties of a putwaree are detailed in section 16 of the above Regulation. In accordance with that section, the Board of Revenue now declares that the papers of the villages in his circle to be required from a putwaree are the following:—

1st. The current account of collections of rent in each village.
2nd. The annual balance-sheet of ditto.
3rd. Register shewing the details of thanee ryots—first part.
4th. The same of chandna-holders—second part.
5th. The same of pahee ryots—third part.
6th. Register of lakhirajdars—first part.
7th. The same of jagirdars—second part.

The above papers shall be prepared in the forms herewith annexed.

10. These papers are to be drawn out by the putwaree and submitted to the district or sub-divisional collectorate office, as may be ordered, on the 1st of Cheyt each year, or on such dates as the Collector may consider most convenient with reference to the revenue arrangements, crops, &c., of the district.

11. Whenever summoned by the Collector or other authorized officer on any matter connected with the duties of his office, the putwaree shall attend at the time and place appointed, and shall produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, rents, collections, and charges of the village which he may be called upon to produce.

12. Every attempt should be made to secure the consent of the ryots and the person to whom their rent is paid to an arrangement whereby the putwaree may be present at the annual or biennial auditing of the accounts, or at least to the attestation by him of receipts given on payment of rent; and it shall be the duty of the putwaree, before attesting any receipt, to see that it is full, clear, and correct, and to note the amount of the pay ment in his accounts.

13. It shall be the duty of the putwaree to carry out any orders issued to him by the Collector or other authorized officer with reference to the collection of statistical information in the village or villages to which he is appointed, or to the survey and measurement of lands by order of a competent court or officer, or to other duties connected with his office.

14. Failure on the part of a putwaree to obey any order issued to him in writing by an authorized officer of Government, which does not in the opinion of the Collector necessitate his immediate removal from office, or which requires severer punishment than mere removal, may be dealt with as laid down in the 23rd to 27th sections of Regulation XII of 1817, or under the Penal Code.

15. At the time of settlement provision should be made for the remuneration of the necessary number of putwarees to be maintained in the estate. The scale of remuneration should be as follows:—

For estates of which the Government revenue has been—

From Rs. 300 to 600	Rs.	2-8.

If the remuneration be made in the shape of grants of rent-free lands, the quantity and quality of the lands granted should be such as to yield to him equivalents to the sums above stated. An engagement shall be taken from the zemindar of every estate in which a putwaree has been appointed to deposit the putwaree's salary in the collectorate along with the Government revenue, so that the putwaree shall receive his salary from the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be.

16. In the settlement of all estates for which it may seem inexpedient to arrange for the appointment and maintenance of a putwaree, an engagement shall be taken from the zemindar or other person entering into direct engagement with the Government to submit to the Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer the several registers and papers mentioned in paragraph 9 of these rules, and such other accounts or statements as the Collector may direct, and such zemindar or other person shall be subject to the various rules framed for putwarees under Regulation XII of 1817, in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of that Regulation.

17. All orders passed by the Collector shall be appealable to the Commissioner, and the orders of the Commissioner shall be subject to the revision of the Board.

Instructions subsidiary to the foregoing rules issued by the Commissioner with the approval of the Board of Revenue.

1. IN all estates where putwarees exist they will be called on to conform strictly to the rules.

2. Where estates in which a putwaree was originally provided for at the settlement have been divided into two or more separate estates, the putwaree will perform his duty separately for all the shares into which the estate may have been divided.

3. Where no putwarees exist, all zemindars paying revenue to Government are liable to perform the putwarees' duties as defined in these rules and to keep and submit the necessary registers.

4. The register prescribed by rule 7 should be at once prepared, if not already existing. This register will contain the names of all putwarees duly appointed.

5. Where duly appointed putwarees are remunerated in land, Collector will register the amount of their land as extracted from the settlement papers, and Collector will ascertain that they are in full possession and enjoyment of their lands.

6. Where duly appointed putwarees are, under the settlement, paid in cash directly by the zemindar, who has received a set off for such payments, Collector will require the zemindar by formal notice to pay the putwaree's allowance into his office with his revenue kist, and Collector will see that the putwaree is duly and periodically paid.

7. Where no putwaree has been appointed, Collector will require the zemindar of the estate either to give in a formal agreement to undertake the duties prescribed by Regulation XII of 1817 himself, or, if he prefer it, to nominate a putwaree, paying his salary on the scale laid down in rule 15, together with the Government revenue, into Collector's office. Every new putwaree so appointed will be registered under rule 7. If a zemindar paying revenue of less than Rs. 300 per year desires to appoint a putwaree in lieu of doing the work himself, he will pay at the lowest scale laid down in rule 15.

8. Every zemindar of every estate paying revenue to Government in which a putwaree is not specially appointed will be required to submit the papers required by rule 9.

9. Surburakars of Khoordah, in Pooree, and Noanund, in Balasore, will be required to keep the necessary accounts and to file them, and to perform the duties of putwaree.

10. Similarly in peshkush, or permanently-settled estates, where no putwarees exist, or in which no provision was made at the settlement for putwarees, the zemindars must be required to execute the necessary agreement to perform putwarees' duties, or to nominate and pay a putwaree as directed in paragraph 7. If the estates are large and the zemindars undertake to perform the putwarees' duties themselves, they may be allowed to make their own arrangements therefor; but if they agree to nominate putwarees for the work, they must name as many as the Collector may deem necessary for each estate.

11. In the case of wards' estates provision should be made for putwarees. The putwarees' work should not be done through the wards' establishment, as it is an object to keep the collecting agency separate from the putwaree.

12. The rules and instructions apply to all estates paying revenue to Government; but will not apply to lakirajdars and proprietors of estates not paying Government revenue, who are exempt from the operation of the rules. Subordinate tenure-holders paying their revenue through their superior zemindars cannot be brought under the rules. In such cases Government look to the zemindar, who is amenable to the rules.

13. Revised forms of putwarees' registers, as per Board's latest instructions, are herewith forwarded. The revised rules, forms of account and instructions, will be published in the local gazette, and spare copies forwarded for issue to zemindars and putwarees.

14. Collectors should now proceed to complete their register of putwarees, and to see that the registers are properly kept and submitted both by zemindars and putwarees, and that the rules and instructions are strictly acted up to.

(c.) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on vessels exceeding 100 maunds tonnage, any fraction of 100 maunds less than 25 maunds is to be omitted; exceeding 25 and not exceeding 50 maunds, is to be charged as 25 maunds only; exceeding 50, and not exceeding 75 maunds, to be charged as 50 maunds only; and exceeding 75 maunds as 75 maunds only. Above 1,000 maunds no fraction of 100 maunds tonnage is to be charged Toll will be charged on vessels under 100 maunds tonnage on the actual measurements of the vessels, omitting fractions of tens of maunds.

III. Every vessel entering any of the above canals shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date the vessel entered the canal, the point to which it may proceed in the canal, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, and the number of days for which the vessel may remain in the canal, and the date of such last day. The number of days which the vessel may remain in the canal, without additional payment, shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed.

IV. Toll may be paid at the first station either for the entire number of toll stations on the line of navigation, or for any less number of stations.

V. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorized Canal Officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The ticket shall be delivered up at the last toll station.

VI. Owners of vessels may compound by the payment of a fixed sum for the use of the whole or a portion of any of the above canals for any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. Each vessel so compounded for shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded for, and the limits of the canal within which the vessel may pass; such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under Rule V, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

VII. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and the dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by officers in charge of toll stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

VIII. Vessels remaining in the canals for a period exceeding that allowed under Rule III, will pay a demurrage of eight annas per 100 maunds per diem for each day or part of a day that they may remain in excess.

IX. No boats above 18 feet beam over all, and no rafts or floats of more than 10 feet width and 150 in length, will be allowed to enter the canals.

X. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

XI. Vessels must have their masts fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed; and when under sail, vessels must always keep in the middle of the canal; when being tracked, vessels are, as far as practicable, to keep to their port or left side of the canals.

XII. All vessels anchoring at night are to keep to their port or left bank of the canals.

XIII. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a Canal Officer. No vessels shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation; and no bamboos or poles shall be allowed to be erected on vessels when at anchor. Any infringement of this rule will be punishable by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XIV. Every vessel when put to shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board of it: any infringement of this rule will be punishable, by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XV. In every case of wreck or obstruction of the channel by sunken vessels, the Canal Officers may call upon the person in charge of the vessel to remove the same without delay, and shall give every reasonable assistance towards so doing. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Canal Officers, these Officers may undertake the removal of the obstruction themselves at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in Section IX of the "Canals' Act, 1864."

XVI. If the Canal Officers be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boat seized under the "Canals' Act," he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

XVII. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the Canal Officers may detain the vessel within the canal for a period not exceeding 24 hours, provided that within that period, the Canal Officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under Section XVI of the "Canals' Act."

XVIII. The banks or berms of the canals shall not be used as wharves for the deposit of goods, under a penalty of Rs. 10 for each offence; but, except in special cases, when the permission of the Canal Officers will be necessary, all articles shall be removed to the outer banks of the canals, and all such articles as shall not be finally removed from within the boundaries of the canals within a period of six days after being so deposited, shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds.

XIX. The canals may be closed once a year, for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

XX. All offences against the provisions of these Rules shall be punishable as provided for in Section XVIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and all fines imposed may be recovered in the manner mentioned in Section XVII of the same Act.

XXI. The term "Canal Officers" in the foregoing Rules shall include the persons alluded to in Section VIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and any other persons who may be specially appointed to exercise such powers by the person appointed to collect the tolls.

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Financial Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 1453.—Fort William, the 9th March 1876.—Leave and Allowances.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to sanction the insertion of the words except in the Postal Department after the words " provided that" in Section 20 (b) of the Acting Allowance Code, and the addition of the following note to the " explanation " of that section :—Note.—This explanation does not apply to appointments in the Postal Department.

No. 1405.—The 10*th March* 1876.—Separate Revenue.—Post Office.—Notice is hereby given that an arrangement has been concluded for the exchange of parcels between India and the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

On and after the 1*st April* 1876 parcels can be sent to places in Austria-Hungary under the same rates and conditions as apply to Germany.

The following detailed rules for the despatch of parcels from India to the United Kingdom and Foreign Europe will supersede those issued under the Notification by this Department, No. 2377, dated 12th November 1875 :—

Overland Parcel Post.

(1) Parcels are received at any Post Office in India under the conditions and rates of charge mentioned below for transmission to the following countries, viz. :—

COUNTRY.	Rate of chage per lb. or fraction thereof. Prepayment compulsory.	Remarks respecting special conditions, &c., applicable to particular countries.
	Annas.
United Kingdom ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel as far as London, any additional charge which may become due on account of British custom duty or carriage beyond London being realised from the addressee. The attention of the public is invited to the fact that the British Post Office has no connection with the Overland Parcel Post; all arrangements out of India are made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company; and enquiries proceeding from the United Kingdom should be addressed to that Company's Office, 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E. C. The British Post Office, however, has consented to exhibit in every Post Office of the United Kingdom a notice containing information on the subject of the Indian Parcel Post. Parcels must not exceed £50 in value. Any parcel which on examination of the declaration at Bombay may be found to exceed this value will, instead of being forwarded by the Overland Parcel Post, be transferred to the Bombay Agency of the P. & O. S. N. Company for transmission independently of the Post Office, and subject to such regulations and charges on delivery as may be applicable thereto under the Company's regulations. (NOTE.—The Company's present charge is an ad valorem rate of 2 per cent., which does not include Marine or other Insurance.)
Germany ... Austria-Hungary ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Denmark ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Sweden ... Norway ... Switzerland ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
France ... The Netherlands (Holland.) Belgium ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value, and that the second or duplicate declaration should contain a statement of the weight (lbs. and ozs. or tolas) of the contents, and should, if possible, be written in the French language. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.

(2) Every parcel should be securely packed in a closed cover or case, and should bear the name and address of the person in the United Kingdom or foreign country for whom it is intended.

N. B.—The public are specially warned against the use of flimsy covers for articles transmitted by the Parcel Post. Heavy articles are sometimes sent with only paper covering insecurely tied with string: friction in transit detaches this cover, and damage and loss ensue. A covering of stout cloth or wax cloth sewn at the edges is recommended; but if the contents are liable to suffer from pressure, boxes of wood or tin should be used.

•(3) Every parcel should be accompanied by a separate paper headed with the address of the parcel and containing a declaration of its contents and value under the signature of the sender. Below the signature the address of the sender should be given.

For the parcels addressed to—

The United Kingdom ... Germany ... ... Austria-Hungary ... ... Denmark	Only one declaration as above described is required.
Sweden ... ... Norway ... ... Switzerland...	A second or duplicate declaration is also required.

France ... ... The Netherlands (Holland) Belgium	A second or duplicate declaration is also required, and the sender is requested to enter in the declaration a statement of the weight (lb and ozs. or tolas) of the contents, and to write the second or duplicate declaration, if possible, in the French language. Should he be unable to do so, the Bombay Post Office will attach to the second or duplicate English declaration a French rendering thereof, but the sender is warned of the delay which may result from this.

It is not deemed necessary to require exact adherence to any particular form of declaration, but the following specimen form may be useful to the senders of parcels :—

Specimen form of declaration.

N. B.—Declarations for parcels intended for France, the Netherlands or Belgium should, in addition to the above, contain a statement of the weight (lb and ozs. or tolas) of the contents.

(4) The Parcel so addressed and the separate paper or papers above referred to should then be enclosed in a substantial outer cover. This outer cover should be superscribed and addressed as follows :—

The Post Master, Bombay.

(5) The parcel so made up must be fully prepaid by means of postage stamps at the rate of 8 annas per lb (40 tolas) or fraction of a lb, care being taken that the stamps adhere firmly to the cover.

(6) The parcel so made up must not exceed 50lb (25 seers) in weight, or 2 feet in length by 1 foot in breadth or depth. It will be received at any Post Office at the hours fixed for the receipt of ordinary banghy parcels, the usual receipt being given to the sender without reference to the mode of packing prescribed in the case of inland parcels for which receipts are claimed.

(7) On arrival at Bombay, the Post Master will take off the outer covering and forward the inside parcel and the accompanying declaration or declarations to the country of inside address.

(8) It is forbidden to send in these parcels opium or any liquid or any substance or material of a dangerous, damaging or offensive kind.

(9) In the case of parcels for or from Germany or Austria-Hungary and the foreign countries served through Germany, compensation will be given by the responsible Post Office to the sender for loss or damage sustained in transit (cases of sea risk or of vis major or of the own negligence of the sender in respect of packing or otherwise excepted). Such compensation will in no case exceed 1½ rupee for each lb weight or fraction thereof in respect of parcels forwarded from India, and 3 marks or 1½ florins for each 500 grammes or fraction thereof in respect of parcels from Germany or Austria-Hungary. Should the sender desire it, the compensation will be paid to the addressee instead of to himself.

(1) provide for the payment of the interest on the municipal debt in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and thirty-one;

(2) provide for the establishment of a reserve fund in the manner prescribed by the said section;

(3) provide such funds as may be necessary for the maintenance of the police in the manner and to the extent mentioned in Chapter VIII;

(4) complete and extend throughout the town the new underground drainage works now under construction, and for that purpose to expend annually a sum, being not less than one lakh and a half of rupees, or, with the sanction of the Local Government, any sum less than the above amount, to be raised as provided by section three hundred and twenty-eight;

(5) maintain a water-supply in the manner and to the extent mentioned in Chapter VII;

(6) make adequate and suitable provision for the cleaning and the conservancy of the town, and to provide such funds as may be necessary for that purpose.

Local Government may appoint a Commission.

22. If it shall appear to the Local Government that the Commissioners have failed to make adequate and suitable provision for the cleaning and the conservancy of the town to an extent likely to be prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants of the town, or of any part thereof, the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint a Commission, consisting of three persons, of whom one shall be the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal, or the Senior Medical Officer of the Presidency, the second shall be appointed by the Commissioners in meeting within thirty days of the date of the said notification, or in their default, by the Local Government, and the third by the Local Government; and the Local Government shall order the members of the said Commission to report within a certain time, to be fixed by the Local Government, whether they are of opinion that the cleaning and the conservancy of the town are defective to an extent likely to be prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants of the town, or of any part thereof, and, if they shall be of such opinion, to specify in their report what further provision should be made for the cleaning and the conservancy of the town up to the end of the year then current, or of the year next succeeding, as may be directed by the Local Government, and to submit an estimate of the cost of the said further provision.

In default of Commissioners, Local Government may carry out recommendation contained in report of the Commission.

22A. On receipt of the said report, the Local Government shall forward the same for the consideration of the Commissioners, and if the Commissioners shall decline to carry out the provisions recommended therein, the Local Government may order that such provisions, or any of them, or any portion of them respectively, be carried out; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Commissioners to comply with such order, and to provide the funds mentioned in the said estimate, or such portion thereof as the Local Government may fix; and the Chairman shall forthwith carry out such order, and shall defray the cost of carrying out the same from the Municipal Fund, notwithstanding any power conferred on the Commissioners by section forty-six, or anything to the contrary contained in any other provision of this Act.

Provided that, during the currency of the term for which the rent has been fixed as aforesaid, any person may bring a suit to enhance the rent of any ryot or tenant whose rent has been so fixed, on the ground that the area of the ryot's or tenant's holding has been increased by alluvion or otherwise, and on no other ground.

18. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, if it shall appear to the Collector that any suit which is pending before him involves any question relating to the title of land or to some interest in land, as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, or any other question which can more properly be decided by a civil court, or, in districts in which Act X of 1859 is in force, by a revenue court under that Act, the Collector may transfer such suit to a civil court or revenue court (according to whether such civil court or such revenue court would have had jurisdiction in the matter if this Act had not been passed); and such court shall thereupon proceed to deal with the suit as if this Act had not been passed, and as if the suit had originally been instituted before such court.

Collector may decide question before transferring suit to civil court.

19. If such suit involves a question of rent or any other question which may properly be settled by the Collector under this Act, as well as a question which may more properly be decided by such civil court or revenue court, the Collector may decide the former question under this Act before transferring the suit to such other court; and such decision shall be subject to the provisions of this Act in respect of appeals, and the civil court or revenue court shall be bound to give the final decision in the suit in accordance with the decision of the Collector or of the appellate authority under this Act on such question, so far as such decision is applicable.

Powers of Collector after withdrawal of Act.

21. Notwithstanding that the Lieutenant-Governor may have issued a notification as provided in section three declaring this Act to be no longer in force in any tract, the Collector shall proceed to decide all suits pending before him on the date of issue of such notification as if no such notification had been issued; and in respect of all such suits and of all other matters and suits which may be pending before the Board, the Commissioner, or the Collector on the date of the issue of such notification, the said Board, Commissioner, and Collector shall, until such matters or suits are finally decided or disposed of, exercise the same powers with respect thereto as if such notification had not been issued.

The provisions of section 154 of Act X of 1859 shall apply to all suits in which the judgment of the Collector is final.

No appeal to lie against judgment declaring arrears due unless arrears have been paid.

26. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Act, no appeal shall lie against any order declaring arrears of rent to be due and directing that such arrears be paid, unless such appeal shall be accompanied by the certificate of the Collector that the amount of such arrears has been paid to the Collector; and on payment of such amount, the Collector, if required so to do by the person making such payment, shall be bound to grant such certificate, and to hold the amount in deposit until the appeal against his order shall have been disposed of, or until the period for making such appeal shall have expired.

Appeal against judgment of Deputy Collector.

27. When any such suit as is mentioned in section twenty-five in which, if tried and decided by the Collector, the judgment of the Collector would be final, is tried and decided by a Deputy Collector, an appeal from the judgment of the Deputy Collector shall lie to the Collector, and the provisions of sections 156 to 159 (both inclusive) of the said Act X of 1859 shall apply to such appeals.

In what suits appeal to lie to Commissioner and to Board.

28. MOFUSSIL MUNICIPALITIES.

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the Council proceeded with the further consideration of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities, in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that, having looked more carefully into the Bill with reference to the amendments which had been made, he found it necessary to move the following amendments in some of the clauses which had already been passed.

In section 49, which provided for the appointment of a Secretary and other officers, he moved the insertion of the words "Engineer or Health Officer" after the word "Secretary" in the third line. It had been brought to his notice that there were water-works in some of the more advanced municipalities which might render necessary the appointment of an Engineer in such places, and that in Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta the appointment of a Health Officer might be necessary.

The motion was put and agreed to.

In section 50, which provided for security to be taken from collectors of taxes or tolls, the words "and from every other officer whose duty it is to receive or expend money on behalf of the Commissioners" were inserted after the word "tolls" in the third line.

In section 62 verbal corrections were made in the amendments, which were agreed to at the last meeting.

Section 76 was agreed to.

Section 77 specified the additional taxes which might be levied in any municipality, and amongst these was the following: "(c) tolls on ferries and roads."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the words "and roads." There was another part in another chapter of the Bill which was devoted to this subject; but he thought the principle of the tax might be discussed in connection with the clause now before them, and he therefore thought it proper to propose the amendment which he now moved. When this Bill was introduced, he took the opportunity to state that the levy of tolls on roads was open to great objection, and several hon'ble members, he believed, were of the same opinion. It was a most inconvenient and oppressive mode of taxation, led to great abuses, and was a source of constant irritation. He did not know what was the financial yield of this impost in the several municipalities which had recourse to it, but he believed it could not be large. At any rate, the hon'ble mover of the Bill was probably in a position to enlighten us on that point; but he might observe that wherever tolls were levied on roads great complaints were made by the people. They did not object to pay tolls on ferries; but road tolls were a fertile source of annoyance, harassment, and irritation. He might remind the Council that not many years ago, when the question of a road cess was under discussion, Mr. Leonard, the then Public Works Secretary, who, it might be presumed, represented the views of the Government of the day, wrote a very exhaustive note on the subject, and pointed out the objections which existed to the system of levying tolls on roads. One of the grounds put forward in support of the road cess was, that tolls on roads could then be done away with. So, for the sake of consistency, he submitted that road tolls in municipalities ought to be abolished, even if they were productive financially. On these grounds he proposed the amendment which he had moved.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE said that the first toll on roads seemed to have been introduced in 1837-38. Subsequently a law was passed—Act VIII of 1851—which authorized the levy of rates of toll not exceeding the rates mentioned in the schedule, to be levied upon any road or bridge made or repaired at the expense of the Government: so that the object of the Act appeared to be that when roads or bridges were made or repaired at the expense of the Government, then only should there be a levy of a toll. Then an Act was passed in 1864—Act XV of that year—by which the Schedule of Act VIII of 1851 was repealed and another schedule substituted. The original intention of Government seemed to be the levy of the tolls on roads and bridges made or repaired by the Government only. Now, it appeared that the Municipal Act imposed a tax on horses, carriages, and carts in Howrah and the Suburbs and other places for keeping roads in good order, and for the construction of new roads. So that the very object for which the law of 1851 was passed was effected by the subsequent enactment of the municipal laws. Besides, we had a license tax to be paid by owners of carts and bullocks, and also a tax by householders for keeping the roads in municipalities in good order. To levy a further tax on roads, would be to impose a double tax on cart-owners and householders, who already paid a separate tax under the Municipal Acts. He therefore thought that, on principle, a double tax ought not to be levied, and he agreed with the hon'ble member in the amendment which he had proposed.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER would ask the Council to postpone the consideration of the amendment until he had time to learn what the practical effect of giving up tolls on roads would be. He had already said, when introducing this Bill, that this tax was admitted to be harassing and vexatious; still it was unfortunately necessary to do many things which were more or less harassing to obtain money when it was required.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he had only one observation to make with reference to what had fallen from the hon'ble mover of the Bill, and that was that if it was impossible to do away with tolls on roads which already existed in municipalities, it might be provided that no such tolls should be levied hereafter. That would have the effect of merely sanctioning existing tolls. He believed that no tolls were now levied on Government roads, and that the principle of having these toll-bars was generally condemned.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said tolls on roads were now existing, and he thought the Government ought not to give up existing imposts without further inquiry as to what the effect would be; so, if the Council would agree, he should be glad to postpone the consideration of the amendment until the hon'ble mover of the Bill had an opportunity of considering its effect.

The further consideration of the section was then postponed.

Section 78 was agreed to.

Section 79 provided that the duration of assessments and valuations under the Act should be "three years."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the substitution of the words "six years" for the words "three years." He said he had been led to make this proposal with a view to make this part of the mofussil municipal law uniform with the Calcutta municipal law. In the Calcutta Bill the duration of the assessment was fixed at six years; and if it had been thought reasonable to limit the period of assessment to six years in Calcutta, it appeared to him that it would be much more reasonable to fix that limit in the mofussil.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG hardly thought that the circumstances of Calcutta and the mofussil were analogous. The value of property in Calcutta was well known, and was not likely to alter very much; but the circumstances in mofussil towns were quite different, and he must therefore oppose the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he was also inclined to think that the circumstances of mofussil municipalities would be liable to more variation; some might flourish much, others might fall into decadence. Three years was the period fixed in the existing law, and he did not see any reason for altering it.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that as often as a new assessment was made the people were liable to great excitement and harassment, and therefore he thought the popular mind would be set at rest by the prolongation of the term for which an assessment would continue in force; the value of property in the mofussil did not rise so rapidly as to necessitate frequent changes in the assessments.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT did not think there was sufficient occasion to alter the existing law. He thought they ought to be careful, in a Bill which was merely to consolidate and amend the law, not to make alterations unless some necessity was shown. It was not as if they were framing a new law, but they were merely consolidating the existing law. He was quite willing to make a change wherever good reason for the change was shown.

The motion was negatived, and the section was agreed to.

"Provided that no rate shall be assessed or levied on any building which is used exclusively as a place of worship, as a hospital, or police station, or for any purposes of the Municipality."

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL the words "on any arable land or" were inserted after the word "levied," arable land not being subject to assessment under the existing law.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the insertion of the words "an educational institution" after the word "hospital." He thought that schools and places of public instruction ought not to be assessed. Places of worship might be very necessary for religious training, and hospitals might be necessary for the cure of bodily diseases; so also places of instruction were very necessary for moral and intellectual training; and he would therefore declare that such institutions should be exempted from assessment.

The HON'BLE MOULVIE MEER MAHOMED ALI observed that many schools were opened with a view to gain, and he did not think that such places should be exempted from taxation; he would, however, exempt schools which were open for purposes of charity.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER did not think the principle of the amendment was good. Of course, if it was desirable from large-heartedness to encourage education by relieving it from the pressure of taxation, it might be done; but on principle he thought educational buildings should pay their own share of municipal taxation.

After some further conversation the motion was put and negatived.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the omission of the words "or for any purposes of the municipality." He had lately received a communication from the Dacca Municipality, and one from the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs. They represented that municipalities often hired the buildings they used, and when they did so, there was no reason why the tax payable by the proprietor of those buildings should not be levied.

The motion was agreed to; and on the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL the words "or police station" were also omitted in this section, and in line 5 of section 88.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the insertion of the following section after section 80:—

80A. "Whenever any tax shall have been assessed on any person in respect of his occupation of two or more holdings, and the aggregate of the amount so assessed upon him shall exceed eighty-four rupees per annum, such person may, within fifteen days of the publication of the notice of the preparation of the assessment list as provided by section 101, apply to the Commissioners to cancel such assessment, and to substitute for the total amount of tax so assessed upon him in respect of the said holdings a rate to be calculated at seven and a half per centum on the annual value of such holdings; and the Commissioners shall thereupon substitute such rate, and, for the purpose of calculating the amount of such rate, shall determine the annual value of the said holdings in the manner provided by section 90.

Every rate imposed under this section shall be payable by the occupier of the holdings so rated."

He said that this section was intended to meet the difficulty which had arisen with reference to the tax on persons, with special reference to the use of the term "holding." The hon'ble and learned Advocate-General had pointed out that where the tax levied was an assessment on the person according to his property and circumstances, it was very important to define what a holding should be, because the maximum of that tax was Rs. 84 a year, or Rs. 7 a month on each holding. The case of a millionaire having a large area of land covered with several buildings had been taken for illustration; and it had been contended that if you left it to the discretion of the Commissioners, and did not define what a separate holding should be, they might split up the property into several holdings, and tax the owner up to the maximum for each of the holdings into which they chose to divide the property. After considering the question, the conclusion arrived at by the Advocate-General, the hon'ble member on his right (Mr. Bell) and the speaker, was that the definition of the word "holding" would not be of much importance if such a clause as the one he had just read were put into the Bill; the effect of which would be this, that in any place in which an assessment on the person was in force, if any person had been assessed at more than Rs. 7 per month, and in respect of more than one holding, the person so assessed might say—"Instead of this assessment I elect to have a rate of 7½ per cent. imposed on the value of each holding;" whereupon the Commissioners would be obliged to tax the holdings accordingly, the tax of course being paid by the occupier and not by the owner.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he was in favor of the amendment as far as it went. Whether it obviated all the difficulties that had been raised, he was not sure; but as far as it went, it appeared to him to be good, inasmuch as it imposed a check on the undue multiplication of holdings for the purpose of assessment. He understood the abuse lay in this, that at the time of assessment a particular number of holdings might be arbitrarily made for the purpose of assessment. He quite agreed that it was very desirable to impose a check on such a multiplication of holdings, and in so far as the amendment imposed this check he was in favor of the amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 81 empowered "the Commissioners" to exempt from assessment any person whom they might deem too poor to pay the tax.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words "at a meeting" after the word "Commissioners" in the first line. He thought that exemptions ought not to be made without the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE observed that practically the inquiry into claims to exemption on the ground of poverty would take up a good deal of the time of the Commissioners. He would leave the Chairman to determine these cases, and if any person was dissatisfied with the decision of the Chairman he could appeal to the Commissioners, and then the general powers given to the Commissioners at a meeting might be exercised by them by way of appeal.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG would not allow every petty order of the Chairman to be made subject to an appeal to the Commissioners. These matters would be very much better decided by the Chairman than by the Commissioners at a meeting.

After some further conversation the motion was put and negatived, and the section was agreed to.

Section 82 was agreed to.

Section 83 empowered the Commissioners to alter assessments under certain circumstances.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the words "to be inadequate and" in line 8. He said that this section provided that the Commissioners might, at any time after the publication of the assessment list, assess any person who was without authority omitted therefrom, or whose liability to assessment had accrued thereafter; and might enhance any assessment which appeared to them to be inadequate, and to have been so made owing to mistake or fraud. He wished to be informed whether this enhancement might be made during the currency of the assessment, that was to say, within the three years for which the assessment was to remain undisturbed. [The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that it was so.] Then this section would override the other sections as to assessment. The ground of inadequacy was after all a very slender ground, and would be open to misconstruction. He submitted that where there had been mistake or fraud which could be proved, the assessment ought to be revised, but no assessment ought to be enhanced merely because it appeared to be inadequate; for if you allowed the assessments which were made for three years to be disturbed on so slight a ground, it would open a wide loophole for enhancement.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER explained that the essence of the provision was that the assessment was made by mistake or fraud; according to the wording it must be inadequate, and have been so made by mistake or fraud.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL accepted the explanation which had been made and withdrew his amendment.

The section was then agreed to, and so also were Sections 84 to 96.

Section 97 gave power to revise the valuation and assessment on holdings.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the following words at the end of paragraph 1:—

"A notice shall be served upon the owner or occupier of every holding which may be so assessed, or the assessment of which might be fixed at a higher sum than what was prevailing for the time being."

He thought that in every case where an assessment was increased or newly made, notice should be served on the owner or occupier. That was not clear from this or any subsequent section, and he therefore proposed the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he thought the hon'ble member would withdraw his amendment if he looked at Sections 102 and 104. Anybody who had an assessment imposed upon him for the first time, or whose assessment was enhanced in any manner whatever, might appeal according to the procedure laid down for the review of assessments. Now, when was this appeal to be made? Section 104 said within one of two periods, whichever should last expire; either within one month from the publication of the assessment list (which would not apply to a single assessment made within the year), or "within fifteen days from the date of service of the first notice of demand for payment at the rate in respect of which the application is made;" so that practically there were fifteen days given to apply for a review whenever an assessment was altered.

After some further conversation the motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section was then agreed to.

Sections 98 and 99 were agreed to.

Section 100 provided a penalty for failure to give notice within ten days of the re-occupation of a house, for which a remission or refund of the rate had been made.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the substitution of the words "one month" for "ten days" in line six, and of the word "twice" for "three times" in line seven. He considered that ten days was too short a time to allow for giving the notice required, and that the penalty of three times the amount of rate was too severe for the offence. The failure might be caused by oversight or illness, and he thought there could be no harm in allowing one month.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that the penalty in the Calcutta Act was the same, namely, three times the amount of the rate; he must oppose the amendment, on the ground that the Select Committee had considered and decided the point.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that it was quite clear that the person who owned a house must know that it had been re-occupied, and if he failed to give notice of re-occupation, he ought to be made to pay the penalty prescribed. The temptation not to give notice was immense.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that the head of the family might be absent, and the inmates of the family might be incapable of giving the notice required; he thought therefore that some further time be allowed.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he agreed with the hon'ble mover of the Bill that when these matters had been decided by the Select Committee, the Council ought not to reverse the decision without some good grounds. He thought the period of ten days was quite sufficient time to allow for the giving of this notice: if a man had a month's grace, he would take his time about it and probably forget it altogether; but if you limited him to ten days, as soon as his house was re-occupied he would give information. If, as the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) had suggested, the owner or proprietor were absent, still his agent, the person who admitted the new tenant into the house, would be competent to give notice that the house was re-occupied, and was again subject to taxation. MR. BELL did not see that any sufficient reason had been given to alter the time fixed by the section or to reduce the penalty.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was agreed to.

Section 101 related to the publication of assessment lists.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that, in reference to this very important section, he had received a suggestion from the Chairman of the Suburban Municipality. The effect of this section and of Section 348, taken together, came to this, that the assessment list and the valuation and rating lists were to be deposited in the office of the Commissioners—kept posted up at the door of the Commissioners' building—and an extract of so much of them as related to the jurisdiction of any police station was also to be posted up at such police station. Mr. Wilson, the Chairman of the Suburban Commissioners, stated that his rating list occupied 24 folio volumes, and it was absurd to expect these books to be hung up, as ishtahars were hung up, at the several police stations. Besides, there would be great expense on account of recopying; and moreover, the assessment boundaries did not coincide with the boundaries of police stations. Therefore it was necessary to give up the idea of hanging up the assessment and rating lists at the police stations and the door of the Commissioners' office; and instead of the assessment and rating lists, it was proposed that a notice in the form given in the first schedule annexed to the Act should be posted up and published by proclamation at the police stations and in the most public manner, informing the people that the lists were ready, and inviting them to go to the office of the Commissioners to inspect them. He thought such a procedure would be quite sufficient, and he therefore moved that in Section 101 the following be substituted:—

"When the assessment list of the tax upon persons mentioned in Section 78, or the valuation and rating list of the rate on the annual value of holdings mentioned in Section 92, shall have been prepared and signed by the Chairman, the Commissioners shall cause the notice in form A, or the notice in form B of the first schedule (as the case may be), to be published in the manner required by Section 348."

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he thought it would be absurd to expect these lists to be copied and hung up at the police stations, but it appeared to him that something further ought to be done. When a new assessment was made for the first time, special notice should be given. That was the law now, as laid down by Act III of 1864, the thirtieth section of which provided that in all cases in which any property was for the first time assessed, or the assessment was increased, special notice thereof should be given to the owners or occupiers of such property. He thought that if a provision to that effect were inserted, it would meet all the requirements of the case.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that he had already stated that the special notice referred to was contained in the notice of demand which was to be presented with the Bill; if any change was made in the rate of tax, it would be specially pointed out in the notice of demand that the assessee was at liberty to apply for review of the assessment instead of paying the amount demanded. Hon'ble members would observe that there was a note to that effect in the form of the notice of demand given in the second schedule.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL expressed himself satisfied, and thought that that would meet all his objections.

The motion was then carried.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, amendments which were rendered necessary by the adoption of the previous motion, were made in Sections 79, 92, 96, 97, 104, 348, and Forms A and B of the first schedule.

Section 102 was agreed to.

Section 103 provided that applications for review of assessment should be heard and determined by not less than three Commissioners, who should be appointed by the Chairman.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words "other than the Chairman or Vice-Chairman" after the words "three Commissioners" in line 4, and the substitution of the words "Commissioners at a meeting" for the word "Chairman" in line 6. The object of his amendments was to make this provision of the Mofussil Bill correspond with a similar provision in the Calcutta Bill. That Bill provided that the executive officers of the Municipality should not sit on the Bench of Justices to hear appeals. Similarly, he proposed that in the mofussil the Appellate Board should be constituted of Commissioners other than the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, who were executive officers.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said mofussil municipalities were very differently constituted from that of Calcutta with regard to its members. It was a matter of very great difficulty in a mofussil municipality to get the attendance of members to hear these assessment cases. As Chairman of one of these municipalities, he had been compelled to sit because he could get no other members to do so. He therefore doubted very much whether it was expedient to pass this amendment, especially as in these assessment matters it was of very great importance to have either the Chairman or Vice-Chairman on the Bench, as it was of the greatest consequence that these assessment appeals should be properly decided. The great majority of gentlemen who sat on Municipal Boards in the mofussil were not very well conversant with judicial duties, and the revision of assessments was in fact a sort of judicial inquiry. He thought it would be very unfortunate if the Chairman and Vice-Chairman were to be excluded from these Appellate Benches.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that he would adhere to the recommendation of the Committee on both these points; and after what had fallen from the hon'ble member who had just spoken, his opinion was stronger than it was before. The first amendment would be absolutely unworkable.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was then agreed to.

Sections 104 to 109 were agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the words "and a fee of two annas as costs of service" after the words "due" in line 6 of Section 110. It appeared to him that as this section was worded, the cost of the service of a bill was to be levied whether the bill was paid instantly or not. Now, municipal taxes were levied not only for general municipal purposes, but also for the collection of the taxes themselves, and he did not understand why a separate fee should be levied for the collection of the tax. This fee, he believed, was not leviable under the existing law, and it was one of those innovations which were open to serious objection.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER explained that the words did appear to be out of place. Under the old law a charge was made when a notice of demand was served; but in the Bill as it stood it was provided that the notice of demand should be served simultaneously with the bill; and if the person paid the bill in fifteen days, no process would be necessary, and no fee would have to be paid.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 111 was agreed to.

Section 112 provided the mode of executing distress warrants.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words "under an order signed by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman" after the word "except" in line 15. He thought it was very necessary that some check should be placed on the executive officers of the municipality in carrying out duties of this description. They were too apt to oppress the people, and by way of check, he proposed that they should not be authorized to break open doors unless they held an order signed by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman. In the mofussil the people were not always able to protect themselves, and great abuses and oppressions were practised upon them by persons who were dressed in brief authority.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL explained that the order signed by the Chairman authorized the warrant officer to enter a house; but he was not to enter or break open any room appropriated for the zonana, or residence of women, except after three hours' notice, and opportunity given for the retirement of the women. He thought that if the officer had the authority of the Chairman to enter a house, surely that was quite sufficient, and he did not see that any further security was required.

The amendment was by leave withdrawn, and the section was agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the insertion of the following section after Section 113:—

113A. "All officers and servants of the Commissioners, and all chowkidars, constables and other officers of the police are prohibited from purchasing any such property at any such sale as aforesaid."

It was a mere reproduction of the existing law; and as it was a very wholesome provision against abuse by municipal and police servants, he hoped the Council would take care to secure the protection provided by this section.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 124 provided a penalty of three times the amount for keeping a carriage or horse without a license.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the substitution of the word "twice" for "three times" in line 5. He thought a penalty of three times the amount of license fee was very heavy, and that twice the amount would be sufficient.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that he supposed this amendment was open to the same objection that had been taken to a previous one of a similar nature, namely that the Select Committee had decided the matter, and that the penalty was the same in the Calcutta Bill.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was then agreed to.

Section 125 was agreed to.

Section 126 empowered the Commissioners to compound with livery stable-keepers and others.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the insertion of the words "or with any other person" after the word "hire" in line 6. The object of the amendment was to enable the Commissioners to compound with private individuals. The Dacca Municipal Commissioners had strongly recommended the amendment; they considered that persons would rather pay a little more to save the trouble and annoyance of constantly applying for licenses.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG thought the amendment altogether unnecessary. In his experience people generally compounded for a less payment than what they would otherwise have to make, and not for more.

The motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section was agreed to.

Section 127 prescribed a penalty of three times the amount upon persons who, having compounded, refused to pay the sum on demand.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL moved the omission of this section. He saw no reason why default in paying the tax under this section should be treated in a different way to a default in the payment of any other tax.

The motion was agreed to.

Sections 128 to 130 were agreed to.

Section 131 related to the registration and numbering of carts, and specified certain exemptions.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the following additional exemption was inserted :—

"(c) Which are kept in Howrah or within the suburbs of Calcutta."

Sections 132 to 141 were agreed to.

In Section 142 the penalty for refusing to leave a ferry boat was, on the motion of the HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASGHAR ALI, reduced from "rupees twenty-five" to "rupees ten."

Section 143 prescribed a penalty for keeping an unauthorized ferry.

"Provided this section shall not apply to any private ferry which may be in existence at the time this Act comes into force."

This section, he said, gave a discretion to the Commissioners as to ferries already in existence, and under another section power was given to the Commissioners to take over a ferry by paying compensation, and if a new ferry was established, a license was to be granted. He did not think it would be fair or equitable that the Commissioners should have power to interfere with existing ferries which they might not require for their own purposes. Vested rights, he submitted, ought not to be unnecessarily interfered with.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was then agreed to.

Section 144 prescribed a penalty of fifty rupees for keeping an unauthorized ferry, and a further fine of ten rupees a day during the continuance of the offence.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASGHAR ALI moved the substitution of the words "twenty-five" for "fifty" in line 4, and of "five" for "ten" in line 5.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that he could not consent to the amendment, as the penalty here prescribed was for a deliberate offence, committed for the sake of pecuniary gain.

The motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section was agreed to.

The consideration of Sections 145 to 150 was postponed.

Section 151 was as follows:—

"The Commissioners may grant a lease of any municipal ferry or toll-bar for any period not exceeding three years."

The HON'BLE MR. BELL moved the insertion of the following words at the end of the section:—

"and may at any time cancel such lease. Whenever such lease is cancelled otherwise than under Section 141, the Commissioners shall make adequate compensation to the lessee of the ferry. In case the lessee of the ferry refuses to accept the compensation offered by the Commissioners, the amount to be paid as compensation shall be determined by the Commissioner of the division."

He did not know whether there was any great necessity for this amendment, because it might be provided for under the terms of the lease; but his object in granting the Commissioners power to cancel a lease within three years was this. It happened often that circumstances occurred which made the Commissioners desirous of raising or reducing the tolls throughout the municipality, but if a lease existed no alteration in the rates could be made. Or the Commissioners might wish to introduce improved boats; but no lessee would put an improved ferry-boat during the continuance of his lease. In the interest, therefore, of the public, he thought it desirable to give the Commissioners power to cancel leases on making suitable compensation.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was sorry he could not concur in the amendment. The Commissioners might exercise their discretion in the granting of leases. The section did not bind them to grant a lease for three years, but when a lease was executed, it would not be fair or just that it should be left to the discretion of the Commissioners to cancel the lease: when once an agreement was made, it ought certainly to hold good for the term for which it was granted.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER did not see the force of the hon'ble member's objection. If, with this clause staring him in the face, a contractor came in and took a lease, knowing at the time that the Commissioners might, if they wished, at any time cancel it on public grounds, and that he was to receive compensation for such cancellation, MR. DAMPIER could not see any hardship in the matter, as the contractor would not be taken by surprise, and would receive in one shape what he failed to receive in another.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was agreed to; so also was Section 152.

Section 153 prescribed a penalty of fifty rupees for neglecting to hang up a table of tolls, and a further fine of ten rupees per day during the continuance of the offence.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the substitution of the word "twenty-five" for "fifty" in line 5, and of "five" for "ten" in line 6. He did not think that so heavy a penalty should be imposed for a simple omission to hang up a table of tolls.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that the failure to hang up the table of tolls might proceed from the wish of the toll collector to keep passengers in ignorance of the tolls he was authorized to charge, and that would be a very serious offence. He did not think any Magistrate would impose the maximum penalty if the failure were caused by circumstances which were beyond control.

The motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section was agreed to.

Sections 154 to 158 were agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the insertion of the following after Section 158:—

"The Lieutenant-Governor may in his discretion, by a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, suspend the levy of tolls on roads and navigable channels, as provided for in this Act, within the limits of any municipality during seasons of general scarcity and distress."

After some conversation the further consideration of the section was postponed.

Sections 159 to 165 were agreed to.

Section 166 provided as follows:—

"The Lieutenant-Governor shall consider the police estimate so transmitted to him, and may approve, reject, or modify, and approve as modified the same or any part thereof.

The Lieutenant-Governor shall also determine whether the whole or some, and what part of the expense of the police provided for in such estimate, shall be borne by the Municipality to which the same refers.

Provided that the expense so to be borne by any municipality in which the tax on persons is in force shall not exceed, for a first-class municipality, the average rate of one rupee and eight annas in the year, and for a second-class municipality, the average rate of one rupee and four annas in the year for each holding in respect of the occupation of which the tax is imposed.

Provided also that the expense so to be borne by any municipality in which the tax on the value of holdings is in force shall not exceed five per centum on the total annual value of such holdings."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the substitution of the following for the last two paragraphs of the section:—

"Provided that the expense so to be borne by any municipality shall not exceed one-fourth the annual income of such municipality."

He believed that the Council was well aware that the police charges absorbed the greater portion of the income of mofussil municipalities; particularly of second-class municipalities. He held in his hand a statement which showed that in 1873-74 there were 25 first-class municipalities in Bengal, yielding a total annual income of Rs. 10,84,620. He found that the municipalities of the Suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah yielded Rs. 4,66,249, and the remaining twenty-three first-class municipalities Rs. 6,18,371. Then it appeared that the police charges of these twenty-three municipalities came to Rs. 1,73,718, and the average income left for other purposes of these municipalities was Rs. 19,332 per annum, or Rs. 1,611 per month. Thus, as regards first-class municipalities, the contribution on account of police charges came to nearly one-fourth of the aggregate income.

Then, with regard to second-class municipalities, he found that in 1873-74 there were 92; and the average income left to them after payment of police was Rs. 3,071 per annum, or about Rs. 250 per month. The total annual income of these second-class municipalities was Rs. 4,90,554; the police charges amounted to Rs. 2,07,920; and the balance, after paying for police, was Rs. 2,82,534. Divide this balance between 92 municipalities, and you would find that the average income was, as he had stated, Rs. 3,071 per annum, or Rs. 250 monthly. Now, with those stubborn facts before the Council, he asked whether mofussil municipalities were in a position to carry out the works and purposes which were being prescribed to them, and whether it was not incumbent on the Government to consider as to how far the police charges could be reduced or supplemented from other funds, and how a sufficient balance could be left of the municipal fund to meet the ordinary requirements of these towns. He need hardly remind the Council that the general revenues ought to be appropriated, to a certain extent, towards the support of the police in mofussil towns. The object of the abkaree revenue was primarily the maintenance of the police. One of the objects of the stamp revenue was also the same. And as in the capital towns the Government contributed one-fourth of the police charges, he did not think it was fair that the cost of the municipal police in the mofussil should be met entirely out of the municipal taxes. If these municipalities were rich, or sufficiently well-to-do, and could afford to contribute towards the entire maintenance of the police without neglecting the legitimate requirements of the tax-payers, he would not object. But it appeared from the figures which he had read, and which were compiled from official records, that after paying police charges, second-class municipalities had not much left to provide for the ordinary requirements of the towns. In fact, out of Rs. 250, which was the balance left, a considerable sum went towards the maintenance of municipal establishments; and the vexatious machinery of municipal taxation seemed to be intended to raise money chiefly for the police and the establishments. When such was the case, it was worthy the consideration of the Council whether a limit should not be put to the liability of second-class towns for the maintenance of the police.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said this Bill was introduced on the principle of not increasing municipal taxation, and he thought it must also be considered that it was not introduced with the intention of making any radical difference in the application of the municipal funds. At any rate, the amendment which was now proposed was a very large one, and was certainly not one upon which he could venture to speak except under instructions from the Government. Under the existing law, the amount to be applied for police purposes was not to exceed a certain maximum of taxation. An amendment was now proposed to alter it, which would have the effect of throwing on the Government a very increased expenditure on account of police. The question was a new one, and he could not accept the amendment without consultation with the head of the Government.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said there appeared to him to be some slight misapprehension with regard to the existing law. Present municipalities fell under two classes; those which were constituted under Act III of 1864, the District Municipal Improvement Act, and those which came under Act VI of 1868, the District Towns Act. The far greater number of municipalities to which the hon'ble member referred came under Act VI of 1868. Now, that Act was introduced into those towns in which Act XX of 1856 was previously in force. Act XX of 1856 was generally called the Chowkeedaree Act. It was introduced into those towns, not for municipal purposes, but to provide funds for the employment of police: that was the first and primary object of Act XX of 1856. It was true that the residue of the funds raised under that Act, after providing for the police, was devoted to conservancy purposes; but that was quite a secondary object of the Act. But the hon'ble member, by his amendment, proposed to reverse the whole preceding legislation on the subject. The primary object of Act XX of 1856 was for police; and if any funds were raised over and above the cost of the police, it might, after the police requirements were satisfied, be devoted to municipal purposes. Such being the case, he thought the hon'ble member had not shown any good grounds for the amendment which he proposed.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the statement from which he had given the figures helped him to an answer to the observations which the hon'ble member had just made. He found that the places now under Act XX of 1856 numbered 69, and those under Act VI of 1868 numbered 92. It might be that some of the towns under the operation of Act VI of 1868 were formerly under the operation of Act XX of 1856; but they might have developed since, and have therefore been advanced in the scale of municipal organization. But there existed that distinction which the hon'ble member had pointed out. Where Act XX of 1856 prevailed, there the taxes raised were applied to the maintenance of the police. As regards Act VI of 1868, the number of towns under it, as already mentioned, was 92; and the object of the introduction of that Act into those towns was not simply to provide for the maintenance of the police, but to enable the inhabitants to enjoy those advantages which it was the object of municipal arrangements to confer upon them. With an average income of only Rs. 250 per month, after paying for police, it was idle to expect that second class municipalities could be able to do much.

He entirely concurred with the hon'ble mover of the Bill that this was a very important question, and that action could not be taken by the Council without the concurrence of the Government; and as the hon'ble member proposed to postpone the consideration of the question, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL readily accepted the suggestion.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he must explain to the Council that there would be the greatest difficulty in the Government accepting an amendment of this kind, for this reason, amongst others, that if the police in these towns was to be maintained at all, it must be from municipal funds; for there were absolutely no other funds. It was all very well to speak of a charge being thrown on the general revenues; but as regards the police the general revenues were hardly applicable. There were certain allotments made from the general treasury to the local Governments, and the question arose whether they could bear the cost for the town police. He might state that they had the greatest difficulty in providing funds for the regular police force for the rest of the country, and therefore it was financially impossible that the Government could undertake further burdens on account of the municipal police. Having lately had occasion to carefully scrutinize the police budget in conjunction with others—one or two of whom there present could bear him out—although he quite admitted the desirability of leaving a margin for conservancy purposes, nevertheless from what he saw he must say frankly that the police charges in mofussil towns must be paid as they were now; and if the margin for conservancy improvements was small, we must be content with small improvements. He could not hold out any hope of the Government being able to accede to the amendment of the hon'ble member, much as HIS HONOR might desire to do so if possible. The hon'ble member spoke of stubborn facts; but HIS HONOR ventured to say that there were no facts so stubborn as financial facts. And as to a reduction of the cost of these police, it was a question of the security of life and property, of which the executive authorities were the best judges.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, with reference to what had fallen from the hon'ble member on the right (Mr. Bell), that it was admitted that the first municipalities, the first aggregation of men whose urban character was recognized, were brought under taxation expressly to meet the cost of police, whatever was over being made use of for conservancy. The maximum then imposed as leviable under the Chowkidari Act, of which the object was to provide for police, was an average assessment of Rs. 1-8 per house. That was the maximum to be devoted for police purposes in the very lowest form of municipal vitality. Subsequently, it was found desirable, in one of the later laws, to sanction more formally the raising of funds for conservancy purposes, and thereafter the Magistrate was allowed to raise funds for police and conservancy, provided he did not exceed the original average of Rs. 1-8 per house in any place. Now we came to the maximum in the present Bill, where the system of assessment on persons was in force. The proviso in the section under discussion was as follows:—

"Provided that the expense so to be borne by any municipality in which the tax on persons is in force shall not exceed, for a first-class municipality, the average rate of one rupee and eight annas in the year, and for a second-class municipality the average rate of one rupee and four annas in the year for each holding in respect of the occupation of which the tax is imposed."

It would be seen, therefore, that in the case of second-class municipalities the Bill did actually reduce the maximum which had so long existed by four annas a head.

The motion was then put and negatived, and the section was agreed to.

Sections 167 to 173 were agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the following words after paragraph 2 of Section 174:—

"Any person required to execute a work as aforesaid may show cause to the Commissioners at a meeting why he should not be called upon to execute the said work, and the Commissioners at a meeting shall, after due inquiry, pass such orders upon his application as they may think fit."

"Provided that such owners or occupiers may submit objections to the items or rates charged as aforesaid to the Commissioners at a meeting."

He said the works which were enjoined under this section were very comprehensive, and he thought that, in common justice to the persons concerned, an opportunity should be given to them to state their objections if they had any. Sometimes the Commissioners—or rather the Chairman, as the term "Commissioners" meant here—might require a person to execute a work which was beyond his means, or which might cause great loss to him; and if the orders of the Chairman in this matter were made final, then there would be no means of redress in cases in which the order might not be quite consistent with justice. It would therefore be fair that the Commissioners at a meeting should allow a hearing to a person who was called upon to execute any work under this section.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG observed that if the Chairman was required to carry out sanitary reforms, the objection should be made to him and not to the Commissioners at a meeting. The Chairman, he thought, would be the best judge of such matters. With all due deference to his colleagues, the Magistrate of the district would probably be right and the Native Commissioners wrong in a matter like this.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL observed that the Magistrate of the district was not always the Chairman of a Municipality; the Chairman very often happened to be the Deputy Magistrate in charge of the sub-division. He thought it a very reasonable proposition that a man, before he was called upon to execute an extensive work, should have an opportunity given to him of stating his objections to the order passed upon him. And he thought that these objections should be made before the Commissioners at a meeting. The Commissioners were generally few in number, and if the work to be executed was of an essential nature, the Chairman would be sure to carry the Commissioners along with him; but if it was not necessary, it was desirable that the opinion of the Commissioners should prevail. The first object ought to be to secure the contentment and prosperity of the people.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG observed that if this amendment were carried, every single order of the Chairman would be appealed. The hon'ble member, who had just spoken, had before expressed the opinion that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to get the Commissioners to meet together to hear appeals; and that as the hearing of appeals required somewhat of a judicial training, the Chairman or Vice-Chairman was more fitted to hear them than the other Commissioners. The probabilities were that in most municipalities there were two or three Native Commissioners, and if this amendment were carried, there was hardly an order of a sanitary nature which would be carried out.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL explained that his former observations referred to the sittings of Commissioners for the hearing of appeals from assessments, a work which required a considerable degree of care, attention, and labor at such meetings, and it was very difficult to get members to attend. But at the general meetings there was no difficulty in getting members to attend. His experience was different from that of the hon'ble member. He admitted that it would be impossible, in a large body like the Calcutta Justices, to refer all these questions to their decision. It was generally the case in mofussil municipalities that all questions of conservancy improvement were first debated by the Commissioners at a meeting, and he was quite sure that if this amendment was accepted, these questions would be fairly and justly determined.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, if the object of the law was to induce the rate-payers of towns in the mofussil to interest themselves in municipal affairs, he thought the best way to accomplish the object would be to give them a voice in the determination of matters of this kind, as proposed by the hon'ble member who had last spoken. It was well known that in the mofussil the will of the Magistrate was supreme in a manner which was not quite known in the capital; and therefore, if the Magistrate decided that a certain work was to be done, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL did not believe that his native colleagues would dare go against him. But if in a friendly way discussion was held and opinions were ventilated, he thought it would do a great practical good.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that the principle of the Bill was that the more important works and business was to be done by the Commissioners at a meeting, and all other matters by "the Commissioners," that was to say, the Chairman exercising authority on their behalf. He was not quite sure whether the distinction had been sufficiently observed throughout the conservancy clauses of the Bill; but perhaps the object of the amendment might be met by taking care that the orders regarding really important and extensive works were reserved for the determination of the Commissioners at a meeting. In this way the appeal from the order of the Chairman to the Commissioners at a meeting would be avoided.

After some further conversation, the further consideration of the section was postponed.

Sections 175 to 180 were agreed to.

Section 181 was agreed to with a verbal amendment.

Section 182 was agreed to.

Section 183 was agreed to with a verbal amendment.

Section 184 prescribed the hours and mode of removal of offensive matter and rubbish.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the following words from the end of the section—

"And may remove the same at the expense of the occupier from any house if the occupier thereof fails to do so in accordance with this Act."

He thought the cost of removal of rubbish should not be thrown on the occupier who paid the tax. In Calcutta the conservancy carts employed by the Justices removed the refuse deposited from the houses.

After some conversation, the further consideration of the section was postponed.

Sections 185 to 187 were agreed to.

Section 188 empowered the Commissioners to require the removal of noxious vegetation and the improvement of bad drainage within eight days.

The HON'BLE MOULVIE MEER MAHOMED ALI moved the substitution of "fifteen days" for "eight days." He thought the time should be fixed according to the proportion of work to be done, and that the Commissioners ought to have power to extend the period of time on cause shown; and as there was a heavy penalty attached to the failure to carry out the order of the Commissioners, he hoped the amendment would be agreed to.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MOULVIE MEER MAHOMED ALI then moved that in Section 189 the fine for failure to comply with the order of the Commissioners under the preceding section be reduced from Rs. 100 to Rs. 50, and from a daily fine of Rs. 20 for a continuing offence to Rs. 5.

After some conversation the motion was negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Section 190 provided that all "rubbish" and offensive matter collected from roads, "houses," &c., should be the property of the Commissioners.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE the word "houses" was omitted, as it was not intended that broken bricks and mortar (included in the definition of "rubbish") which were collected in houses should be appropriated by the Commissioners.

Sections 191 to 194 were agreed to.

Section 195 empowered the Commissioners to require unwholesome tanks on private premises to be cleansed or drained within "eight days."

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the substitution of the words "one month" for "eight days." He could say from his own experience that eight days was too short a period to allow for the purpose, and he doubted whether even one month would be sufficient in all cases.

After some conversation the motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Section 196 was agreed to.

Section 197 gave power to drain off and cleanse stagnant pools, &c., which were likely to prove injurious to the health of the inhabitants.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the insertion of the words "being the property of the Commissioners" after the word "excavation" in line 5. He thought that the Commissioners ought not to take any action in respect to private property without giving due notice.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved by way of amendment the omission of the whole section, which might be dispensed with.

The amendment was put and agreed to.

Sections 198 and 199 were agreed to.

Section 200 empowered the Commissioners to order the removal within eight days of any future obstruction or encroachment in any road, &c.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI moved the substitution of the words "one month" for "eight days."

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Sections 201 to 209 were agreed to.

Section 210 prescribed a penalty of Rs. 100 for failure to comply with an order to secure or protect wells, tanks, &c., and a daily fine of Rs. 20 during the continuance of the offence.

The Hon'ble Nawab Syed Ashgar Ali moved the substitution of the words "Rs. 20" for "Rs. 100," and of "Rs. 10" for "Rs. 20."

The motion was put and negatived, and the section passed as it stood.

Sections 211 and 212 were agreed to.

"If the Commissioners shall have caused any repairs to be made to any house or other structure under the provisions of Section 211, and if such house or other structure be unoccupied, the Commissioners may enter upon possession of the same, and may retain possession thereof until the sum expended by them on the repairs be paid to them."

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal moved the omission of this section, which he said would practically authorize the Commissioners to confiscate the property of individuals if they did not pay for the cost of repairs. Other parts of the Bill provided for the recovery from private individuals of expenses incurred by the Commissioners on behalf of such persons, and he did not see why an exceptional course should be taken for the recovery of the cost of repairs done by the Commissioners. If other expenses could be recovered by following the procedure laid down in the Bill, he thought the cost of repairs under this section might likewise be recovered under the same process. This section as it stood gave absolute power to the Commissioners to take possession of a house if they found it unoccupied, unless the money expended by them in its repairs were immediately paid. That was a new provision. It had no place in the existing laws; and he opposed it not only on that ground, but as being opposed to the generally received notions as to rights of property.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bell said it appeared to him that this section must have got into the Bill by mistake. He did not think there was any clause authorizing the Commissioners to repair dilapidated houses. Section 211 required owners or occupiers to effect such repairs, and authorized the Commissioners, until such repairs were effected, to put up a proper hoard or fence for the protection of passengers; and therefore it seemed to him that Section 213 was unnecessary and ought to be omitted. The proper way to enforce the provisions of Section 211 would be to fine the owner or occupier, who was required to place the house in a state of repair so that the passers-by should not be endangered.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said there was a general section which provided that whenever the Commissioners were authorized to require any person to do anything within a certain time, if the person did not do it, the Commissioners might do it themselves. Under that section the Commissioners would be authorized either to repair or to demolish a dilapidated house, if the proprietors failed to repair or pull it down on requisition under Section 211. Had the hon'ble mover of the amendment thought out its probable effect? If you did not give the Commissioners large powers for the recovery of the expenses of repairs, they would not repair, but pull the houses down.

His Honor the President said there were many houses in mofussil towns which were simply tumbling down on account of disputes amongst the owners. In fact, there was hardly a town in which one or more such houses were not to be met. As the Bill stood, the Commissioners must pull such houses down because they were dangerous to the passers-by, whereas, according to the intention of the hon'ble mover, these houses might be repaired and taken possession of by the Commissioners. In neither case did the shareholders get them. But was it better that the houses should be repaired and taken possession of by the Commissioners until the repayment of the expenses incurred, or that the houses should be pulled down?

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal admitted that it was desirable that such houses should be repaired, but he objected to the mode of recovery of the expenses.

The further consideration of the section was then postponed.

Section 214 related to the sale of the materials of houses which had been pulled down, and provided that the proceeds, if unclaimed for the space of one year, should be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL the period of "one year" was extended to "three years."

Section 215 was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL the following section was introduced after Section 215:—

"215A. The Commissioners at a meeting may offer rewards for the destruction of wild animals within the limits of a Municipality."

Section 216 was agreed to.

The further consideration of the Bill was then postponed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 11th instant.

RETURN OF JOINT STOCK COMPANIES FOR THE YEAR 1875.

No. 906, dated Calcutta, the 1st March 1876.

From—H. Beverley, Esq., Inspector-General of Registration,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department.

1. Return of companies registered in 1875.
2. Return of companies which increased their capital in 1875.
3. Return of companies wound up in 1875.
4. Return of companies borne on the register at the close of 1875.

I have the honor to forward, for the information of Government, and for publication in the Gazette, the returns noted in the margin, submitted by the Registrar of Calcutta Joint Stock Companies, for the year 1875.

2. Return I will show that nineteen new companies were registered during the year, with an aggregate capital amounting to Rs. 57,16,500, of which the tea companies alone represent Rs. 23,26,000.

3. It will be seen from Return II that four companies increased their capital by Rs. 2,52,500, of which Rs. 1,80,000 is represented by Tea Companies.

4. Return III shows the number of Joint Stock Companies wound up in 1875. The nine companies so wound up represent an aggregate capital of Rs. 25,05,000, of which the sum of Rs. 85,000 relates to Tea Companies. In addition to these, three companies, viz. the Western Coffee Company, Limited, registered in 1865; the Burdwan Stone Company, Limited, registered in 186[illegible]; and the National Theatre Company, registered in 1873, have been written off as defunct. The first company has not filed any papers since 1867, the second since 1872, and the last from the date of its registration. The Bangalore Bank, Limited, which has been registered afresh in Mysore, has also been excluded from the list of existing companies.

5. From Return IV it will be seen that 132 Joint Stock Companies were borne on the register on 31st December 1875, representing an aggregate capital of Rs. 7,22,35,000. Of these, six companies have been in existence for fifteen years and upwards; twenty-six for ten years and less than fifteen; thirteen for five and less than ten; and eighty-seven for less than five years.

The following abstract of the companies classified under the headings of Manufactures, Commerce, and Trade, may not be uninteresting:—

6. The receipts of the Registrar's office during the year amounted to Rs. 4,706, against Rs. 8,216 in the previous year.

7. There were four prosecutions instituted under the Indian Companies' Act during the year under report. In three cases the defendants were warned and discharged; in the fourth the prosecution was withdrawn.

8. One charitable society, viz. the Mayo Native Hospital, was registered during the year under the provisions of Act XXI of 1860; but as this institution has only taken the place of the old Calcutta Native Hospital, the latter has been struck off the list as defunct. There are now twelve literary, scientific, and charitable societies registered under Act XXI of 1860.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain-gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

To—The Judge of Bhagulpore.

HIGH COURT. ENGLISH DEPARTMENT. (Civil.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of yout letter No. 32, dated 10th February 1876, relative to the mode of exhibiting in the Quarterly Civil Statements cases dismissed on default of plaintiff's prosecution of them, and in reply to state that the Court approves of their being accounted for not as decided "on trial" but as "otherwise disposed of."

2. According to the Code of Civil Procedure, no doubt (this being a casus omissus) these decisions cannot come under the head of dismissal on default; but neither, manifestly, can they be said to be decisions on trial, where the plaintiff, having to prove a case, has given no evidence. The Court's statements are meant to show work done, and ought not, by reason of an omission in the Code, to be made to supply misleading information.

HIGH COURT.
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.
(Criminal)

The Court having observed that certain Sessions Judges close their Courts on the Civil Court holidays to the great prejudice of public business, all Sessions Judges and Magistrates in the lower and extra Regulation Provinces are reminded* that the holidays published by the High Court are for observance in the Civil Courts only, and that the Criminal Courts as a rule should be closed on no days when the public Treasuries are open. In any case, a trial commenced ought to be finished, although a native holiday intervenes; and Sessions ought not to be interrupted, and the commencement of trials postponed, except on days when native usage absolutely requires the intermission of all business.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 406.—Fort William, the 17*th March* 1876.—Notifications.—Public.—HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY AND GOVERNOR GENERAL has the satisfaction of publishing for general information the following letter which he has had the honour of receiving from HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES:—

H.M.S. "Serapis,"
Bombay, the 13*th March* 1876.

MY DEAR LORD NORTHBROOK,

I cannot leave India without expressing to you, as the QUEEN'S Representative of this vast Empire, the sincere pleasure and the deep interest with which I have visited this great and wonderful country.

As you are aware, it has been my hope and intention for some years past to see India, with a view to become more intimately acquainted with the QUEEN'S subjects in this distant part of Her Empire, and to examine for myself those objects of interest which have always had so great an attraction for travellers.

I may candidly say that my expectations have been more than realized by what I have witnessed; so that I return to my native country most deeply impressed with all I have seen and heard. The information I have gained will, I am confident, be of the greatest value to me, and will form a useful foundation for much that I hope hereafter to acquire.

The reception I have met with from the Princes and Chiefs, and from the native population at large, is most gratifying to me; as the evidence of loyalty thus manifested shows an attachment to the QUEEN and to the Throne, which I trust will be made every year more and more lasting. It is my earnest hope that the many millions of the QUEEN'S Indian subjects may daily become more convinced of the advantages of British rule, and that they may realize more fully that the Sovereign and the Government of England have the interests and well-being of India very sincerely at heart.

I have had frequent opportunities of seeing Native Troops of all branches of the Service, and I cannot withhold my opinion that they constitute an army of which we may feel justly proud. The "march past" at Delhi of so many distinguished officers, and of such highly disciplined troops, was a most impressive sight, and one which I shall not easily forget.

I wish also to state my high appreciation of the Civil Service; and I feel assured that the manner in which their arduous duties are performed tends greatly to the prosperity and the contentment of all classes of the community.

I cannot conclude without thanking you, and all those in authority, for the facilities which have enabled me to traverse so rapidly so large an extent of country; and rest assured I shall ever retain a grateful memory of the hospitality tendered by yourself and by others who have so kindly received me.

Believe me, my dear Lord Northbrook,

Yours very sincerely,

ALBERT EDWARD.

No. 130.—The Governor General in Council has received with the deepest regret the intelligence of the death at Rawalpindi in the Punjab, on the morning of the 15th instant, of the Right Reverend Robert Milman, D.D. Lord Bishop of Calcutta.

The Governor General in Council desires to place on record the sense which he entertains of the late Bishop Milman's indefatigable energy in the discharge of the high functions of his office;—of his charity and munificence;—of his zeal in promoting all good works—especially the education of the poorer classes of Europeans in India—and of his broad and benevolent sympathy with all classes of the community. The Bishop has devoted his health and strength to the conscientious fulfilment of his arduous duties in ministering to the spiritual and temporal welfare of his diocese; and he has now died in the midst of his labours, doubtless in consequence of them.

The Governor General in Council is sure that Bishop Milman's untimely death will be felt as a personal loss, and that his memory will be affectionately cherished by Her Majesty's subjects in India.

The Flag of Fort William will be hoisted half-mast high to-day, which is the day of the funeral.

No. 131.—In consequence of the demise of the Right Reverend Robert Milman, D.D., the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the following extract from the Letters Patent of the 24th January 1867 be published for general information:—

"And we further will that during a vacancy of the said See of Calcutta by the demise of the Bishop thereof for the time being or otherwise, the Episcopal Jurisdiction and functions appertaining to the said See shall be exercised by such one of the Suffragan Bishops of Madras and Bombay for the time being as shall have been first consecrated."

The said Episcopal Jurisdiction and functions will accordingly be exercised by the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Madras.

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, is republished for general information:—

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Military Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 299.—The 17*th March* 1876.—The services of Surgeons R. D. Murray and D. W. D. Comins of the Medical Department, are placed temporarily at the disposal of the Government of Bengal.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to make better provision for the partition of estates paying revenue to Government in the Lower Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the members of the Select Committee to whom the Bill "to make better provision for the partition of estates paying revenue to Government in the Lower Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal" was referred for consideration, have the honor to report as follows :—

From Commissioner of Dacca, dated 9th June 1875, and enclosure.
From Commissioner of Patna, dated 14th July 1875, and enclosures.
From Commissioner of the Orissa Division, dated 16th July 1875, and enclosures.
From Commissioner of Patna, dated 16th August 1875.
Demi-official letter from H. Mosley, Esq., Joint-Magistrate, Arrah, dated 29th December 1875.
Notes by J. Beams, Esq., Collector of Cuttack.
Notes by T. E. Ravenshaw, Esq., Commissioner of Orissa.
Memorandum by Baboo Joykisto Mookerjee.
From Collector of Gyah, dated 10th January 1876.
From Collector of Shahabad, dated 17th January 1876.

After having the benefit of considering the opinions and suggestions of the officers noted in the margin, we have made material changes in the form and the provisions of the Bill, and have introduced some important additions.

We have divided the Bill into ten Parts.

PART I.

In the first Part we have added numerous definitions; and have made alterations in the definitions of "Deputy Collector," "Estate," and "the Collector."

We have provided that partitions of estates in progress when the Bill comes into force may be completed either under the procedure of the old law, or of this Bill, as the Collector may think best, and that certain provisions of the Bill as to striking cases off the file after estates have been admitted to partition may be applied to such pending cases. We have reproduced in other words the provision of the existing law, that the land revenue shall be assessed on each separate estate into which the parent estate is broken up, in proportion to the assets of such estate.

We have laid down a rule for calculating the rental of land to form the basis of partition proceedings.

PART II.

In view of the provisions of the Bill for the compulsory registration of estates and of the interests of proprietors therein which is now before this Council, we have provided that only recorded proprietors of joint undivided estates, who are in actual possession of the proprietary interests in respect of which they are recorded on the Collectors' registers, shall be entitled to claim partition of estates, and separation of the interests which they hold therein.

We have specified the different kinds of interests which proprietors ordinarily hold in estates, and have defined the rights of the holders of each kind in respect of the assignment to them of lands as their separate estates.

We have debarred the holders of life interests only in estates from applying for partition of such estates.

We have provided that no partition shall be made which would result in the formation of a separate estate liable for an annual amount of revenue less than twenty rupees, and of which the assets would be less than two hundred rupees, unless the proprietor of such estate agrees to redeem the revenue for which such estate would be liable, by a capitalized payment at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may determine with reference to the circumstances of each case.

We have provided that when an estate has been divided by private arrangement of the proprietors, and the lands are held in severalty by the proprietors in accordance with such arrangement, no partition of such estate shall be made under the provisions of the Bill otherwise than on the joint application of all the proprietors.

We have provided that no partition shall be made of which the effect would be to break up a compact estate into one or more estates consisting of lands so scattered as to endanger the public revenue.

We have provided that nothing in this Bill shall relieve the entire parent estate from its joint liability for the whole amount of land revenue assessed upon it until the partition proceedings are completed, and the applicant for partition has been finally put in possession of the separate estate representing his interest; from which time each separate estate formed by the partition will become separately liable for the amount of land revenue assessed upon it. Up to such time we have left it to joint proprietors to protect their several interests by causing separate accounts to be opened for their respective shares under Act XI of 1859.

PART III.

We have laid down in detail the procedure for dealing with applications for partition; and have required applicants to file copies of their rent rolls and statements of their collections with their applications when possible.

We have provided that when objection is made to the extent of interest claimed by an applicant or a question of right and title is raised, as between the applicant and other persons claiming to be proprietors, it shall be in the discretion of the Collector either to refuse to make the partition, or, if satisfied that the applicant is in possession in accordance with his claim, to direct that the partition shall proceed in accordance with the applicant's claim, or to direct that the proceedings be postponed for four months in order to give the objector an opportunity of instituting a suit to try the question in dispute.

We have provided that if the objector fails to avail himself of such opportunity, or if he fails to bring a suit within four months of the date on which the Collector has ordered the partition to proceed notwithstanding his objection, or within four months of the date on which the Collector has admitted an estate to partition, no objection having been made to such admission, he shall by such laches forfeit his right to recover any interest in common tenancy of the parent estate.

No suit brought after the expiration of the four months shall be allowed to stay or to interfere with the partition proceedings; and every decree passed in such suit will be subject to such proceedings, so that any right which the plaintiff may recover will give him a status in that separate estate only which is in process of being formed for, or, which has been assigned to the individual proprietor from whom the plaintiff is declared by the decree to be entitled to recover.

We have provided that the Collector may employ a Deputy Collector to make the enquiries connected with an application, but that all important orders shall be passed by the Collector himself.

We have provided that as soon as the Collector has ordered a partition to be made, he may appoint a Deputy Collector to carry out the partition.

We have provided that after an estate has been admitted to partition, the case may be struck off the file at the joint request of the parties thereto, or, by order of the Commissioner for good and sufficient reason.

PART IV.

We have empowered the officer making the partition to appoint the necessary ameens and establishments for carrying it out, and to fix their remuneration under sanction of the Commissioner; and have authorized the appointment of special establishments in the office of the Collector and of the Commissioner when the partition cases to be supervised are so numerous or extensive as to require such agency.

We have defined what items shall be deemed costs leviable from the parties to a partition.

We have provided that in districts in which partitions are numerous, instead of leaving the expenses of each partition to be dealt with separately, the Lieutenant-Governor may order the formation of a general fund for the partition of estates to which all sums levied on account of making partitions shall be credited, and all costs of establishments entertained for that purpose and other expenses charged; and for districts in which the partition work is so heavy as to require this organization, we have provided that the salary of the Deputy Collector whose time is employed in making the partitions shall form a portion of the expenses leviable from the parties.

We have provided that where a general fund is formed, the expenses may be levied from the parties in the shape of fees on a scale to be fixed by the Board so as to keep the receipts and charges of the fund as far as possible in equilibrium, and that the accounts of the fund of each district shall be published annually for general information.

We have given power to the Commissioners to order that any proprietor who wilfully delays the progress of a partition and thereby increases the cost of it, shall be required to pay more than his proportionate share of the expenses.

PART V.

We have provided that rent-rolls and measurement papers filed shall be verified by a person who has a personal knowledge of the facts.

We have laid down the procedure as to the summoning of parties and witnesses and the enforcement of the production of papers, and have provided that the cost of any special enquiry which is rendered necessary by the delay of any party to make an objection at the proper time shall be borne entirely by such party.

PART VI.

We have provided for partitions being effected by the parties themselves and by arbitrators, such partitions being subject to the approval of the revenue officers for the protection of the public revenue.

PART VII.

We have provided that the general arrangement of the partition shall be devised, and the situation of the several separate estates indicated, by the Deputy Collector himself, in consultation with the parties; thus depriving the ameens of the power of suggesting and initiating such general arrangements, which they now enjoy and notoriously abuse.

In order to avoid the unnecessary delay and waste of labor which is caused by the Collector at a later stage of the proceedings disapproving of the general arrangement made by the Deputy Collector, we have provided that the approval of the Collector to the general arrangement proposed by the Deputy Collector shall be obtained before its details are carried out.

We have allowed the officer conducting the partition to award the payment of compensation to persons whose attendance at the office on days fixed for hearing has been rendered fruitless by the fault of others.

We have laid down the procedure for completing the details of a partition, and for the consideration and approval or amendment or rejection by the Collector of a partition as made by the Deputy Collector.

PART VIII.

In re-enacting the existing rules for the guidance of officers making partitions, and in adding new rules to clear up certain points which have hitherto been doubtful, we have distinguished between rules applicable to estates of which the lands are held in common tenancy, to estates of which the lands are held in severalty, and to estates of both classes.

We have made compactness of the estate a consideration secondary to the main object of making an equitable partition.

We have provided that whenever the dwelling-house of one proprietor is situated on land which is unavoidably assigned to the separate estate of another proprietor, the former shall be allowed to hold the land on which it is situated on payment of a rent to be fixed in perpetuity by the officer making the partition; and that this annual rent may be redeemed by payment of a capitalized sum.

We believe that this provision will be appreciated as a boon by those concerned.

We have empowered the officer making the partition to make a similar arrangement allowing a proprietor to hold, on a fixed rent, as tenant of another proprietor, orchards and other lands which have acquired a special value to him, or through the improvement made by him, but we have not provided that the rent fixed on such lands may be redeemed.

We have provided that when lands of an estate are held in severalty by the proprietors in accordance with a private arrangement made by them, such estate shall not be brought under partition otherwise than on a joint application from all the proprietors thereof.

We have allowed the Collector to give effect under this law not only to the private division of lands as made among themselves by the proprietors, but also to any private arrangement which they may have made as to the proportions of the whole land revenue for which each proprietor's share shall be liable; provided always that such private arrangement can be accepted with reasonable security to the public revenue, and not otherwise.

We have laid down rules as to the mode of allotting lands held without payment of rent, and lands held on permanent intermediate tenures, the rent of which cannot be altered by the proprietors or their representatives.

We have prescribed a procedure for dealing with lands held in common between the proprietors of the estate under partition and the proprietors of other estates.

We have laid down how the Collector is to act in case of a boundary dispute between the estate under partition and another estate.

We have provided that in cases in which a dispute has been raised before the Collector as to whether any lands belong to the estate under partition or to any other estate, and the Collector has included the disputed land on the partition, the fact of such disputed land being subsequently declared by a Civil Court not to have belonged to the estate which was under partition shall not disturb the partition, but that the proprietor who is dispossessed of such land after it has been assigned to his separate estate by the Collector, shall be entitled to recover compensation on account of the reduction in the proportionate value of the separate estate assigned to him; such compensation being recoverable from the proprietors of the separate estates on which a proportionate share of the loss caused by the decree of the Civil Court in respect of the said lands does not fall.

We have provided that the officer making the partition may, in his discretion, allot equal separate estates according to lot, or may, with the sanction of the Collector, dispense with lots; and we have provided that two or more shares may be aggregated so as to form equal shares for the purpose of casting lots.

PART IX.

We have prescribed a procedure for the Commissioner in dealing with partition cases; and have authorized the Collector to cause boundary marks defining the separate estates formed by the partition to be erected at the cost of the proprietors; and have provided that such marks shall be maintained as provided in the Bengal Survey Act, 1875.

PART X.

We have provided that a tenure created by one or more proprietors of a joint undivided parent estate, but not by all the proprietors of such estate jointly, shall, after partition of the estate, hold good in respect of, and be confined to, the separate estate which has been assigned to the proprietors who created such tenure.

We have generally retained the provisions of the existing law empowering the Lieutenant-Governor to readjust the apportionment of land revenue on separate estates where fraud is discovered within twelve years of a partition.

We have specified the mode of publication of general notifications, and of service of notices on individuals.

We have empowered the Collector to enforce compliance with his requisitions by imposition of a daily fine.

We have provided that the cost of any local enquiry may be dealt with apart from the general expenses of a partition, and levied from any party on whom the officer making the partition thinks proper to impose the payment of such cost.

We have provided that all sums payable under this Bill shall be leviable as demands under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

We have specified the orders of a Deputy Collector, of a Collector, and of a Commissioner respectively, against which an appeal will lie as of right to the superior revenue authority, but we have provided that all proceedings and orders of every subordinate authority will be subject to supervision, control, and revision by the superior authorities.

We have authorized the Commissioner and the Board to pass such orders as they think proper as to the payment of costs of appeals made to them respectively.

We have provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may vest any Collector or Deputy Collector employed on a partition with any powers with which such officer might be vested if the parent estate were under settlement.

We have provided that under the orders of a Civil Court or of the Board, partition of a revenue-free tenure may be made under the provisions of the Bill.

We have provided that a revenue officer may exercise the same powers as a civil court in respect of false evidence given on forgery brought to light in the course of partition proceedings.

We have defined the orders of revenue officers which shall be final, and not liable to be contested in any civil court, or otherwise than as provided in this Bill.

We have reserved a general power of control to the Lieutenant-Governor, and have provided that the Board shall make rules for the guidance of officers;

And we have made other verbal and minor changes in the Bill, as referred to us.

N.B.—In signing this report I think it proper to mention, with reference to Part II of this Bill, that I am opposed to those provisions of the Bill for the compulsory registration of estates which require the registration of the extent of interest possessed by proprietors, and that it is my intention to move an amendment regarding those provisions when that Bill comes before the Council.

and if any land is not let, but is held and occupied directly by the proprietors or any of them, the annual rent for which such land might reasonably be expected to let shall be deemed to be the rental of such land.

Exception 1.—If the rent payable by the cultivating ryots on account of any land shall have been determined by any Court of competent jurisdiction, or shall have been altered with the consent of the said ryots at any time during the said three years, the amount so determined, or the amount to which the rent may have been so altered, shall be deemed to be the rental of the land.

Exception 3.—If any land is held on a tenure which, although not protected as aforesaid, is admitted by all the recorded proprietors of the estate to be a permanent tenure created by all the proprietors of the estate, and of such nature that the rent thereof is not liable to be raised under any circumstances by the proprietors of the said estate, or any person deriving his title from such proprietors, the rent payable by the holder of such tenure (whether he be known as talukdar, patnidar, mokarraridar, or by any other designation) shall be deemed to be the rental of such land.

Exception 4.—If any land be unoccupied, such amount as the Collector may determine, with reference to all the circumstances of the case, shall be deemed to be the rental of such land.

PART II.

OF THE RIGHT TO CLAIM PARTITION.

Who entitled to claim partition.

8. Except as hereinafter otherwise provided, every recorded proprietor of a joint undivided estate, who is in actual possession of the interest in respect of which he is so recorded, is entitled to claim a partition of the said estate, and the separation therefrom and assignment to him as a separate estate of lands representing the interest of which he is in such possession, provided that, and as far only as, such partition, separation, and assignment can be made in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Any two or more such recorded proprietors may claim that lands representing the interests of all such claimants may be formed into one separate estate to be held by them as a joint undivided estate; and every provision of this Act which applies to an applicant for partition shall apply to any two or more persons making such joint claim.

Partition according to interest.

9. (a) If the interest of any recorded proprietor who is entitled to claim partition as aforesaid is an undivided share in an estate held in common tenancy, such person shall be entitled to have assigned to him lands of which the assets shall bear the same proportion to the assets of the parent estate as his undivided share in the parent estate bears to the entire parent estate.

(b) If the interest of such recorded proprietor is the proprietary right of certain specific mouzahs or lands forming part of the parent estate, and held by him in severalty, he shall be entitled to have assigned to him the said mouzahs or lands.

(c) If the interest of such recorded proprietor consists of an undivided share held in common tenancy in certain specific mouzahs or tracts forming part of the parent estate, (but not extending over the whole area of the parent estate,) he shall be entitled to have assigned to him lands situated within such specific mouzahs or tracts, of which the assets shall bear the same proportion to the assets of such specific mouzahs or tracts as the share which he holds in such specific mouzahs or tracts bears to the entire mouzahs or tracts.

Provided that if the interest of such recorded proprietor consists of such undivided share in more than one mouzah or tract, he shall not be entitled to have lands assigned to him in every such mouzah or tract; but the Collector may assign to him lands situated in any one or more of the said mouzahs or tracts, provided that the assets of such lands are in proportion to the aggregate of the interests which he holds in all such mouzahs or tracts.

him as far as possible in accordance with the principles above laid down.

Life estate.

10. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, no person having a proprietary interest in an estate for the term of his life only shall be deemed to be a person entitled to claim partition under this Act.

No partition allowed which results in forming separate estate liable for less than twenty rupees annual land revenue.

11. No application for the partition of an estate shall be admitted, and no partition of an estate shall be made if the result of such partition would be to form any separate estate liable for an annual amount of land revenue less than twenty rupees, and of which the assets would be less than two hundred rupees, until the proprietor of such separate estate agrees to redeem the amount of revenue for which his estate would be liable, by payment of such sum as the Lieutenant-Governor may fix with reference to the circumstances of such estate.

Partition of an estate in which private division has been made not to be made except on joint petition of proprietors or on order of Civil Court.

12. Whenever a division of the lands of any estate has been made by private arrangement of the proprietors thereof, and in accordance with such arrangement each proprietor is in possession of separate lands held in severalty as representing his interest in the estate, no such estate shall be brought under partition and no partition of such estate shall be made under this Act otherwise than on a joint petition presented by all the proprietors thereof, unless such partition shall have been ordered to be made by a Civil Court.

Under certain circumstances Collector may refuse to declare lands held in severalty to be a separate estate.

13. The Collector may refuse to admit an application for the formation of lands held in severalty into a separate estate, if in consequence of such lands being intermingled with those held by other proprietors the result of the partition would be to form out of a compact estate one or more estates consisting of scattered parcels of land, in such a way as, in the opinion of the Collector, to endanger the safety of the public revenue, and the Collector may at any time refuse to proceed with a partition which would have such a result.

But a partition may be allowed in such a case if the recorded proprietors shall agree to such a distribution of land as shall make the estates formed by the partition reasonably compact, or if the person who would on the completion of the partition be proprietor of such scattered separate estate agrees to redeem, in the manner provided in section 11, the amount of revenue for which his separate estate may be made liable.

Nothing in this section shall be understood to prohibit the partition into separate estates of a parent estate which before such partition is not compact and consists only of scattered parcels of land.

Interest alienated with special condition as to revenue liability.

14. No proprietor who has alienated any portion of his interest in an estate or in any specific lands of an estate, by private contract, with the condition that the transferee shall be liable in respect of the interest acquired by him to pay a specified amount or a specified share of the land revenue for which the estate is liable (such amount or share being other than the proportionate amount or the proportionate share for which such transferred interest if formed into a separate estate would be liable under the provisions of section 6); and no proprietor who has derived his title from any proprietor who has made any alienation as aforesaid, shall be entitled to claim a separation under this Act of the interest which he continues to hold in the estate; and no such transferee as aforesaid, and no person deriving his title from such transferee, shall be entitled to claim a separation of the interest which has been so acquired:

Provided that a separation of such interests may be made, if the parties concerned agree to waive the conditions of the contract as regards the proportion of revenue for which the transferor and transferee or their representatives respectively are liable, and to hold the estates which may be allotted to them respectively by the partition, subject to the payment of such amount of land revenue as may be assessed upon them respectively by the revenue authorities under his Act.

Arrears of revenue may be realized by sale of parent estate.

15. Notwithstanding that a parent estate may have been declared to be under partition as provided in section 31, any arrears of revenue accruing due on such estate before the date specified in the notice issued under section 119 may be realized by sale of the parent estate as if such estate had not been declared to be under partition; and if such sale takes place the partition proceedings shall cease from the date thereof.

Shares may be protected from liability for arrears under laws in force.

16. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall be deemed to affect the provisions of sections 10, 11, 12, 13, or 14 of Act XI of 1859 (an Act to improve the law relating to sale of lands for arrears of revenue), or any provisions of any similar law for the time being in force in respect to the opening of separate accounts for different shares in an estate, and the protection afforded to such shares thereby:

Provided that if any share in any estate is sold for its own arrears of revenue while such estate is under partition in accordance with the provisions of this Act, such share shall be sold subject to the partition proceedings, which shall proceed as if no such sale had taken place; and the purchaser of the share sold may, from the date of such sale, exercise all the rights which the proprietor whose share he has purchased might have exercised, and shall be subject to all the liabilities to which such proprietor would have been subject, in respect of the partition proceedings.

PART III.

Application for partition to be made to Collector of the district.

17. All applications for partition shall be made to the Collector of the district on the revenue-roll of which the estate is borne, and shall be made in person or by duly authorized agent, on paper bearing

The said rent-roll, statement, and measurement papers shall be attested by the patwari or patwaris of the villages, if any, and every such application, rent-roll, and statement shall be presented, subscribed, and verified as provided in section 43.

If the applicant is unable to produce a rent-roll or statement as above required, he shall state the reason of such inability, and the name and address of the person who has in his possession the information necessary for the preparation of such rent-roll and statement, and the Collector may, if he shall think fit, require such person to produce such rent-roll and statement.

20. If the application does not fulfil the requirements of the three last preceding sections, the Collector may reject such application or may order it to be amended.

Collector may reject application.

21. If, in the opinion of the Collector, the application fulfils the said requirements and there appears to be no objection to making the partition applied for, the Collector shall publish a notification of the application in the manner prescribed in section 130, and shall also cause copies thereof to be posted up at the Court of the Judge of the district, at the court of every Munsif and Sub-divisional Officer within whose jurisdiction, and at every Police Station within the jurisdiction of which any lands appertaining to the estate are known to be situated, and shall invite any person claiming any proprietary right in the estate, who may object to the partition, to state his objection either in person or by duly authorized agent, on a day to be specified in the notification, not being less than thirty or more than sixty days from the date of the publication of the notification on the estate.

23. If any objection be made to the partition by any person claiming a proprietary right as aforesaid on or before the day specified in the notification published under section 21, or at any subsequent time if it shall seem fit to the Collector to admit such objection, and the Collector, on consideration of such objection, shall be of opinion that there is good and sufficient reason for rejecting the application, he may reject the same, and in that case shall record the grounds of such rejection.

In case of valid objection being made within time allowed, application may be refused.

24. If the objection raise any question of the extent of interest, or right, or title as between any applicant and any other person claiming to be a proprietor of the parent estate, and if it shall appear to the Collector that such question has not been already determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction, the Collector may hold such inquiry as he may deem necessary into the objection, and, if he be satisfied that the applicant is in possession of the extent of the interest for the separation of which he has applied may, instead of rejecting the application as provided in the last preceding section,

Procedure when objection raises any question of title or right.

(a) direct that the partition proceedings shall proceed for the purpose of forming and assigning to the applicant a separate estate proportionate to the extent of interest claimed by him in the parent estate; or

(b) direct that such proceedings be postponed for four months.

25. At the expiration of the said four months, the Collector shall resume the proceedings, unless the person who has made the objection, or some other person, shall have obtained an order from a Civil Court directing that such proceedings be stayed, or shall be able to show that a suit has been instituted before such Court to try some question, of such nature that the Collector shall think fit to stay such proceedings until the question shall have been finally decided, or until the proceedings in such Court in respect thereof shall have terminated.

When Collector to resume proceedings.

26. No suit instituted in a Civil Court by any person claiming any right or title in the parent estate, after the lapse of four months from the issue of an order of the Collector under clauses (a) and (b) of section 24, or after the lapse of four months from the issue of an order of the Collector under section 31, shall avail to stay or affect the progress of any proceedings which shall have been taken under this Act for the partition of an estate; and all rights which may be conferred on any person by the final decree in such suit shall be subject to such proceedings as hereinafter provided.

Suit in Civil Court when not to affect proceedings taken under this Act.

27. Every decree passed in such suit after the parent estate shall have been declared to be under partition as provided in section 31, but before the date specified in the notice under section 119, shall be made in recognition of the proceedings then in progress under this Act for the partition of such parent estate, and shall be framed in such manner that the provisions of such decree may be applied to, and may be carried out in reference to the separate estates which the Collector in his proceeding under section 31 shall have ordered to be formed out of the parent estate; and if the effect of any such decree be to declare any person or body of persons, entitled to any extent of interest in such parent estate in excess of the extent of interest which the Collector in the said proceeding has declared to be held by such person or body of persons, such decree shall specify, separately in respect of every proprietor or body of proprietors, of whose interests the Collector has separately specified the extent in the said proceeding, the proportion of such excess which such person or body of persons is entitled to recover from each such proprietor or body of proprietors; and every person or body of persons so declared entitled to recover any extent of interest from any such proprietor or body of proprietors shall for the purposes of the partition proceedings be deemed to have the same rights, and to be subject to the same liabilities, as a person who has acquired such extent of interest from such proprietor or body of proprietors by private purchase, after the estate was brought under partition under section 31, and on the date on which the decree was passed; and such person or body of persons may apply, as in this Act provided, for the separation and assignment to him, or them, of the lands representing the extent of interest so acquired; and such application shall be dealt with under the provisions of section 32.

Decree made while partition proceedings are in progress.

28. Every decree passed in such suit after the date specified in the notice under section 119, shall be made in recognition of the partition proceedings, and shall be framed in such manner as to give effect to such division of the parent estates into separate estates as shall have been made by the Collector, and not to disturb such division; and if the effect of any such decree shall be to declare any person or body of persons to have been entitled to any extent of interest in the parent estate in excess of the extent of interest which is represented by the separate estate assigned to such person or body of persons by the Collector in the partition proceedings, such decree shall specify, separately in respect of the proprietor or joint proprietors of every separate estate formed by the partition, the proportion of such excess of interest which such person or body of persons is entitled to recover from such proprietor or joint proprietors; and every person or body of persons so declared entitled to recover any extent of interest from the proprietor or joint proprietors of a separate estate shall be entitled to recover such extent of interest out of the separate estate which has been assigned to such proprietor or joint proprietors, and out of such separate estate only;

and every such decree as aforesaid shall be executed by placing the person or persons so declared entitled to recover, in the position of a recorded joint proprietor or recorded joint proprietors of such separate estate, holding the same as a joint undivided estate in common tenancy with the proprietor or joint proprietors to whom such separate estate was assigned by the Collector in the partition proceedings, the extent of the interest of the joint proprietors respectively in such estate being such as is declared in the aforesaid decree.

29. Subject to the provisions of section 11, a Civil Court may at any time direct the Collector to assign to any person lands representing a specified fractional interest in any estate or in any specified village or tract of land in an estate, to be held by such person as a separate estate; or to divide off from any estate any specified villages or lands, and to assign them to any person to be held as a separate estate; provided that an application for such partition and separation shall be presented by such person, as required by sections 17, 18, and 19; but no Civil Court shall in any case specify the amount of revenue for which any separate estate which it may direct to be formed under the provisions of this section shall be liable.

Collector to assess land revenue in accordance with this Act.

31 If no objection be made within the time allowed under section 21 to an application for partition, or when all objections preferred have been disposed of, and if the Collector has no reason to believe that any obstacle exists to his making the partition as applied for, he shall direct that the application be admitted, and record a proceeding declaring the estate to be under partition, for the purpose of forming and assigning to the applicant a separate estate.

Collector may declare the estate to be under partition.

In such proceeding the Collector shall declare the extent of interest in the parent estate which he finds to be held by the applicant, or joint applicants; and, if more than one separate application for separation shall have been made and admitted, the extent of interest which he finds to be held by every separate applicant, or body of joint applicants, respectively; and also the extent of interest which remains to any recorded proprietor, or to any number of recorded proprietors who are not applicants; and shall order that lands proportionate to the interest so declared to be held by each applicant, or body of joint applicants, respectively, shall be formed into a separate estate, to be assigned to such applicant, or body of joint applicants; and that lands proportionate to the interest so declared to remain to the recorded proprietor, or the number of recorded proprietors who are not applicants, shall be left forming a separate estate, to be held by such proprietor, or number of proprietors.

32. Subsequent application for separation of another share.

In the latter case all or any of the rent-rolls, measurements, and other papers which were used in the separation of the original applicant's share, may be used, as far as they are applicable, in the partition for which subsequent application has been made.

85. Circumstances to be considered in making partitions.

86. In selecting the villages or lands to be assigned to each separate estate formed out of a parent estate which has been held in common tenancy, the Collector shall take into consideration the advantages or disadvantages arising from situation;

the nature and quality of the soil and produce;

the facilities for irrigation;

the state of the embankments and water-courses;

87. If a dwelling-house belonging to one proprietor is situated on any land which it may be necessary to include in the separate estate of another proprietor, the owner of such house may retain occupation thereof with the offices, buildings, and grounds immediately attached thereto, upon agreeing to pay rent for the land occupied by such dwelling-house, offices, buildings, and grounds to the proprietor of the separate estate in which such land is included.

The limits of the land so occupied and the rent to be paid for it in perpetuity shall be fixed by the Deputy Collector, and shall be stated in the paper of partition.

In every such case a defined pathway shall, as far as possible, be secured to the owner of the house, leading from his house to some portion of the separate estate allotted to him.

Rule contained in last preceding section may be applied to gardens, orchards, &c.

89. In calculating the rental for the purposes of the partition, the rent fixed in perpetuity on any land by the Deputy Collector under either of the two last preceding sections shall be considered to be the rental of such land.

The Deputy Collector shall certify the amount payable by such proprietor in redemption of such annual rent; and such amount shall be calculated and fixed by the Deputy Collector at ten per centum above the sum which would be required to purchase, at the market prices then prevailing, so much stock of the Government loan which was last issued as would yield an annual amount of interest equal to the annual land rent fixed by the Deputy Collector under section 87.

Deputy Collector to certify amount payable in redemption of rent.

92. The proprietor desiring to redeem the rent as aforesaid, may pay to the Deputy Collector the amount so certified at any time before possession is given to the several proprietors of the separate estates allotted to each, as provided in section 118, but not after such possession has been given.

But not after possession of separate estates has been given.

93. On receipt of such payment, the Deputy Collector shall give notice to the proprietor in whose separate estate such land is situated that such payment has been made, and that the sum paid will be paid to him or to his authorized agent on application; and that from the date on which possession as aforesaid may be given, the proprietor who has redeemed the rent of such land will be entitled to hold such land as a rent-free tenure secured against the proprietor of the estate and against any auction purchaser at a sale for arrears of revenue, including the Government; and from such date the lands shall be so held as a rent-free tenure.

Notice of payment to be given; and land to be held rent-free.

94. The Deputy Collector shall at the same time also give notice to the Collector of the district of the creation of such tenure; and the Collector of the district shall thereupon cause such tenure to be specially registered in the manner provided by section 42 of Act XI of 1859, or by any similar law for the time being in force.

Collector to register rent-free tenure.

Rules applicable to the formation into separate estates of lands which are held by proprietors in severalty.

95. Whenever in any parent estate a division of the lands thereof has been made by private arrangement of the proprietors of such estate, and in accordance with such arrangement each proprietor is in possession of separate lands held in severalty as representing his interest in such parent estate, the joint application presented to the Collector by all the recorded proprietors of such estate as required by section 12 may be to the effect that a partition of such estate be made by assigning to each proprietor or to two or more proprietors jointly as his or their separate estate, the lands of which he or they are in separate possession in accordance with such arrangement, and also that each separate estate so formed be made liable for such portion of the entire land revenue of the parent estate, as was paid by the proprietor or proprietors thereof under the private arrangement aforesaid.

Joint petition may be presented for partition according to private division.

96. The Deputy Collector who is appointed to carry out the partition in accordance with such application, shall satisfy himself that the assets of each separate estate which it is proposed to form are sufficient to secure the payment of the annual amount of land revenue for which it is proposed to make such separate estate liable, and if the Deputy Collector be satisfied that in this respect, and with reference to all the circumstances of the case, the partition of the lands and the assessment of the revenue thereon may be made in the manner proposed without endangering the safety of the revenue, the Deputy Collector shall submit the case with his opinion thereon, and the reasons on which such opinion is founded, to the Collector, who may admit or reject the said application.

Partition according to private division to be referred to Collector.

97. If the Collector admits the said application, such admission shall be deemed to be the Collector's approval of the general arrangement of the partition as provided in section 74, and the Deputy Collector shall proceed to complete the partition accordingly.

Effect of Collector's approval.

98. If the Deputy Collector, who is appointed to carry out the partition in accordance with a joint application as mentioned in section 95, is not satisfied that the partition of the lands and the assessment of the revenue payable thereon can be made in the manner proposed without endangering the safety of the public revenue, or if the Collector rejects the application for such partition, the Deputy Collector shall refuse to make same.

Such partition may be refused.

99. Whenever the proprietors of an estate are, in accordance with a private arrangement as aforesaid, respectively in possession of separate lands held in severalty as representing their respective interests in the estate, the joint application presented to the Collector by all the recorded proprietors of the estate as required by section 12, may be to the effect that a partition of such estate be made by assigning to each proprietor, or to two or more proprietors jointly, as his or their separate estate, the lands of which he or they is or are in possession in accordance with such arrangement, and that the land revenue for which the parent estate is liable may be apportioned among the separate estates so formed, in accordance with the provisions of section 6.

Joint petition may be presented for partition of land in accordance with private division with proportional redistribution of public revenue.

A joint application under this section may be made notwithstanding that a joint application under section 95 has been refused in respect of the same estate.

100. Whenever the Deputy Collector who is appointed to carry out the partition, shall find that in accordance with a private arrangement made by the proprietors of an estate, the proprietors respectively, or any of the proprietors, are in possession of separate lands held in severalty as representing portions only of their respective interests in the parent estate, while other lands of the parent estate are held in common tenancy between such proprietors, the Deputy Collector shall allot to the separate estate of each proprietor the lands of which such proprietor is found to be in possession in severalty, in accordance with such private arrangement.

Lands of which each proprietor is in possession to be allotted to him.

101. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding section, the Collector may cause any transfer of lands agreed to by the parties to be made from the possession of one proprietor to that of another.

Collector may cause transfer of lands agreed to by parties.

Rules applicable both to lands held in common tenancy and to lands held in severalty.

102. Places of worship, burning grounds, and burial grounds which have been held in common previous to the partition of an estate, and lands of which the proceeds have been assigned by the proprietors jointly for religious, charitable, or public purposes, shall continue to be held in common, unless the proprietors shall otherwise agree amongst themselves, in which case they shall state in writing the agreement into which they have entered, and the Deputy Collector shall enter a note of the agreement in the paper of partition.

Rule as to places of worship.

103. Tanks, wells, water-courses, and embankments shall be considered as attached to the land for the benefit of which they were originally made.

Rule as to tanks, wells, water-courses, and embankments.

In cases in which, from the extent, situation, or construction of such works, it shall be found necessary that they should remain the joint property of the proprietors of two or more of the separate estates, the paper of partition shall specify, as far as the circumstances may admit, the extent to which the proprietors of each of such estates may make use of the same, and the proportion of the charges for repairs to be borne by them respectively.

104. Whenever the Deputy Collector shall find in the parent estate lands which are actually held rent-free (whether the proprietors of the estate do or do not claim a right to receive rent from such lands), the Deputy Collector shall make no division or assignment of such lands among the separate estates, but shall specify in the partition papers and proceedings that such lands are left appertaining jointly to all the separate estates which are formed out of the parent estate, in the proportion which each separate estate bears to the parent estate.

Lands held rent-free not to be divided.

105. Whenever the Deputy Collector shall find in the parent estate any lands which are held at a fixed rent on a patni or other permanent intermediate tenure created by all the proprietors of the parent estate or their predecessors, the Deputy Collector may either

Rule as to permanent intermediate tenures.

(1) assign the lands which are held on such tenure and the assets thereof entirely to one or more of the separate estates, the rental being calculated as provided in Exception 2 or in Exception 3 (as the case may be) of section 7; or

(2) leave such lands unassigned to any separate estate, and specify in the partition papers and proceedings that the lands are left appertaining jointly to all the separate estates which are formed out of the parent estate in the proportion which each separate estate bears to the parent estate. In the event of such lands being so left undivided, the Deputy Collector shall assign to each separate estate such share of the rental of the tenure as shall bear the same proportion to the entire rental of the tenure, as the separate estate bears to the parent estate.

In dealing with a tenure under this section, the Deputy Collector shall take into consideration the extent of the lands comprised in the tenure, and all other circumstances of the case.

106. Whenever any lands are held in common between the proprietors of two or more estates, one of which is under partition in accordance with the provisions of this Act, the Deputy Collector shall first allot to the estate under partition a portion of such common lands of which the assets are in proportion to the interest which the proprietors of such estate hold in the said common lands; and all the provisions of this Act in respect of the allotment between the shareholders in one estate, of lands which are held jointly by such shareholders, shall, as far as possible, apply to the allotment of the proportionate share of such common lands to the estate under partition;

Lands held in common between the proprietors of two or more estates how to be dealt with.

and, in respect of the service of notices, hearing of objections, and all other procedure in view to such allotment, the proprietors of the estate under partition, and the proprietors of all other estates who have an interest in the said common lands, shall be deemed to be joint proprietors of a parent estate consisting only of the lands so held in common.

Provided that all expenses of any division of lands so held in common between the proprietors of two or more estates shall be deemed to be expenses of making the partition of the estate which is under partition, and shall be leviable as provided by this Act from the proprietors of such estate, and that the proprietors of any other estate having an interest in such lands shall not be required to bear any portion of such expenses.

Proprietors of other estates may be required to pay a portion of expenses of partition.

107. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding section, if it shall appear to the Commissioner, on the report of the Collector or otherwise, that the proceedings for such division have been unnecessarily delayed, and the cost of such division enhanced by obstacles vexatiously put in the way of the completion of such division by any proprietor of any estate other than that under partition, or by want of due diligence on the part of any such proprietor in carrying out any requisitions made upon him, the Commissioner may direct that such sum as he shall think fit shall be levied from every such proprietor who is responsible for such delay or additional cost, and every sum so levied shall be taken in diminution of the amount payable by the proprietors of the estate under partition as costs of such partition.

Allotment of lands held in common to be sanctioned by Collector.

108 The allotment of the proportionate share of the lands so held in common to the estate under partition shall be submitted for the approval of the Collector, who may confirm, amend, or reject the same, and in the case of rejection, may make or direct to be made another allotment.

The portion of such common lands assigned to estate under partition how to be dealt with.

109. As soon as the allotment of a proportionate share of the said lands to the estate under partition shall have been approved by the Collector, the lands so allotted shall be dealt with in every respect as if they were held in common tenancy by such of the proprietors of the estate under partition as were found to hold interests in the common lands.

Procedure when dispute exists as to whether any lands form part of the parent estate.

110. If a dispute or doubt shall be found to exist as to whether any lands form part of the parent estate, the Deputy Collector shall enquire into the fact of possession, and shall report his conclusions, with the reasons thereof, to the Collector; whereupon the Collector may order that the partition be struck off the file (in which case no application for a partition of the said estate shall be admitted until the applicant can show that the dispute or doubt has been decided by a court of competent jurisdiction, or has been amicably settled); or if the Collector shall find that possession of the disputed lands is with the proprietors of the parent estate, and if it shall appear to him that the claim of the other parties to the right in such lands is untenable, he may order that the partition shall proceed, and that the disputed lands be treated as part of the estate under partition.

Procedure when Collector thinks that lands belong to parent estate.

Provided that no partition shall be made under this section, if such partition would involve the assignment to any separate estate of such a quantity of the disputed land that the removal of such land from such estate would, in the opinion of the Collector, endanger the safety of the land revenue for which any separate estate would liable be after the partition.

Procedure when partition completed and proprietor of an estate dispossessed by order of a competent court.

111. If, after a partition has been completed in accordance with an order passed by the Collector under clause three of section 110, the proprietor of any separate estate shall be dispossessed by a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction of any lands which may have been assigned to his estate by the partition, such proprietor shall not be entitled to claim any modification of the partition (which shall hold good), but shall be entitled to recover from the proprietors of the other separate estates formed by the partition such compensation as may be fair and equitable having regard to the reduction in the proportionate value of his separate estate which is caused by such dispossession.

And such compensation may be recovered in a court of competent jurisdiction from the proprietors of those separate estates on which a proportionate share of the total loss caused by the order of dispossession does not fall.

Lots to be drawn for equal shares.

112. When two or more of the separate estates shall consist of the same proportions of the parent estate, the Deputy Collector may, if he think proper, direct the parties entitled thereto to draw lots in his presence for the equal separate estates which have been formed by assignment of lands, unless the recorded proprietors of the equal shares shall agree among themselves as to the allotment of the equal separate estates and shall present a petition to that effect; or, unless for any other reason the Deputy Collector shall, with the sanction of the Collector, think proper to assign the equal separate estates to the proprietors of the equal shares without causing lots to be drawn.

Drawing of lots when aggregate of two or more shares equals one share.

113. When the aggregate of two or more shares equals one other share or equals the aggregate of two or more other shares, the Deputy Collector, with the sanction of the Collector, may cause such aggregate shares to be treated as one share for the purpose of determining by lots as aforesaid how the several separate estates shall be allotted among the several proprietors; and may cause lots to be drawn as often as he shall think proper, in respect of the allotment of such aggregate shares; and for such purpose may decide which separate estates shall be formed into one aggregate share, and after the lots shall have been drawn in respect of such aggregate shares, may order that lots shall again be drawn for the allotment of any equal separate estates between the proprietors of such estates.

Provided that lots shall in no case be drawn until after all objections which any proprietor may make as to the papers accepted as the basis of the partition, and as to the assets of the lands which it is proposed to allot to the separate estates respectively, shall have been disposed of.

Illustrations.

I.—The partition of a parent estate is being made into the following shares:—

8 annas.
4 annas.
3 annas.
1 anna.

For the purposes of drawing lots, the 4 anna, 3 anna, and 1 anna share may be taken together, and considered to be an aggregate 8 annas share.

The Deputy Collector will divide the parent estate into two halves of equal value; and will then cause lots to be drawn, in order to determine which of the two halves shall be assigned to the proprietor of the integral 8 annas share, and which shall be divided among the proprietors of the 4 annas, 3 annas, and 1 anna shares.

Subsequently, if necessary, the Deputy Collector may again, cause lots, to be drawn by the proprietor of the 4 annas share on the one hand, and the proprietors of the aggregated share made up by taking together the 3 annas share and the 1 anna share.

II.—The partition is being made of a parent estate into the following shares:—

4 annas.
3 annas.
1 anna.

Two tracts in the estate may first be marked off the value of each being equivalent to a 6 annas share, and then, for the purpose of drawing lots, in respect of the assignment of these two tracts the 4 annas share and the 2 annas share may be taken together as an aggregate 6 annas share; and lots may be drawn, between the proprietors of the aggregated share so formed on the one hand, and the proprietor of the integral 6 annas share on the other.

One of the two 6 annas tracts having thus been finally assigned to the proprietor of the integral 6 annas share, the Deputy Collector will proceed to assign the rest of the estate among the remaining sharers, and he may again, for the purpose of causing lots to be drawn, mark off two tracts the value of each of which shall be equivalent to five annas of the parent estate, and may cause lots to be drawn for these two tracts between the proprietors of the four anna share and the 1 anna share taken together as an aggregate 5 annas share on the one hand, and the proprietors of the 3 annas share and the 2 annas share taken together as another 5 annas share on the other.

Finally, their separate estates will be assigned to the proprietor of the 4 annas share, and of the 1 anna share respectively, within the tract which fell to them jointly by lot; and their separate estates will be assigned to the proprietors of the 3 annas share and of the 2 annas share respectively within the tract which fell to them jointly by lot.

If the partition is returned to the Collector for amendment, the Collector shall proceed to make the said amendments or to cause them to be made in the same manner as if he had himself passed such orders on a partition, submitted to him for approval by a Deputy Collector.

Commissioner may return papers for amendment or inquiry.

117. The Commissioner may, before confirming a partition, return the papers for amendment or inquiry as often as he shall think fit, and as often as he shall so return them the procedure prescribed in the last preceding section shall be followed.

Procedure by Collector on receipt of order of Commissioner or of Board of Revenue on appeal.

118 After the expiration of not less than sixty days from the date of the order of the Commissioner confirming a partition, or, if an appeal has been preferred to the Board, or if any proceedings in respect of the partition be pending before the Board, then on receipt of the final order of the Board determining that the partition as sanctioned by the Commissioner shall not be disturbed, the Collector shall cause to be published in his office, and in some conspicuous place in each of the estates separately constituted by such order, a notice that the partition has been finally confirmed as it was sanctioned by the Commissioner, or with any amendments or alterations, as the case may be.

If the partition as finally sanctioned involves any amendments which may conveniently be made on the extracts of the partition papers and on any maps which have been prepared ann delivered or offered by notice to the recorded proprietors as required by section 77 or section 83, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on every recorded proprietor whose estate is affected by such amendments requiring him to produce such extracts and maps in order that such amendments may be noted on them; and if the alterations made in the partition as finally sanctioned be such as to make it desirable to prepare fresh extracts and maps as aforesaid, the Collector shall cause such fresh extracts and maps to be prepared; and shall cause a notice to be served on each proprietor declaring the extract and map which was furnished or offered to him under section 77 or section 83, as the case may be, to be cancelled, and requiring him to take out of the Collector's office such fresh extract and map.

Procedure as to giving possession of separated estates.

119. The Collector shall then proceed to give the several proprietors possession of the separate estates allotted to each, and if necessary, may require the assistance of the Magistrate in giving such possession; and shall cause to be served on every recorded proprietor of a separate estate, a notice that from the date specified in such notice, the separate estate assigned to him (as described in the extract from the partition paper prepared and delivered or offered to him under section 77, section 83, or section 118, as the case may be) will be deemed to be separated from the parent estate, and to be separately liable for the amount of land revenue specified in such notice, and shall call upon him to enter into a separate engagement for the payment of such revenue.

124. If any proprietor of an estate held in common tenancy brought under division under the provisions of this Act shall have given his share or a portion of it in patni or other tenure or lease, such tenure or lease shall hold good, as regards the lands finally allotted to the share of the lessor, and only as to such land.

Illustrations.

I.—A, the proprietor of a quarter share in a joint undivided estate held in common tenancy, gives to B a patni tenure of the whole of his interest in the estate, entitling B, as long as such estate is held in common tenancy, to collect one-fourth of the rent payable by every ryot on the estate;

Application for such union how to be made, and how to be dealt with.

126. Such application shall be made in writing to the Collector, and the Collector shall not less than thirty days after the issue of a notification of such application (provided he see no objection), comply with the same, and cause the necessary entries to be made in the records of his office, and shall report the case to the Commissioner.

In certain cases Lieutenant-Governor may order a new allotment of the land revenue.

128. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant-Governor at any time within twelve years from the date of confirmation of a partition, that through any fraud or error at the time of making the partition the assets of the lands assigned to any separate estate were not in proportion to the amount of land revenue for which such estate was made liable, or that the amount of land revenue assessed on any separate estate was not in proportion to the assets of the lands assigned to such estate, the Lieutenant-Governor may to order a new allotment of the land revenue upon the separate estates in accordance with the principles prescribed in this Act, on an estimate of the assets of each such estate as they stood at the time of the partition, such estimate being made on such evidence and information as may be procurable respecting the same.

129. Whenever the Lieutenant Governor shall pass an order for the re-allotment of the land revenue on any separate estates under the last preceding section, the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the proprietors whose estates are found to have been under-assessed shall, for each year during which they have held possession of the separate estates, be required to pay to the recorded proprietors of the estates which have been over-assessed a sum equal to the annual amount in which the latter shall be found to have been over-assessed, and in default of payment the amount shall be leviable as provided in section 131.

No order passed by the Lieutenant-Governor under this section shall be liable to be contested in any court.

136. Except as herein expressly otherwise provided, all fees, fines, costs, and other sums ordered to be paid by any person under this Act, shall be deemed to be a demand under section 1 of Bengal Act VII of 1868 (an Act to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of land revenue and public demands recoverable as arrears of land revenue), and shall be leviable as such.

WE, the members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the "Bill to provide for enquiry into disputes regarding the rent payable by ryots in certain estates, and to prevent agrarian disturbances, have the honor to report as follows.

From Commissioner of Chittagong, dated 18th May 1875.
From Officiating Commissioner of the Presidency Division, dated 26th May 1875, and enclosures.
From Officiating Commissioner of Dacca, dated 25th May 1875, and enclosures.
From Honorary Secretary British Indian Association, dated 12th June 1875.
From Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division, dated 17th June 1875, and enclosures.
From Honorary Secretary, Peoples' Association, Dacca, dated 10th July 1875, and enclosure.
Memorial of Baboo Jogendra Chundra Ghose, dated 19th July 1875.
From Commissioner, Presidency Division, dated 22nd July 1875, and enclosure.
From Joint Secretary to the Rajshahye Association, dated 7th September 1875.

We have considered the communications noted in the margin.

The following are the principal alterations which we have made in the Bill as referred to us.

We have limited the duration of the Act to three years from its commencement.

We have added a definition of "Commissioner," have omitted the definitions of "estate" and "revenue-free tenure" as unnecessary, and have altered that of "Collector."

We have, in modification of section 3 of the original Bill, substituted any "tract of country" for an "estate" or "revenue-free tenure" as the unit to which the Lieutenant-Governor may apply the Act; and have provided for the publication of the Lieutenant-Governor's order declaring the Act to be in force in any tract of country.

We have empowered the Collector to delegate such of his functions under the Act as he may think proper (except in respect of appeals) to officers who have been vested by the Lieutenant-Governor with the powers of Deputy Collector under the Act

We have provided that when the Act is declared to be in force in any tract of country, the Lieutenant-Governor shall specify any matters of fact to be enquired into by the Collector, and that the Collector shall make a general inquiry into such matters, the result of which, with the conclusions arrived at by the Collector and the Commissioner thereupon, shall be reported to the Board; and that the matters specified by the Lieutenant-Governor shall be determined by an order of the Collector made in accordance with the instructions given by the Board on such reports.

We have omitted the provision authorizing the Collector formally to refer any points connected with the general inquiry to arbitration, and the provision requiring that all suits involving enquiry into the rate of rent payable which may be pending at the date of the Act being declared in force in any tract shall be transferred to the Collector exercising special jurisdiction under the Act.

We have provided that every suit between parties decided by a Collector under this Act shall be decided by a reference to, and in accordance with, any applicable order of the Collector passed under the instructions of the Board, determining a matter of fact which has been made the subject of the general inquiry.

We have provided that the rates of rent fixed by any decree under the Act shall take effect from the beginning of the year in which the suit was instituted, or from such other date as the Collector may direct, and shall not be liable to change for five years, except on the ground that the area of a holding has been changed.

We have provided that the Collector may refer for the decision of the Civil Court, or Revenue Courts under Act X, 1859, suits involving points which may be better determined by such courts, and that before making such a reference, the Collector may come to a decision on any question involved in the suit which may properly be decided by him under the Act; and that the decision of the Collector on such question shall be binding on the Court which makes the final decision in the suit.

We have provided that every order and decree of a Collector under the Act may be enforced as if it were an order or decree under Act X of 1859.

We have provided that even after a tract has been withdrawn from the general operation of the Act, the Collector, Commissioner, and Board shall exercise the special jurisdiction and powers of the Act in respect of pending matters until such matters shall have been finally disposed of.

We have provided that no suit to contest any order of an officer under this Act shall be instituted before any court or tribunal otherwise than as provided in the Act.

We have provided for appeals in general accordance with the system of Act X of 1859, substituting the Commissioner and the Board for the Judge and the High Court respectively; but we have allowed no appeal from the order of a Collector in execution of decree.

We have provided that no appeal shall lie against an order declaring arrears of rent to be due until the amount decreed has been deposited with the Collector.

And we have made other minor alterations in the Bill as referred to us.

DISSENTS.

I AM of opinion that some general principles should have been laid down for the guidance of Collectors in enhancement suits.

RAMSHUNKER SEN.

The 17th March 1876.

I AM of opinion that this Bill, as it is settled by the majority of the Select Committee, will do more harm than good. It is left absolutely to the discretion of the Collector, or rather the Deputy Collector, to settle the principles on which the rent is to be fixed. This means the suspension of law and the promulgation of discretion, to which I cannot too strongly express my objection. If the Council is not prepared to determine the principles on which the rent is to be fixed, the object of the Bill ought to be confined to the recovery of arrears of rent at existing rates, regarding which there seems to be great difficulty in case of combination of ryots to withhold payment. In my humble opinion, if the general law regulating rates of rent were amended on fair and equitable principles, and due facilities given for the realization of rent, the rent disputes, which are justly considered a scandal to good government, would be satisfactorily settled.

98. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the owner of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner of such house or land one-fourth of the Water-rate so paid by deducting the same from the rent payable by him to such owner.

When house or land unoccupied, owner to pay one-fourth of Water-rate.

99. Whenever any house or land has been unoccupied during an entire quarter, the owner of the said house or land shall pay to the Commissioners one-fourth of the sum which would have been payable as Water-rate by the occupier if such house or land had been occupied.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

103. Every owner who, under the provisions of the two last preceding sections, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

104. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body, save and except the road extending from the northern boundary of the premises occupied by the East India Railway Company at Armenian Ghât to the Chitpore canal, and the road extending from the Chitpore road to the river Hooghly at Coomartollah Ghat, for a width not exceeding seventy feet and sixty feet respectively, which shall be exempted from assessment of any rate under this Act.

When substantial injury done, Commissioners may re-assess.

Bills to be presented.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

122. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Commissioners may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fifth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Commissioners.

and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

Commissioners may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

128. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

132. The Commissioners may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Commissioners in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land, being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Commissioners may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, after giving notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF PROSECUTIONS.

Commissioners may direct prosecutions.

346. The Commissioners may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance whatsoever, and may order proceedings to be taken for the punishment of any person offending against any of the provisions of this Act, and for the recovery of any fines imposed under this Act, and may order the expenses of such prosecutions and proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall preclude any person from instituting a prosecution for nuisance, or from giving information and instituting a prosecution under the next succeeding section.

Prosecutions to be before a Justice of the Peace.

347. Every prosecution under this Act, except as provided in section three hundred and forty-nine, may be instituted before any Justice of the Peace; and every fine imposed under this Act may by recovered by a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace upon an information exhibited by order of the Commissioners, and in default of payment of such fine, the same may be levied under the warrant of such Justice of the Peace by distress and sale of the moveable property of the offender, with all such powers for the issuing of such warrant, and upon the return thereof, as are exercised by a Magistrate of Police under the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta.

And if the fine cannot be so levied, the offender may be punished by such Justice of the Peace with rigorous or simple imprisonment, as defined in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term not exceeding two months.

Procedure on prosecution.

348. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning, and enforcement of the attendance, of witnesses, and the production of documents, as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts.

Prosecution under section eighteen to be instituted as under Penal Code.

349. Every prosecution under section forty-one shall be instituted before such Magistrate or Court as would have jurisdiction to entertain a charge of the nature described in section 161 of the Indian Penal Code.

350. The Justice of the Peace by whom any fine is imposed under this Act, may award any portion, not being more than one-half thereof, to the informer, and shall order the remainder, or, if he make no award to the informer, the whole of such fine, to be paid to the Municipal Fund.

Complaint to be made within two months of the offence.

351. No person shall be liable to any fine under this Act for any offence cognizable by a Justice of the Peace unless the complaint respecting such offence shall have been made before a Justice of the Peace, within two months next after the commission of such offence:

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

Person doing damage to the property of the Commissioners to make good the same.

352. If through any act, neglect, or default on account whereof any person shall have been fined under this Act, any damage to the property of the Commissioners shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage as well as to pay such fine; and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Justice of the Peace by whom such person has been fined; and on default of payment of the amount of such damage on demand, the same may be levied in the same manner as a fine.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF DAMAGES AND EXPENSES.

Damages and expenses how to be determined.

353. Where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by the Court of Small Causes.

Provided that when any work is executed by the Commissioners under this Act in default of the owner or occupier of the house or land doing such work, the expenses thereby incurred may be recovered by the Commissioners as a rate under Chapter VI.

Method of proceeding before a Judge of a Court of Small Causes.

354. In any case which is to be determined by the Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and, for that purpose, may examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court which shall determine the amount thereof.

Recovery of damages by distress.

355. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses, ascertained in the manner above described, be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

Commissioners may sue in any competent Court instead of realizing by, or on failure of, distress.

356 Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER XIX.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Limitation of three months to suit against Commissioners or their officers.

357. No suit shall be brought against the Commissioners, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for any thing done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of the Commissioners, or at the place of abode of such person, stating the cause of suit, and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff.

Unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom any such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action, by leave of the court where such action shall be pending, at any time before issue joined, to pay into court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into court.

368. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Pursuant to Act XVII of 1866, the Government has erected a suitable building for the Indian Museum, and the collections of the Asiatic Society have been removed to that building. But the Council of that Society has relinquished the exclusive possession of the portions of the building which, under Act XVII, were to be set apart for their accommodation. It has also been found desirable to increase the number of Trustees fixed by that Act, and to amend the law relating to the appointment and salaries of their officers.

The present Bill, accordingly, repeals Act XVII and re-enacts it with certain changes, of which the following are the chief:—

(a) the number of Trustees is raised from thirteen to sixteen:

(b) no officer will be appointed without the approval of the Governor-General in Council or of the Secretary of State in Council:

(c) no new office will be created and no salary altered without the previous sanction of Government:

(d) so far as regards salaries, pensions and leave, the officers of the Museum will be subject to the rules applicable to the Uncovenanted Civil Service:

(e) the provisions of Act XVII securing to the Asiatic Society possession of certain parts of the Museum building have been omitted.

WHITLEY STOKES,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 14th March 1876:—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill for constituting and regulating the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Financial Department, No. 2795, dated 1st December 1875.
From ditto, No. 54, dated 6th January 1876.
From Secretary and Treasurer, New Bank of Bombay, Limited, No. 189, dated 12th January 1876, and enclosure.
From Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Madras, dated 24th January 1876.
From Secretary to Government of Bengal, No. 366, dated 7th February 1876, and enclosures.
Remarks by J. W. Lowe, Esq., Barrister-at-law.
From Financial Department, No. 918, dated 12th February 1876.
From Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bombay, Limited, No. 929, dated 17th February 1876, and enclosures.
From Government of Madras, No. 314, dated 14th February 1876, and enclosures.

Preamble.

2. Since the Bill was introduced, the directors of the Bank of Madras have bought 62½ of their shares with a view of cancelling them, and thus reducing the capital of that Bank to five millions of rupees. We have made the changes in the preamble and the body of the Bill which this transaction rendered necessary.

Preliminary.

3. We have substituted the 1st May for the 1st March, 1876, as the day on which the proposed Act is to come into force.

Constitution.

4. To preclude doubts which have been felt but which we do not ourselves feel, we have expressly declared that the proprietors of the Banks shall not be liable for the corporate debts, and that the shareholders shall be so liable only to the extent of their shares not fully paid up.

5. We have transcribed from the Indian Companies Act, X of 1866, section 42, a clause which relates to corporate contracts and dispenses with the necessity of a seal in ordinary cases. Similar provisions are contained in several English statutes.

Business.

6. We have authorized the Banks to advance on the security of stock of the United Kingdom. We have also permitted them to undertake, and charge for, the care of valuable articles such as plate, jewels and title-deeds. In the clause limiting unsecured loans to individuals, we have substituted for Rs. 6,00,000 such sum as may from time to time be prescribed by the bye-laws. This will enable the maximum for each Bank to be adapted, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to the varying circumstances of the three Presidencies. We have forbidden the Banks not merely to discount, but to buy, or advance and lend, or open credits on negotiable paper payable where it is presented for the purpose of the proposed transaction, which does not carry on it the several responsibilities of at least two persons or firms unconnected in general partnership, or which has a longer period to run than three months.

7. We have extended the power to acquire business-premises so as to enable the directors to provide residences for their Agents.

8. We have made the restrictive provision as to the Agency of the Bank of Bengal now established at Bombay applicable, mutatis mutandis, to agencies of the Bank of Bombay which may be established at Calcutta and Madras, and to agencies of the Bank of Madras which may be established at Calcutta and Bombay.

9. We have struck out the power to purchase the business of other Banks.

Capital.

10. We think that the shareholders required to be present at a meeting authorising the reduction or the increase of capital need not be more than one-third of the total number.

Transmission of Shares.

11. We have struck out the clause (30) which exempts the Banks from recognizing probates and letters of administration granted by any Court other than a High Court. There is no reason why in this respect bank-shares should be treated as different from other assets. We have also withdrawn the power of the directors to say that of joint proprietors the first named in the register shall not be deemed the sole proprietor.

Directors.

12. We think that a director should not be disqualified by being Manager, &c., of any other Bank, unless where such Bank is a joint-stock Bank. It is undesirable, especially in Madras, to exclude members of mercantile firms which carry on banking business.

13. We have provided that the office of director shall be vacated in case of his resignation, and we have struck out the power to supply a vacancy in case of a director's temporary absence exceeding one month.

14. We have inserted the usual clause indemnifying directors against losses incurred in the discharge of their duties, except such as happen from their wilful act, and relieving them from responsibility for the other directors, &c., of the Bank.

Officers of the Bank.

15. We have empowered the directors not merely to fix the salaries of their officers and clerks, but to grant them pensions and other emoluments.

16. We have provided for the delegation to the Agents, &c., of the power to endorse and transfer securities, &c., held by the Bank.

17. We have altered the prohibition to engage in business other than the business of the Bank so as to allow the Bank's Agents, with the previous sanction of the Board, to act for insurance offices, &c.

Reserve Fund.

18. We have omitted the words expressly authorizing the directors to maintain and repair the Bank buildings out of the reserve fund. Such repairs are now effected, at all events in the case of the Bank of Bengal, out of the income of the Bank, and we think that the practice should continue.

Auditors.

19. We have struck out the clause prohibiting the election as auditor of any person interested otherwise than as a proprietor, shareholder or depositor in any transaction of the Bank. The clause seemed unnecessarily stringent, and might have caused inconvenience in Madras, where, we are informed, comparatively few persons fit to audit can be found.

Meetings.

20. As no Native newspapers are published daily in Madras, we have omitted the word 'daily' in the clause requiring advertisements in vernacular newspapers.

21. We have provided that notices of special meetings for the purpose of increasing or reducing capital shall be served on every shareholder.

22. We have raised from seven to twelve the maximum number of votes to which a shareholder shall be entitled; but we think that when a shareholder's interest exceeds Rs. 50,000, nothing less than shares amounting to Rs. 25,000 should give him an additional vote.

23. We think that general powers-of-attorney should be deemed to be proxies for the purpose of voting at any Bank-meeting.

Notices.

24. We have provided that shareholders changing their names or residences, and the husbands of female shareholders marrying, shall not be entitled to recover dividends or to vote until notice of the change or marriage be given to the Bank.

Bye-laws.

25. We have modified the section relating to bye-laws so as to require the directors at once to make rules as to (a) the maximum amount which may be advanced without security to any individual or firm by way of discount or otherwise, (b) the circumstances under which alone advances may be made to directors or their relatives, partners, &c., and (c) the particulars to be contained in the half-yearly balance-sheet. We have omitted the power to make bye-laws as to the proportion which the reserve fund must bear to the paid-up capital at the time of declaring or paying any dividend. We have also omitted the power to make bye-laws which the Bill as introduced gave the proprietors and shareholders. This, we think, is a power which should be conferred only on the directors.

26. We have made some transpositions and verbal changes, and recommend that the Bill thus altered be passed. But, first, we think that it should be republished in the Gazette of India.

27. The publication ordered by the Council has taken place.

I have signed this Report subject to the following reservations:—

I regret the relegation to a bye-law of the pecuniary limit on advances to one individual or firm, which Sir W. Muir informed the Council had been inserted after careful deliberation, and the more so, in that no power is reserved to the Government to compel the modification of any bye-law which it has once sanctioned, and it will probably even be precluded, by the agreement contemplated in section 36 (o), from withdrawing its own balances for a fixed term of years. The case of the old Bank of Bombay, and Sir Charles Jackson's report on it, have shown the wisdom of specific restrictions in the law in anticipation of exceptional occasions, when the vision of even the best men is in danger of being obscured, and immense pressure alone can force measures of prudence in the teeth of popular opinion.

Considering the controversy which the establishment of the branch of the Bank of Bengal has occasioned, I think it would have been only reasonable to have inserted in section 42 an express permission to the Banks of Bombay and Madras to open branches in the other Presidency towns respectively. The argument that it is unnecessary to limit the discretion of the Governor General in Council in the matter is deprived of force by the insertion, for the benefit of the Bank of Bengal, of the clause limiting that discretion in respect of the business which such branches, if established, may transact.

I object to the proprietors and shareholders being deprived of their power of making bye-laws for the direction of the affairs of the Bank. The directors become practically absolute.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved that the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta be further considered, in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that the amendments to which he proposed to call the attention of the Council to-day were all more or less of a formal character, and had been suggested during the discussion on this Bill at the last meeting of the Council. The hon'ble member opposite (MR. BELL) had pointed out that there was no distinct provision in the Bill to enable Joint Stock Companies to vote, and in order to meet this omission he had now the honor to move that, at the end of the first paragraph of Section 7, the following words be inserted:—

"Provided that any Company registered under 'The Indian Companies' Act, 1866,' which has paid such rates or taxes in the manner aforesaid, shall be entitled to one vote in the ward in which the place of business of the said Company is situated, and such vote shall be given by the Secretary of the Company, or some other person duly authorised in that behalf."

That would provide for every registered Company in Calcutta having a vote.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that Section 10 as drafted according to the suggestion of his hon'ble friend MR. BELL, was not in the hands of the Council, but it had been published in the Gazette of the 23rd February, and it provided that a person holding property in different wards of the town might elect in which ward he should vote. According to that section no person should be entitled to vote in more than one ward, but any person qualified to vote might vote in the ward in which he resided, or in which his place of business was situated, or in which any property on account of which he had paid rates was situated. Some doubt had been expressed as to the meaning of the section, and therefore, in order to make it a little more definite, it was proposed to add the following words after paragraph 2 of that section:—

"Every person qualified to vote as hereinbefore provided may vote for as many candidates as there are Commissioners to be elected in the ward which is allotted to such person under Section 13, but no person so qualified shall be entitled to give more than one vote to any one candidate."

That was to say, every person entitled to vote might vote for as many Commissioners as were allotted to the ward in which he voted, but he would not be allowed to give more than one vote for each candidate.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL strongly objected to the latter part of this amendment, namely, "that no person so qualified shall be entitled to give more than one vote to any one candidate." He thought that in a town like Calcutta, where there were so many different nationalities, it was very desirable that minorities should have a chance of being represented in the Municipal Corporation. According to the last census returns, the vast majority of the population of Calcutta consisted of Hindus, but there was a large European and a large Mahomedan population, and he thought it was very desirable that these classes of the community should have a chance of sending their representatives to the municipal body, and therefore, instead of the words to which he had taken exception, he would propose, as an amendment, the insertion of the following words:—"Or he may give all his votes in favor of one candidate." He might also say that, if the system of cumulative voting had been found useful and desirable in England, it would be much more useful and much more desirable in a place like Calcutta; in fact, if we did not allow cumulative voting, he very much doubted whether the European and Mahomedan communities would be able to return a single representative of their own. Therefore he thought that, instead of limiting a man to one vote for each candidate, he should be allowed to give all his votes to any candidate he pleased.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that he had no possible objection to offer to the amendment, as it would assist minorities to send representatives of their own to the Corporation.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that he did not quite understand the nature of the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that, supposing three Commissioners were to be elected from a ward, under the terms of the hon'ble mover's proposition, a ratepayer or taxpayer who had three votes to give could only give one vote to each man whom it was proposed to elect, but by the amendment suggested the voter could give all his three votes to one man.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he quite understood that part of the amendment, but wished to know whether it was proposed to extend the privilege of voting for more candidates than one to persons according to the amount of rates they paid.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL replied that he did not understand that that question was at present before the Council. They were now considering the amendment he had proposed, which was quite independent of the amount of rates which a man paid. He did not quite agree with the clause which the hon'ble mover of the Bill proposed, and he would be quite prepared to support a substantive amendment to the effect proposed by the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal). For his own part, however, he might say that he thought a man should have votes according to the rates he paid.

The amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Bell having been accepted by Sir Stuart Hogg, and the sense of the Council being in favor of the proposition, the PRESIDENT observed that, as the principle was admitted, the matter had better stand over, so as to give sufficient time for the drafting of the section.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved that, at the end of section 10, the following words be inserted:—

"Every person shall be entitled to vote in every ward in which any land or masonry buildings on account of which he has paid rates to the amount and in the manner mentioned in Section 7 is situated."

At a previous sitting of the Council the question covered by his amendment had been discussed and thrown out; but since then it had been suggested to him by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Bell) that the principle for which he had contended was recognized in some of the local government Acts in England; in fact, under the joint operation of the Public Health and local government Acts in England, a person having property in more wards than one was entitled to vote in every one of them within a certain limit. He was therefore encouraged to put forward this amendment again. The principle, he submitted, was one which could not be disputed on broad grounds of justice. According to the rule laid down in the Bill as it stood at present, a person who paid Rs. 25 per year in rates and taxes was entitled to one vote only, that was to say, in only one ward; but if he held property which qualified him to be a voter in more wards than one, he would have to select some one of the several wards in which he would like to exercise his vote. Now, there were many persons in Calcutta who owned property in more wards than one, and it would not be just to deprive them of the privilege of voting in as many wards as they possessed property in. He was aware that the principle that each ratepayer should vote in only one ward had been recognized in the general Municipal Acts in England; but considering the circumstances of Calcutta, and bearing in mind that the experiment of elective self-government in this city was new, and that the principle of cumulative voting had been recognized and acted upon in certain cases in England, he thought that those who had the largest stake in the town ought to be sufficiently represented in it. Holding these views, he ventured to propose this amendment. He might add that he was prepared to place a limit on the number of votes for wards, and if the Council desired it, he would add to the words which he had already moved the following:—

"Provided that no person shall be entitled to vote in more than five wards."

He should also state that all that he wished to do was to ask the Council to consider the principle embodied in his amendment; they might afterwards settle the wording. It had been brought to his notice that some modification was necessary in the wording, the words "or taxes" being, through an oversight, omitted after the word "rates."

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that the question now raised had been discussed at a previous meeting of the Council and rejected, but the hon'ble member had thought proper to bring it forward again. It was a subject on which considerable difference of opinion existed. It would enable large proprietors, who held property in a great many wards, as many wealthy natives in the city did, to vote in as many wards as they possessed property, and would thus throw much power in the hands of persons holding house property in different quarters of the town. He therefore felt it his duty to vote against the amendment. At any rate, if it were accepted, the wording of the clause would require to be altered, as only "rates" and not "taxes" were, he believed, intended by the mover to be taken into account.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL did not agree with the hon'ble mover of the Bill, that this question had already been settled in Council, and did not therefore see why they should not now consider it. He was under the impression that the majority of the Council were in favor of giving a greater share of representation to men having property in different wards. He could see no conceivable objection why a person might not have a vote in each ward in which he had qualifying property, and he could not think that it would give undue influence to any one member of the community who possessed a considerable number of houses in various parts of the town.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG remarked that if the principle of the amendment were carried out and acted upon, a man who had thirty houses in the town would have sixty votes.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL thought that if a man had so much property, he should have so many votes given him. At the same time, there was a proviso put forward by the hon'ble mover which the Council might accept.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that what he objected to was the principle of the amendment. If the amendment were accepted, it was a matter of small importance whether the proviso were inserted or not.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER asked whether or not the question had already been definitely settled by this Council.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said that he did not think it had: he believed it had only been provisionally discussed.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that the hon'ble mover of the Bill had moved a resolution on which he had suggested an amendment, but he believed nothing was definitely settled.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that as far as he recollected the matter stood in this way. The hon'ble mover of the Bill had moved that when a man had property in more wards than one, the Chairman should say in which ward he was entitled to vote. The hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) had suggested that he should be allowed to vote in all the wards, but he (MR. BELL) had put forward a second suggestion, that a man should be allowed to select in which ward he would use his vote. His suggestion had had the general approval of the Council, but nothing definite had been settled.

After some further conversation the Council divided:

the President.

The motion was therefore carried

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that he had next to propose that the following paragraphs be inserted at the end of Section 11:—

"If any person is elected a Commissioner for more than one of the said wards, he shall, within three days of the date of the election, choose, or in default thereof, the Chairman shall forthwith declare the ward for which such person shall serve; and such person shall thereupon be held to be elected in that ward only which he shall so choose, or which the Chairman shall so declare; and thereupon the rate and tax-payers of the other ward or wards in which the said person has been elected a Commissioner shall forthwith proceed to elect another Commissioner in the manner provided by this Act.

"Where an equality of votes is found to exist between any two candidates at any election under this Act, and the addition of a vote would entitle any of such candidates to be elected a Commissioner, the Chairman may give such additional vote, and the candidate to whom such additional vote has been given shall thereupon be held to be elected a Commissioner."

The first clause merely provided for cases which were likely to occur of one gentleman being elected for more than one ward. In the second clause, provision had been made for the possibility of an equality of votes, and the clause would enable the Chairman in such a case to decide which of the two candidates should be elected.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that the first amendment he had to move was that the word "five" be substituted for "three" in the first clause. It was possible that a man might not be in Calcutta at the time of his election, and three days, therefore, was too short a period within which he should come to a decision.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that he accepted the amendment; he had no objection to "five," being substituted for "three."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that he next objected to the words "the Chairman shall forthwith declare." He was of opinion that the matter had better be left to the choice of the person elected.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT pointed out that the clause which the hon'ble member objected to was in the form of an alternative. If the choice, which was left to the person elected, was not availed of within the period mentioned, it was then only that the Chairman could decide.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that he believed some misapprehension existed in consequence of the words "shall declare." As had been pointed out by the Hon'ble the President, there was nothing whatever to interfere with the right of selection which might be exercised by the person elected for two wards, and it was only in case he did not exercise his right within the time named that the Chairman could decide. There could be no possible objection to this power being vested in the Chairman; and, if the person elected had no intention of being a Commissioner at all, he might simply resign when the Chairman's decision was made known.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, if the Council did not think there was anything objectionable in the clause, he would not press his amendment. With reference to the second clause, regarding equality of votes, he thought that in such a case lots should be drawn to decide which of the two persons elected should sit as a Commissioner, instead of the casting vote being given to the Chairman, who would not be one of the electors. He therefore moved an amendment to that effect.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL thought that at home the question was decided by the drawing of lots.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said he believed that the "tellers" at home gave the casting vote in cases of equality of votes. Here, however, he thought that the decision should be left to the Chairman.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT thought there would be no harm in this power being vested in the Chairman, considering the extreme improbability of such cases being of frequent occurrence.

The amendment was then put and negatived, and the original motion was agreed to.

Section 12 provided, among other things, that the Lieutenant-Governor should have power to make rules "for the purpose of regulating elections."

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved that, after the word "elections," the following words be inserted:—

"And may declare the penalties which shall be incurred by the breach of any of the said rules, and may at any time cancel or modify any of the said rules. The expenses of all elections under this Act shall be paid out of the Municipal Fund."

The first part of the amendment merely enabled the Lieutenant-Governor to declare the penalties incurred for breach of any rule which, under Section 12, it was proposed to empower him to pass, and the second clause was to enable the Commissioners to pay the expenses incidental to election.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL doubted, with regard to the first part of the amendment, whether the Council could empower the Lieutenant-Governor to declare penalties; that is, he doubted whether penalties could be legally imposed under rules so framed. He thought it would be better if the consideration of the matter stood over.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER asked whether the hon'ble member thought there was any distinction in this respect between the power given to Municipalities to frame bye-laws which required the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, and this power which it was proposed to give to the Lieutenant-Governor.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that he had not come to Council to discuss the subject, and was therefore not prepared to give a definite opinion on the case put; but it appeared to him that there was a very great distinction between the cases mentioned by the hon'ble member and the general power which it was proposed to give to the Lieutenant-Governor under this amendment. When under the Municipal Acts power was given to municipalities to frame bye-laws, it was always clearly laid down for what specific purposes those bye-laws were to be framed. and a limit was always fixed as to the amount of penalty to be incurred for a breach of such bye-laws. In the amendment proposed however, the power of the local Government to frame rules and to impose penalties was unrestricted and unlimited.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said that he believed the hon'ble member's objection was a valid one so far as the imposing of a maximum penalty was concerned. He thought the consideration of the matter had better be postponed.

After some further conversation, the insertion of the words "and may at any time cancel or modify any of the said rules" was agreed to, and the consideration of that portion of the clause, empowering the Lieutenant-Governor to declare penalties, was postponed.

Section 16 provided that an erroneous omission from, or entry in, the list of. voters should not affect an election.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved that at the end of the section the following words be added:—

"And no election shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only of any defect of form in the conduct thereof"

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved that the following section be inserted after Section 18:—

"18A. Whoever, being qualified to vote, or claiming to be qualified to vote, at any election under this Act, accepts, or obtains, or agrees to accept, or attempts to obtain, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, as a motive or reward for giving, or forbearing to give, his vote in any such election, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and shall for ever be disqualified from voting at any such election, and from being elected a member of the said Corporation.

"And whoever, by any gift or reward, or by any promise, agreement, or security for any gift or reward, corrupts or procures, or offers to corrupt or procure, any person to give, or forbear to give, his vote in any such election, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every such offence, and shall for ever be disqualified from voting at any such election, and from being elected a member of the said Corporation."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Sections 312 to 314 related to licenses for markets.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that, on reference to Sections 312 and 313 of the Bill, he found that they were so worded that markets established even before Act VIII (B.C.) of 1871 was passed might be closed at the discretion of the Municipal Commissioners. He believed such was not the intention with which the sections were drafted, but owing to the omission of certain words occurring in the existing law, the present sections would have the effect to which he had drawn attention. As he entered the Council room that morning, he was shown a communication addressed to the Council by several influential native gentlemen, who were proprietors of some of the markets in the town. As the communication was short, and had only been received that morning, he would, with the permission of the Council, read the principal portions of it.

The petitioners said:—

"We, the undersigned, proprietors of markets in the Town of Calcutta, beg leave to draw the attention of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to the provisions in the Calcutta Municipal Bill relating to markets.

"Act VIII of 1871 makes a distinction between existing and new markets. With regard to present markets, Section 6 requires that they are to be registered, and, with regard to new markets, Sections 1 to 3 provide that they are to be licensed under the conditions mentioned therein. All markets are equally subject to sanitary regulations, but the licensed markets—that is, new markets - are liable to be closed by order of the Justices (Section 5), if the owner thereof be convicted three times under Section 4.

"The reason of this distinction is obvious. Considerable capital has been invested in markets by private individuals: some of them have been in existence for more that half a century, if not longer; and, if it were left to the discretion of the Municipal Commissioners to grant a license or not, and, if it were ruled that old markets may be closed on three convictions, it would be tantamount to a confiscation of private property, particularly as a motive for competition with them has been supplied to the Municipality by empowering it to appropriate the municipal funds to speculations of this kind."

The petitioners then went on to argue their case, and concluded as follows:—

"Accordingly, we would humbly pray that His Honor in Council would be pleased to exempt existing markets from the operations of Sections 312, 313, and 314 as at present."

He need not say much in illustration of the views and arguments set forth in the memorial. The hon'ble mover of the Bill was aware that old markets, existing before the Act of 1871 was passed, required only to be registered, while new markets—that was to say, markets established after 1871—required a license which it was in the discretion of the Justices to grant or not. But with regard to old markets the Justices had no discretion whatever; they could only enforce sanitary regulations with a view to keep markets in a proper condition, and these sanitary regulations had hitherto been found quite sufficient. When the present Bill was drafted, the Select Committee were under the impression—at least he for one was under that impression—that the existing law on this subject was simply to be re-enacted. But his attention was only last week drawn to the provisions in the Bill by some of the signatories to the memorial, and he found that the omission of certain words, which were in Section 4 of Act VIII of 1871, had produced the alarm, dissatisfaction and complaint under notice. The words which had been omitted were "unless such place shall have been used as a market for the sale of such articles at the time of the passing of this Act." That was to say, if a market had been in existence before the passing of Act VIII of 1871, then three convictions would not justify the Justices in closing the market; i e., three convictions for not taking out a license. The corresponding section in the Bill, Section 312, gave power to the Commissioners to grant licenses for markets, by which was evidently meant new markets. But the next section (313) provided that whoever used a place as a market which was not licensed under this Act would be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 200, and the following section (314) provided that whenever three convictions should have been pronounced under the preceding section in respect of the same place within the space of one year, the market might be closed. Now, the old markets did not, under the existing law, need a license, but this was not distinctly stated in the present Bill. He believed that the omission was due to an oversight; but anyhow the re-enactment of the old law was necessary, in order to do justice to the proprietors of old markets who had vested interests in them. He had therefore given notice of his intention to move that the following words be inserted after the word "Act" in Section 313:—"Unless such place shall have been used as a market for the sale of such articles at the commencement of Bengal Act VIII of 1871, or of this Act." He believed the words or of this Act would be objected to, and he would not therefore press that point. At the same time he ought to mention that the hon'ble mover of the Bill had suggested another amendment to follow Section 313, which was as follows:—"Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to markets registered under Section 6, Act VIII (B.C.) of 1871." He did not care which amendment was carried, so long as the object of the petitioners was gained.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER pointed out that neither of the two amendments would fully meet the objections of the petitioners.

The HON'BLE MR. REYNOLDS asked whether the Hon'ble mover was prepared to accept a similar proviso to Section 281, which enacted similar provisions as to slaughter-houses. It appeared to him that the principle was the same in both; the provisions which applied to markets equally applied to slaughter-houses.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT observed that the licensing of slaughter-houses and markets stood on an entirely different footing. What might be absolutely and imperatively necessary in regard to slaughter-houses might not be necessary for markets. All markets were supposed to be kept in a comparatively clean state.

After some conversation, the principle urged by the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was accepted by the Council, and, at the suggestion of the Hon'ble the President, the matter was postponed, with a view to the sections being re-drafted.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that Section 331 provided that "the Commissioners shall set aside yearly out of their annual income, before making any disbursements in respect thereof, a sum of not less than two per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Commissioners for the purpose of any enactment hereby expressly repealed, &c." But it did not provide that the interest on the debt should be a first charge, because it was considered that the fact of the Justices having signed the debentures was sufficient security for the payment of the interest. But this was objected to by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Bell) who urged that the interest on the debentures, as well as the sinking fund, should be made a first charge on the Municipal Fund. In order, therefore, to meet that objection, he had now to move that after the word "thereof" in line 4 of Section 331, the following words be inserted:—

"Firstly.—Such sum as may be required for the payment of the interest which may fall due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed; secondly,"

The motion was put and agreed to.

GHATWALI POLICE (BANCOORAH).

The HON'BLE MR. BELL postponed the motion which stood in his name for leave to introduce a Bill to regulate the Ghatwali Police in the district of Bancoorah. On reading through the papers which had been sent to him, he found that the information which they contained was not sufficiently explicit to enable him to make a satisfactory statement to the Council of the objects and reasons of the Bill.

The Council was then adjourned to Saturday, the 18th instant.

PARTITION OF ESTATES.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bll to make better provision for the partition of estates paying revenue to Government in the Lower Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal. The Council were aware that this Bill had been in its settlement a serious matter. The Select Committee or the mover of the Bill had been in constant communication with those officers throughout Bengal who were to the greatest extent employed in making partitions, and who were most familiar with the subject of the Bill. The Select Committee had had to grapple with most difficult subjects, which he had mentioned in his speech asking leave to introduce the Bill. And he had great satisfaction in saying that they had been able to come to an unanimous agreement, he might say, in all important points. In the Committee's report the changes made in the Bill had been very fully set out, and he should only mention the most important of them.

The Committee had in the Bill laid down a procedure for these intricate cases; they had adopted the principle that a recorded proprietor, who was in possession of the share in respect of which he was the recorded proprietor, and as such only, was entitled to apply for the partition of an estate. On the other hand, they had allowed unrecorded proprietors, persons who claimed rights as proprietors but who were not recorded on the Collector's register, to come forward and make objections, because it was most inconvenient in these protracted and intricate cases to have objections of any kind, which were really valid and worth attention, deferred until the case had proceeded to the later stages.

The Committee had provided that no partition should be made which would result in the formation of a separate estate liable for an annual amount of revenue less than Rs. 20, and of which the assets would be less than Rs. 200, unless the proprietor of such estate agreed to redeem the revenue for which such estate would be liable by a capitalized payment at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may determine with reference to the circumstances of the estate. This was provided with the view of stopping the splitting up of estates almost into fields which was going on in Tirhoot, and perhaps in other districts. Hitherto it had been ruled by the High Court, and the ruling had the effect of law, that no batwarah of an estate could be made under Regulation XIX of 1814, if a private partition had been made between the proprietors of an estate, a private partition of lands which constituted a joint undivided estate as regards the responsibility for land revenue. The Committee had remedied this, and had provided that where a private partition of the lands existed, if all the parties agreed in making a joint application, the Collector might give effect to an amicable division of the land under the provisions of this law. And more than this, they had provided that when such a private division of land was accompanied by a private arrangement as to the amount of revenue for which each proprietor's share should be liable, the Collector might accept and recognize under the law an amicable division of the jumma as well as an amicable division of the land when this could be done without danger to the public revenue. If, on the other hand, it would endanger the revenue, the Collector might refuse to make any partition of such estate under this Act, unless the parties agreed to allow the revenue on each separate estate to be assessed in proportion to the assets of each separate estate, according to the ordinary principle.

On one point the Committee had made a material alteration in the existing law. Under the existing law, as soon as an estate was admitted to separation, separate accounts were opened in respect of the different shares, and from that moment the share of each proprietor became answerable only for its proportionate share of the land revenue. Now the Committee had provided that nothing in this law should relieve any part of the lands constituting a parent estate from their liability for the entire land revenue assessed upon such estate, until the partition proceedings were completed, and each party was put in possession of his share, although that was an alteration of the batwarah law it did not put proprietors in any worse position than they were now. The Committee had not thought it necessary to make any mention in this Bill of this mode of protecting shares during the progress of the partition proceedings, because there was another law, Act XI of 1859, which afforded the means of such protection by opening separate accounts with the Collector. The Bill as now drafted merely came to this, that, in order to protect their shares in such cases, proprietors must avail themselves of the provisions of Act XI of 1859.

Under the old law, if any person claiming to be a proprietor disputed the extent of the right which the applicant for partition declared himself to hold, that was enough to bar any further proceedings. The Committee had provided that when any such objection was made to the extent of interest claimed by the applicant, or a question of right and title was raised as between the applicant and other persons claiming to be proprietors, it should be in the discretion of the Collector either to refuse to make the partition (which he would naturally do when it appeared to him that the objector's claim was based on good grounds,) or, if satisfied that the applicant was in possession in accordance with his claim, to direct that the partition should proceed in accordance with the applicant's claim, (which course the Collector would probably adopt if he was impressed with the idea that the objector's claim to right was frivolous,) or to direct that the proceedings be postponed for four months in order to give the objector an opportunity of instituting a suit to try the question in dispute (which the Collector would probably do if he thought that there was a fair chance of such a suit resulting in favor of the objector). If the objector availed himself of these four months allowed to him, the decree might place him in the position of a joint sharer in the entire parent estate. But if the claimant of the disputed share—the objector to the partition proceedings who was not in possession—omitted to institute a suit within the four months allowed to him, but did institute such a suit afterwards and got a decree, that decree would be subject to the partition proceedings, and would have to state in which of the separate estates created out of the parent estate the decree was to be enforced, and to what extent it was to be enforced in each.

Part IV of the Bill was absolutely new. It treated of establishments under the Act, the payment of the establishments, and the levy of their cost from the parties to the partition proceedings.

Then, in Part VII, the Committee had made what they hoped would be an important improvement. Heretofore, under the old law the ameen, the man appointed to measure the lands and draw up the papers, was also allowed to indicate how the estate should be divided; to suggest in a rough way that A should have his lands allotted to him on the south-east and B's in the south-west, and so forth. This power was notoriously abused by men in the position of ameens. The Bill provided that the ameen should merely measure the lands and ascertain their rental. Having done that, the Deputy Collector was himself to decide in what general direction the parent estate should be divided and where each sharer's lands should lie.

One great point of dissatisfaction in a butwarah had been when the dwelling-house of one of the proprietors fell in the estate of another proprietor. It was very much against native feeling for one proprietor of what had been a joint estate to be the tenant of another. The Committee had provided that in such cases, where the dwelling-house of a proprietor fell in the estate of another proprietor, the land occupied by it should be assessed at a fair rental, which should be fixed in perpetuity by the Deputy Collector; and not only so but when the rental had been so fixed, the Committee had given power to the owner of the dwelling-house to redeem the rental so fixed by a capitalized payment at once. So that if it was unavoidable that one proprietor should have his dwelling-house and its immediate grounds in another proprietor's estate, he might still hold it as a rent-free tenure if he chose to do so.

The Committee had dealt with the very difficult question of lands which were held on a permanent tenure created by all the proprietors of the estate. It was one of the cruces with which they had to deal, and they had come to an unanimous opinion upon it.

Another difficulty was as to lands claimed both by the proprietor of the the estate to be brought under partition and the proprietor of a neighbouring estate; the Committee had also made provisions which they hoped would clear up that difficulty.

They had empowered the Collector, after breaking up the parent estate into separate estates, to cause the proprietors to put up boundary marks around each estate so as to preserve them intact in future, and these marks were to be maintained under the Bengal Survey Act of last year.

They had provided that all sums payable under the Act should be levied as demands under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

They had defined very carefully what orders of the Collector, of a Deputy Collector and of a Commissioner should be appealable as of right to the superior revenue authorities, but had given a general power of supervision, control, and revision to the Board of Revenue and the Commissioner over all the proceedings and orders of the subordinate revenue authorities, and they had defined carefully what orders of the revenue officials under the Act should not be liable to be contested in the Civil Court or otherwise than before the revenue authorities.

The Bill was so entirely different from what it was when it was referred to the Select Committee for consideration, that he must refer hon'ble members to the draft itself for further details. The Bill should be in the hand of the members to-day, and it might be considered at the next meeting of the Council.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the Bill had been carefully considered and settled by the Committee. If the Bill was published for general information for a reasonable time, those interested might send in representations on the subject. He knew that several persons interested in this Bill did not think proper to send in communications to the Council, because they understood that the Select Committee were making material alterations in the Bill, and they had deferred submitting their opinions until the report of the Committee was published.

INQUIRY INTO RENT DISPUTES.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for inquiry into disputes regarding the rent payable by ryots in certain estates, and to prevent agrarian disturbances. He said the Committee had felt some difficulty in regard to the question of the powers of this Council to legislate in the matter. But after a good deal of consideration and discussion these have been solved, and they had no doubt that the Bill in its present form was within the power of this Council.

The alterations made by the Select Committee were chiefly in the form and wording of the Bill; the substance was very much what it was when the Bill was referred to the Select Committee. The scheme of the Bill was that when the Lieutenant-Governor should consider that there was a dispute regarding rents of sufficient importance to warrant his taking action under this special law, and when any of the persons concerned should apply to him to take such action, the Lieutenant-Governor should be able to declare that this special procedure (for it was purely a Procedure Bill) should be enforced in any specified tract. Then (it being assumed that there was some general question underlying the dispute) the Lieutenant-Governor was required to state those matters of fact which should be ascertained by a general inquiry to be made by the Collector. The Collector would then make his inquiry for which the Bill laid down the procedure, and would give the parties an opportunity of seeing his report and making their objections. The report and objections would be considered by the Commissioner and Board of Revenue, and the Board would come to a finding (practically the finding would in effect be the Board's, although the Collector was required to make the formal order according to the instructions of the Board) on those general matters of fact which had been referred for determination by such general inquiry, whereupon rent suits and suits connected with rent of every kind under Section 23 of Act X of 1859 would become cognizable by the Collector under this special jurisdiction, and would not be cognizable by the Civil Courts under Act VIII of 1859, until the Lieutenant-Governor declared the tract to be no longer under this special procedure. The Collector would then try such suits, and all his findings must be in accordance with the determination of matters of fact in the general inquiry by the Board of Revenue so far as such determinations were applicable to such suits before the Collector.

In giving the appellate jurisdiction, the Committee had mainly followed the scheme of Act X of 1859. Where there was simply a question of rent under a certain amount, the Collector's decision was final. Where a question of right or title or enhancement or abatement of rent was involved an appeal was allowed, but instead of giving the appeal, as under Act X of 1859, to the Judge of the district, the appeal would lie to the Commissioner, and if the sum in dispute was above Rs. 5,000 a further appeal would lie to the Board of Revenue.

There was one other point in the Bill which he would notice. If the Collector found in a suit that some question was involved which might better be tried by the Civil Court, he might refer the suit to the Civil Court; and if the matter in dispute also involved a question of rent which the Collector could best determine, then, before referring the suit to the court, he would determine that question of rent, and the Civil Court would be bound to accept that determination in its final decision of the suit which had been referred to it.

There was one point in which there had been much difference of opinion in the Select Committee, and on this two of the members had recorded a dissent. It was very much pressed upon the Committee that they ought to insert some sort of rule in the Act by which the Collector should be guided when he found it necessary to fix the rate of rent payable by occupancy ryots. He for one thought that if a good practical rule could have been fixed upon, it would have been a good thing. But the Committee had found it impracticable to do so, and if it was remembered that this was a procedure Bill, the defect would not seem to be so great. For instance, he saw that his hon'ble friend opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) said in his dissent to the report:—

"It is absolutely left to the discretion of the Collector, or rather the Deputy Collector, to settle the principles on which the rent is to be fixed. This means the suspension of law and the promulgation of discretion, to which I cannot too strongly express my objection."

MR. DAMPIER desired to point out that this was a procedure law. Whatever discretion there was, was a discretion which was allowed by the existing law, Act X of 1859, the principles of which remained fully in force, and to these, whatever they might be, vague as they were, the Collector was bound to adhere. This Bill gave the Collector no more latitude in determining a question of enhancement according to his discretion than every moonsif already exercised under the existing rent law. The rule laid down by the existing law was a fair and equitable rate, and according to this Bill enhancement or abatement of rent could only be determined at a fair and equitable rate.

The rule was neither made more strict nor more lax in this respect.

With these remarks, he begged to present the report of the Select Committee.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that as he had recorded a dissent, he thought it his duty to state his reasons for having done so. When the Bill was originally introduced, he thought it his duty to support it, at the same time expressing a hope that the Select Committee would find their way to some provision for the settlement or determination of rates of rents, leaving as little as possible discretion to the Collector on the subject. This question was very carefully discussed in Committee, and he was sorry to say that the majority came to a conclusion which was against the adoption of any principle in the Bill for the determination of rates of rent. He had not seen the report of the Committee until that morning, and therefore could not fully allude to the reasons advanced by them in recording his dissent. But his general opinion on the subject being well known to his colleagues in Committee, he thought it proper to embody it in the dissent he had recorded. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had pointed out that this was a procedure Bill, and did not affect the principles contained in Act X of 1859 for the determination of rates of rents. If the hon'ble member would refer to the history of the rent disputes which had led to the introduction of the present measure, he would find that the indefiniteness of the principles of Act X of 1859 had brought suits for the adjustment of rents to a dead lock, and that it had therefore become necessary for the Legislature to step in and propose the present law. If Act X of 1859 had worked satisfactorily; if it had not led to considerable misunderstanding, misconception, and mischief, he did not think there would have been any necessity for introducing the present measure. On the one hand, the ryot did not know what he was liable to pay, and on the other hand the zemindar did not know what he was entitled to receive as rent in consequence of the admitted rise in the value of produce: the result was that both quarrelled and went to the Civil Court for adjudication of their disputes, which in its turn was surrounded with great difficulties, and did not know exactly what to say or lay down. Look to the variety of the decisions passed by the different Civil Courts in the country on the subject, and you would find that they were a series of contradictory decisions, conflicting rulings, and inconclusive conclusions. A full bench of the High Court had laid down a principle for enhancement of rent which both judges and lawyers agreed in holding was simply unworkable, and a better proof of the impracticability of carrying it out could not be afforded than the state of litigation in the country at present on the subject of rent suits. The head of the Government of Bengal had acknowledged this unsatisfactory state of things in the last Administration Report, and pointed out that unless the principles on which rents should be fixed were settled, the present state of things would probably grow from bad to worse. He believed he might state without breach of confidence that the Government were laudably engaged in making investigations from local officers and others competent to advise, with a view to come to some definite principles for the determination of rates of rent. Now, while public opinion, both official and non-official, seemed to be unanimous in so far that the present law was indefinite and confusing, and therefore unsatisfactory, he asked—was it wise or advisable to refer the Collector back to those very principles in the Act which had produced the present confusion? Would this procedure, he would ask, contribute to the settlement of those disputes which the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had characterized as a scandal to good government? He questioned the wisdom of this proceeding, and entertaining this opinion, he strongly urged upon his colleagues in Committee the necessity of laying down some fair and equitable principle for the settlement of rates of rent; and if the Council was not prepared to come to an agreement upon the subject, he would recommend that the scope and object of the Bill should be limited to the realization of arrears of rents, the question of fixing the rates of rent being left to the Civil Courts for determination as heretofore.

The object of the Bill, he might observe, was twofold—firstly, the settlement or adjustment of rents, and secondly, the realization of rents. Now, the adjustment of rents could not be effected without settling the rates of rent, but the realization of rents could be facilitated by amending the existing procedure and vesting the Collector with a summary power. There could be no doubt that when the ryots combined and resisted the payment of rent, the zemindar was put to great difficulty and trouble. In fact, when the combination was widespread, the zemindar could not collect his rents, and could not meet the Government revenue without borrowing money. This state of things could not but be deprecated; and he believed that as regards the collection of arrears of rent, if the Bill were made effectual so as to help the zemindar in realizing arrears of rent, the object would be sufficiently attained. It might be a question as to what was or what was not an arrear of rent; that was to say, whether or no the existing rate of rent was disputed by the ryot. But questions of this kind were as likely to arise before the Civil Court as before the Collecto; and in the same way as the Civil Court decided them, the Collector might decide them in a district proclaimed under the Bill. It was certainly desirable that the rates of rent should be adjusted by the Collector, but there seemed to be so many difficulties in the way, and so much divergence of opinion, that perhaps it would be better as a procedure measure to confine the Bill only to the realization of rent. As the Bill was framed, it might, he was afraid, lead to greater evil than good. He might mention that the reasons which had called for the Bill some six or eight months ago did not now exist, through the wise, discreet, and moderate action of the executive authorities; that disputes formerly existing between the zemindar and the ryot in some of the eastern districts had been to a considerable extent amicably settled; and that a better spirit now prevailed than what had prevailed two or three years ago. But it might be said that the fire was only smouldering; that it might again break out, and who knew how far it might extend; and that it was therefore necessary to be forearmed. Taking that view of the case, he suggested that the Bill ought to be confined to the particular object of facilitating the realization of arrears of rent, and that the large, difficult, and complicated question of adjustment of rents might be left to be dealt with thereafter by legislation. He was confident that the legislature, under the guidance of the present head of the Government, would be able to come to some satisfactory conclusion as to the principles on which rates of rent should be fixed; and once the general law was amended, both as to the principles upon which the rent was to be fixed and the facilities to be given for the realization of rent, matters might be left to themselves. On these grounds he still hoped that the question of the adjustment of rent might be left out of the Bill, and that it might be restricted to the realization of arrears of rent only.

He hoped that the Bill would not be hastily proceeded with. It was a most important measure, and ought to be carefully considered. It was true that the Bill had been before the public for some time. He knew that the landed classes had taken considerable interest in it; they had already expressed their opinions upon it more or less strongly, and it was very desirable that sufficient time should be given to enable them to consider the Bill as amended by the Select Committee.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said, as a member of the Select Committee on the Bill, he wished to make one or two observations in reference to what had fallen from the hon'ble member who had just spoken. The hon'ble member had correctly said that there were two points of difference which existed between the members of the Select Committee. The first of these points was whether the Bill should be confined to the realization of arrears of rent at existing rates, or whether it should attempt to adjust and settle existing disputes; and secondly, whether or not we should lay down some general principles to guide the Collector in arriving at the determination of what a fair and equitable rate of rent was. On the latter point, the majority of the Committee were of opinion that we ought to leave the law as it stood. The object of the Bill was merely of a temporary nature: it was in no way intended to repeal or alter the provisions of Act X of 1859, and the question was whether in a measure of this sort, which was rather a measure of procedure than of principle, we ought to change the substantive law of the land. The majority of the Committee were convinced that if we were to attempt to introduce in a Bill of this sort any fresh principles of legislation, we should have the whole country up in arms. Instead of adjusting disputes, we should simply be fomenting discord. Any one zemindar would be desirous of testing these new principles, and we should have an enhancement suit instituted throughout the whole of Bengal; and the Bill would promote the very evils which it was intended to allay.

With regard to the adjustment of the rates of rent, it seemed to the Committee that if the Collector was authorized to settle disputes, it would be impossible to limit his discretion to enquiries into the rates of rent which the ryots had previously paid. It would be extremely unfair to the zemindar to compel him to accept rents at the old rates if he was entitled to higher rates, let alone that it was almost impossible in some cases for the Collector to determine what the previous rates were. It seemed to the majority of the Committee that, to enable the Collector to deal effectually with the questions referred to him, it was absolutely necessary for him to enquire into all the relations between the landlord and his tenants. What was wanted was not a one-sided Bill, but a just measure to provide for a fair and equitable adjustment of disputes between zemindars and their ryots.

The hon'ble member had stated that he objected to the vast amount of power and discretion which the Bill placed in the hands of the Collector. But MR. BELL would remind the Council that the Bill really gave the Collector no greater power or discretion than was at present exercised by the Civil Court. The Bill seemed to him to be a very harmless one in every way, and the only object of the Bill was to allow the Collector to settle in a summary way what was now determined by the Civil Courts by the more dilatory process of a regular suit.

The only other point upon which he had to remark was with reference to what fell from the hon'ble member in regard to the present necessity of the measure. It seemed to the majority of the Committee that although fortunately no disputes at present existed in Bengal, it was desirable, in view of future complications, that a Bill of this sort should be passed. He felt sure the Council, when the Bill was submitted to them, would agree with him that the Committee had attempted to frame as fair and equitable a measure to both parties as it was possible under the circumstances to do.

His Honor the President said: "I desire to point out at this stage of the measure that, in the opinion of the Government of Bengal, there is just as much reason to pass a Bill of this sort now as there ever was. It is true that some great disputes have been settled successfully (at least, so far as appearances go) by the executive authorities without the aid of such a law; but, supposing any fresh disputes should arise, we cannot answer for our officers being always able to compose such quarrels. The Council will, I hope, remember that this is merely a Bill for conferring certain jurisdiction on the Revenue authorities in the event of any emergency arising. The jurisdiction proposed to be conferred is no other than the substitution of a particular procedure for that which now obtains in the Civil Court, and from that point of view it seems very undesirable in a measure of this kind to introduce anything relating to substantive law. This was justly pointed out by the hon'ble mover when he spoke of this Bill being in the nature of a procedure Bill. It is a Bill for conferring a certain jurisdiction upon certain officers. That, I need not point out, is a very different thing from introducing any principle of substantive law.

"As regards the substantive law relating to rent, I entirely concur with the hon'ble member on the left (Baboo Kristodas Pal) that it would be truly one of the greatest blessings that could be conferred on Bengal if some principle for determining the rates of rent could be fixed by legislation. But I need not point out that no more difficult question than that could be presented to a local legislature. It is true that the subject is under the anxious consideration of the Government, but whether we shall be able to arrive at a conclusion in which all the different parties interested can concur, is more than I can say at the present time. I can promise that the best efforts of the Government will be directed to that object. But I have to say most distinctly at the present stage of the Bill, that whether such substantive law for the determination of the rates of rent can be arrived at or not, this Bill for the transfer of the jurisdiction for the determination of urgent questions is necessary.

"If such substantive law shall be arrived at fortunately, regarding which I entertain much doubt, even then this Bill will be necessary. If, as is more probable, we shall not succeed in arriving at any substantive change in the law, then the Bill will be needed even still more.

"With these remarks, I will express my hope that the Council will at an early date take into consideration this important measure, though its importance is strictly limited to the mode of deciding rent disputes, and not to the principles upon which they are to be adjusted. A Collector or any other revenue officer will be in no worse position than the Civil Court as regards the substantive law of rent; but we believe, on the other hand, that the Collectors and other local officers will be in a much better position, by their local knowledge and other facilities, than the Civil Courts can be for deciding these rent suits. I say that without the slightest disparagement to the Civil Courts. The Civil Courts have always decided in peaceful times and under ordinary circumstances perfectly well. But when angry disputes arise between large landed classes, then it will be impossible for the Civil Courts, who have to observe all the formalities of the Civil Procedure Code, to settle such disputes in time; and before a legal decision can be arrived at, immense excitement might spread over the country and a great deal of mischief be done; and it is therefore that this Bill, purely of jurisdiction and procedure, is proposed for the consideration of the Council."

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

The Hon'ble Sir Stuart Hogg said it would be in the recollection of the Council that several memorials were received objecting to the controlling clauses as contained in sections 21, 22, and 58 of the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta. The memorialists seemed all unanimous in approving of the principle of election as set forth in the Bill. But they urged that the power which the Government proposed to retain to itself to control the action of the Municipality was not consistent with a free elective system. The Council then referred the Bill back to the Select Committee, with the view of seeing how far it was possible in a measure to meet the wishes of the memorialists by modifying the control sections 21, 22, and 58.

By section 21 the duties to be performed by the Municipality were laid down in somewhat general terms. By section 22 a general power was given to the Government to interfere in the event of the Municipality not carrying out the works specified in general terms by section 21. And by section 58, in order to place the Municipality in funds to carry out the orders passed by the Government, power was given to the Government to raise the rates by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Select Committee now proposed to do away with section 58, which enabled the Government to raise the rates by an order issued in the Calcutta Gazette, and instead of declaring in general terms the duties which the Municipality should perform, the Committee proposed to set forth in section 21 in very specific terms those works which the Municipality must carry out, namely, to provide for the payment of interest on the debentures and loans from Government and the formation of a sinking fund; to maintain the police sanctioned by Government; to carry out the new underground drainage works now under construction; to maintain an efficient water-supply; to make adequate and suitable provision for conservancy; and to provide the funds necessary for these purposes. By section 22 the Committee proposed that the Government should be empowered, in the event of suitable provision not being made for carrying on the conservancy of the town, to appoint Commissioners to see how far the arrangements of the Municipality were defective, and whether they were defective to such an extent as to be prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants of the town; and in the event of the Commissioners appointed reporting that the arrangements were so defective as to be prejudicial to health, then, and only then, the Government was to be empowered, in the event of the Municipality declining to carry out the recommendations of the Commission, to order the Municipality to carry out such recommendations as might be made by the Commission.

He begged to place the report of the Select Committee before the Council, and to move that the recommendations of the Committee be adopted, namely, that section 58 of the Bill be omitted, and that sections 21, 22, and 22A be substituted for sections 21 and 22.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT declared the motion to be unanimously agreed to, and in making that announcement he desired, on behalf of the Government of Bengal, to intimate his entire acceptance of the recommendations of the Committee, and to express his great satisfaction in being able to say so.

SECURITY FROM MINISTERIAL OFFICERS.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—

The Resolution of this Government in the General Department, dated the 22nd April 1869, directing the periodical scrutiny of the securities taken from officers of Government in positions of trust.

A letter from the Commissioner of Orissa, No. 34, dated the 21st April 1875, recommending that security should be taken from all subordinates who are in any way entrusted with the disbursement of public money.

Circular No. 15, dated the 1st June 1875, calling for the opinions of Commissioners of divisions upon the above proposal.

The replies of the several Commissioners, and a letter on the same subject, No. 78A., dated the 11th February 1876, from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue in the Land Revenue Department.

The attention of the Lieutenant-Governor was drawn to this question by the discovery, in March 1875, of a series of embezzlements committed in the office of the Magistrate and Collector of Balasore. The ministerial officers implicated in these embezzlements were the head-clerk of the Road Cess Department and the local fund clerk. Neither of these officers had given any security.

2. The Commissioner of Orissa, in submitting his report on the case, urged that experience had shown the necessity of demanding substantial security from all officers entrusted with the expenditure of Government or local funds. The great majority of the Divisional Commissioners, who were consulted, have concurred in this opinion; and it is also supported by the Member in charge of the Land Revenue Department of the Board.

3. It appears on inquiry that, by the existing practice, security is taken from some officers on both the revenue and the judicial side; but duties involving the custody and payment of money have much increased during the last few years; and it does not seem ever to have been laid down as a general principle that all ministerial officers to whom Government money is entrusted shall be required to give security for the due fulfilment of the trust. The consequence has been, as represented by the Magistrate of Balasore, that the expenditure of public money is sometimes left in the hands of ministerial officials who have neither given security nor have sufficient appliances for the custody of cash.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor, having regard to these circumstances and other cognate circumstances which have come to his notice at different times, is of opinion that the time has come for a revision of the orders upon this subject; and he is prepared to accept the general principle that ministerial officers whose duties require that public money (whether strictly Government money or local or municipal funds,) should pass through their hands should be required to furnish security to the amount of 10 per cent. in excess of the highest sum which is likely to be in their custody at one time. It is observed, however, that some of the Commissioners have proposed to extend the rule to officers of the department of account, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not see that there is any necessity for this. Nor does it appear necessary to apply the principle to those officers who are merely entrusted with the expenditure of a fixed permanent advance, as the situation of such officers may be considered to be a sufficient security for such small disbursements.

5. All heads of departments are accordingly directed to draw up lists of their subordinates who should be required to give security under this rule, with the amount of security to be given in each case, and to submit the lists for the approval of the Government. Revenue officers should submit the lists through the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue, and Magistrates through the Commissioner of the Division. In drawing up the lists, it should carefully be considered whether it may not be possible to concentrate, in the hands of a smaller number of officers than at present, the duties which involve actual dealings with public money, so as to limit, as far as possible, the necessity for giving security.

6. It is to be understood that these orders are not intended to apply to any officers who give security under the present rules. Such security will be given in the same manner, and to the same extent, as before; but it will be open to any district officer who may be of opinion that the security given by any of his subordinates is manifestly insufficient to recommend that the amount of such security should be raised. In the case of such poddars as are appointed on the responsibility of district or sub-divisional treasurers, no separate security need be taken, but the security bond of the treasurer should be worded so as to cover any possible defalcation by his subordinates.

7. In determining the nature of the security to be given, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to maintain the principle accepted by Government in this office letter No. 2691, dated the 1st August 1872, to the address of the Secretary to the Board of Revenue in the Land Revenue Department. Security in the form of a deposit of cash or promissory notes, in preference to the pledge of landed property, should therefore not be insisted on in cases in which the adoption of such a rule would operate hardly upon ministerial officers drawing small salaries.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain-gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Rule 96 —The space measured off for emigrants shall be fitted along the sides of the vessel with (a) a boarding three feet high, rising from the plank sheer of the vessel; and (b) thick and sound canvas curtains, hanging from roof to deck, with ventilating space under the eaves and fastening closely to the deck below. But from the month of October to March, both inclusive, the three feet boarding shall completely enclose the emigrants' deck space, and, besides the side curtains, there shall be similar curtains hung, one at each end of the deck, so as to convert the entire space allotted to emigrants into a thoroughly sheltered compartment, with ventilating spaces near the roof for the exit of heated and unwholesome air. This large compartment, moreover, shall be sub-divided into three smaller compartments by means of similar boarding and curtains placed right across the deck space from one side of the vessel to the other; only that each such intermediate boarding shall be so constructed as to admit of its removal when necessary at the discretion of the Medical Officer in charge, and each such intermediate curtain, instead of being hung almost from the roof as the curtains at the sides and ends, shall be hung at a height not exceeding six feet, measuring from the deck upwards, the space above being left clear and open for the purposes of free ventilation.

Who may be nominated.

3. In the selection of Mahomedan Registrars, preference shall ordinarily be given to ex-kazis and Government pensioners, being Mahomedans, who reside at a convenient place within the limits of the proposed jurisdiction; but no person shall be appointed a Mahomedan Registrar merely by reason of some supposed hereditary right. A Sub-Registrar of Assurances may be nominated as Mahomedan Registrar, provided he be a Mahomedan, and is otherwise qualified.

Jurisdiction.

4. The limits within which a Mahomedan Registrar shall be licensed to act shall for the present coincide with the limits of a sub-district under the Indian Registration Act, or with the jurisdiction of a police station. The head-quarters shall be at some convenient place within those limits.

5. The District Registrar's nomination, with the accompanying applications and certificates, shall be forwarded to Government by the Inspector-General of Registration with his remarks and recommendation.

Liability to examination.

6. Should such a course appear expedient hereafter, all Mahomedan Registrars who may have been appointed under these rules, and all future applicants for licenses, shall be liable to examination in the following subjects:—

(1.) Arabic and vernacular of the district.
(2.) Mahomedan law of marriage and divorce.
(3.) Act I of 1876 (B.C.), and the rules.

And if any person who has been appointed a Mahomedan Registrar fail to pass such examination, his license will be liable to be cancelled. Such examination may be held at such times and places and by such examiners as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time appoint.

Form of license.

7. Licenses to qualified persons who have been approved of as Mahomedan Registrars will be granted in the following form:—

License under Section 3, Act I (B.C.) of 1876.

Calcutta, the 187 .

BY virtue of the authority conferred upon His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by Act I (B.C.) of 1876, you are hereby authorized to register, in the manner prescribed by the above Act, all Mahomedan marriages and divorces which shall be effected within on application being made to you for such registration.

2. It will be your duty carefully to observe the provisions of the above-mentioned Act, and such rules as may from time to time be prescribed by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in pursuance of the power conferred upon him by the above Act.

3. This license shall continue in force until it is revoked or suspended by the said Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

By order of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Registration of license.

8. When a Mahomedan Registrar desires to give up his license, or is about to leave the place or district in which he has exercised the functions of Mahomedan Registrar, he shall report the circumstances through the District Registrar to the Inspector-General of Assurances for the orders of Government.

Change of officers.

9. When a Mahomedan Registrar makes over charge of his office to a licensed successor, a certificate shall be jointly given of the date on which the office is made over, and of the safety and correctness of the records; and this certificate shall be forwarded by the District Registrar to the Inspector-General.

Leave.

10. Mahomedan Registrars shall not be entitled to leave as of right under the rules in force for Government servants. The District Registrar may, however, grant leave in cases of urgency, but no leave exceeding one month shall be granted without the previous sanction of the Inspector-General. All leave shall be at once reported to that officer, together with the arrangements made for carrying on the duties of the Mahomedan Registrar.

11. In cases of leave or absence from duty, the next nearest Mahomedan Registrar shall ordinarily be appointed to carry on the duties of the absentee in addition to his own.

Not entitled to pension.

12. It is not intended that service as a Mahomedan Registrar shall count as Government service, so as to give rise to any claim for pension or gratuity, or to leave allowances of any kind; but it is not intended by this to preclude the appointment of Sub-Registrars or retired Government servants to be Mahomedan Registrars.

General control.

13. The general control and supervision of the working of the Act shall be exercised by the present inspecting staff attached to the Department for the Registration of Assurances.

Books and stationery.

14. The registers, forms, and seal to be used by a Mahomedan Registrar shall be such only as are supplied by Government under section 5 of the Act. The Government shall also supply writing ink; and no ink shall be used for making entries in the registers and indexes other than that supplied. The Government may also supply such other articles of stationery as are requisite. All such registers, forms, seals, ink, and other articles shall be charged at cost price, and shall ordinarily be paid for by the Mahomedan Registrar at the time they are supplied. But in any case, when the District Registrar thinks it necessary, he may defer the realization of the charge for a term not exceeding three months. In case of failure to pay at the prescribed period, the District Registrar should report the case for orders to the Inspector-General of Registration.

Custody of seals.

15. The seal shall always remain in the personal custody of the Mahomedan Registrar, and shall be made over with the records to the officer appointed to receive the same whenever a Mahomedan Registrar ceases, either temporarily or permanently, to exercise his functions.

16. A printed table of fees in the vernacular of the district shall be suspended in some conspicuous place in every Mahomedan Registrar's office.

Disposal of fees.

17. The fees received by a Mahomedan Registrar under sections 9 and 16 of the Act, and rules 21 and 30, may be retained by him as his lawful remuneration, provided that he duly pays for the registers and other articles supplied to him under rule 14. All fees received by a District Registrar shall be credited to Government in the same way as fees realized under the Indian Registration Act.

Attendance at marriages.

18. When the attendance of a Mahomedan Registrar is required at the celebration of a marriage, the party requiring his attendance may make a written application to the Mahomedan Registrar, specifying the place and time of the marriage, and that officer may attend, provided the prescribed fees and expenses have been paid.

19. It shall be lawful for a Mahomedan Registrar to travel on circuit within his jurisdiction for the purpose of attending at the celebration of marriages, provided that at least 15 days before the beginning of each month he affix at his office a public notice specifying the dates on which he will be at the several places which he proposes to visit, and on a written application made by any resident of such place, not less than one week before the date so fixed, he shall be bound to attend at the house of such resident at the time fixed for the celebration of the marriage.

20. Priority of application shall in all cases determine the order in which the Mahomedan Registrar shall be bound to attend such marriages in case any question of precedence arise.

21. The following fees are prescribed for the attendance of a Mahomedan Registrar attending at the celebration of a marriage:—

(1.) For attending a marriage under rule 18 at a place and time fixed by the parties, Rs. 10, plus travelling expenses at the rate of four annas a mile.

(2.) For attending the celebration of a marriage under rule 19 at a place and time fixed by the Registrar himself, Rs. 2. In such cases no travelling expenses will be charged.

22. The fees, together with the travelling allowance, must be deposited by the applicant at the time of applying for the attendance of the Mahomedan Registrar.

23. When a Mahomedan Registrar is present at the celebration of a marriage, he shall make an entry of the fact in the Register of Marriages (A), and a copy of such entry shall be included in the copies to be made under sections 12, 15, and 22 of the Act.

Procedure on application to Registrar in absence of any of the parties.

24. If all the persons who, by section 11 of the Act, are required to sign the entry of the marriage or divorce in the proper register are not present, registration shall be deferred until they are all present; provided that no marriage or divorce for registration of which application has been made within one month as required by section 9, shall be registered after the expiration of three months from the date on which the marriage or divorce was effected.

25. The Mahomedan Registrar shall satisfy himself whether or not a marriage was effected by the persons by whom it is represented to have been effected in the following manner:—

Procedure before registration.

(1) by examining the parties to the marriage, or, if either or both of them are minors, their lawful guardians. If the woman be a purdah-nishin, her duly authorized vakil shall be examined, instead of the woman;

(2) by examining the two witnesses who were present at the marriage.

26. The Mahomedan Registrar shall satisfy himself whether or not a divorce, other than the kind known as khula, was effected by the man by whom it is represented to have been effected by examining that man; and if he be of the Sheah sect, by also examining the two witnesses to the divorce being effected.

27. The Mahomedan Registrar shall satisfy himself that a divorce of the kind known as khula was effected by the persons by whom it was represented to have been effected in the following manner:—

(1) by examining the parties to the khula, provided that if the woman be a purdah-nishin, her duly constituted vakil shall be examined instead of the woman;

(2) if the man be of the Sheah sect, by also examining the two witnesses to the divorce being effected.

28. The Mahomedan Registrar shall satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing before him as witnesses of a marriage or divorce, unless they are otherwise personally known to him, by examining at least one witness to the identity of each person so appearing.

29. In the case of any person appearing as the representative of the man or woman (whether he appears as guardian or vakil), the Mahomedan Registrar shall satisfy himself of the right of such person to appear by examining such person. If a vakil so appear, the Mahomedan Registrar shall further examine witnesses to the fact of the vakil having been duly authorized to appear.

30. When the entry of the marriage or divorce has been made in the proper register, it shall be read over by the Mahomedan Registrar to the persons who, by section 11, are required to sign such entry. If they admit its correctness, the entry shall then be signed by them.

31. When a person who cannot write signs his name by means of a mark, his name shall be recorded at length, and the writer shall also sign his name in attestation that the mark was affixed in his presence.

32. If a Mahomedan Registrar discovers any error in the form or substance of any entry of a marriage or divorce made by him, he may within one month next after the discovery of such error, in the presence of the persons married, or, in case of their death or absence, in the presence of two other credible witnesses, correct the error by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry and add thereto the date of such correction, and he shall also make the like marginal entry in the copies thereof.

Correction of errors.

And every entry made under this section shall be attested by the witnesses in whose presence it was made.

And, in case a copy has been already sent to the Registrar, such person shall make and send another copy thereof, containing both the original erroneous entry and the marginal correction therein made.

33. No erasures shall be made with a knife in any register book or record, but mistakes shall be corrected, when necessary, with the pen, and shall be invariably attested by the registering officer. Corrections are not to be obliterated or blotted out, so as to be illegible; but a line is to be drawn through erroneous words with the pen, so that they may remain legible.

34. The circumstances under which registration of a marriage or divorce should be refused are as follows:—

Refusal to register.

(1.) If the marriage or divorce was not effected within the jurisdiction of the Marriage Registrar to whom application for registration is made.

(2.) If the application is not made by the persons specified in section 8 of the Act.

I. Every vessel on entering any of the above canals shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorized by Government to be charged on the canal.

II. The tonnage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and of these Rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

(a.) The product of half the length of the vessel, from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b.) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c.) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on vessels exceeding 100 maunds tonnage, any fraction of 100 maunds less than 25 maunds is to be omitted; exceeding 25 and not exceeding 50 maunds, is to be charged as 25 maunds only; exceeding 50, and not exceeding 75 maunds, to be charged as 50 maunds only; and exceeding 75 maunds as 75 maunds only. Above 1,000 maunds no fraction of 100 maunds tonnage is to be charged Toll will be charged on vessels under 100 maunds tonnage on the actual measurements of the vessels, omitting fractions of tens of maunds.

III. Every vessel entering any of the above canals shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date the vessel entered the canal, the point to which it may proceed in the canal, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, and the number of days for which the vessel may remain in the canal, and the date of such last day. The number of days which the vessel may remain in the canal, without additional payment, shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed.

IV. Toll may be paid at the first station either for the entire number of toll stations on the line of navigation, or for any less number of stations.

V. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorized Canal Officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The ticket shall be delivered up at the last toll station.

VI. Owners of vessels may compound by the payment of a fixed sum for the use of the whole or a portion of any of the above canals for any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. Each vessel so compounded for shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded for, and the limits of the canal within which the vessel may pass; such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under Rule V, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

VII. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and the dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by officers in charge of toll stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

VIII. Vessels remaining in the canals for a period exceeding that allowed under Rule III, will pay a demurrage of eight annas per 100 maunds per diem for each day or part of a day that they may remain in excess.

IX. No boats above 18 feet beam over all, and no rafts or floats of more than 10 feet width and 150 in length, will be allowed to enter the canals.

X. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

XI. Vessels must have their masts fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed; and when under sail, vessels must always keep in the middle of the canal; when being tracked, vessels are, as far as practicable, to keep to their port or left side of the canals.

XII. All vessels anchoring at night are to keep to their port or left bank of the canals.

XIII. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a Canal Officer. No vessels shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation; and no bamboos or poles shall be allowed to be erected on vessels when at anchor. Any infringement of this rule will be punishable by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XIV. Every vessel when put to shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board of it: any infringement of this rule will be punishable, by a fine not exceeding rupees 5 for each offence.

XV. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Canal Officers, these Officers may undertake the removal of the obstruction themselves at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in Section IX of the "Canals' Act, 1864."

XVI. If the Canal Officers be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boat seized under the "Canals' Act," he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

XVII. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the Canal Officers may detain the vessel within the canal for a period not exceeding 24 hours, provided that within that period, the Canal Officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under Section XVI of the "Canals' Act."

XVIII. The banks or berms of the canals shall not be used as wharves for the deposit of goods, under a penalty of Rs. 10 for each offence; but, except in special cases, when the permission of the Canal Officers will be necessary, all articles shall be removed to the outer banks of the canals, and all such articles as shall not be finally removed from within the boundaries of the canals within a period of six days after being so deposited, shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds.

XIX. The canals may be closed once a year, for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

XX. All offences against the provisions of these Rules shall be punishable as provided for in Section XVIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and all fines imposed may be recovered in the manner mentioned in Section XVII of the same Act.

XXI. The term "Canal Officers" in the foregoing Rules shall include the persons alluded to in Section VIII of the "Canals' Act, 1864," and any other persons who may be specially appointed to exercise such powers by the person appointed to collect the tolls.

PART III.

Act of the Bengal Council.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Act, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 22nd December 1875, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 24th March 1876, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. III OF 1876.

An Act to provide for Irrigation in the Provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the construction, maintenance, and regulation of canals, for the supply of water therefrom, and for the levy of rates for water so supplied, in the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal: It is hereby enacted:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. THIS Act may be called "The Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876."

Local extent and commencement.

It shall take effect in those districts in the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to which the said Lieutenant-Governor shall extend it by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette; and shall commence on the day which shall be in such order provided for the commencement thereof.

Repeal of Acts.

2. The enactments specified in Schedule (A) hereto annexed are repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the said schedule.

Interpretation clause.

3. In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Canal."

(i) "Canal" includes—

(a) all canals, channels, and reservoirs hitherto constructed, maintained, or controlled by Government for the supply or storage of water, or which may hereafter be so constructed, maintained, or controlled;

(b) all works, embankments, structures, supply and escape-channels connected with such canals, channels, or reservoirs;

(c) all village-channels as defined in clause (ii) of this section;

(d) all drainage-works as defined in clause (iii) of this section;

(e) any part of a river, stream, lake, natural collection of water, or natural drainage-channel, to which the Lieutenant-Governor has applied the provisions of Part II of this Act, or of which the water has been applied or used before the passing of this Act for the purposes of any existing canal;

(f) all lands on the banks of any canal as defined in articles (a), (b), (c), (d), and (e) of this clause, which have been acquired by Government;

"Village-channel."

(ii) "Village-channel" means any channel by which water is led from a canal directly into the fields to be irrigated, and includes all subsidiary works connected with any such channel, except the sluice or outlet through which water is supplied from a canal to such channel.

(iii) "Drainage-work" means any work in connection with a system of irrigation which has been or may hereafter be made or improved by the Government for the purposes of the drainage of the country, whether under the provisions of Part IV of this Act or otherwise, and includes escape-channels from a canal, dams, weirs, embankments, sluices, groins, and other works connected therewith, but does not include works for the removal of sewage from towns.

"Drainage-work."

(iv) "Flood-embankment" means any embankment constructed or maintained by the officers of Government in connection with any system of irrigation works for the protection of lands from inundation, or which may be declared by the Lieutenant-Governor to be maintained in connection with any such system; and includes all groins, spurs, dams, and other protective works connected with such embankments;

"Flood-embankment."

(v) "Collector" means the head Revenue Officer of a district, and includes any officer appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to exercise all or any of the powers of a Collector under this Act;

"Collector."

(vi) "Court" means, in the Regulation Provinces, a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction, and in the Non-Regulation Provinces, the Court of a Commissioner of a Division, unless when the Lieutenant-Governor has appointed (as he is hereby empowered to do), either specially for any case, or generally within any specified local limits, a judicial officer to perform the functions of a judge under this Act, and then the expression Court means the Court of such officer.

"Court."

(vii) "Canal Officer" means an officer appointed under this Act to exercise control or jurisdiction over a canal or any part thereof; and includes every officer to whom any of the functions of a Canal Officer under this Act have been assigned by the Lieutenant-Governor.

"Canal Officer."

"Section."

(viii) "Section" means a section of this Act.

(ix) "Owner" includes every person having a joint interest in the ownership of the thing specified; and all rights and obligations which attach to an owner under the provisions of this Act shall attach jointly and severally to every person having such joint interest in the ownership.

"Owner."

4. Nothing contained in the Bengal Embankment Act, 1873, shall apply to any canal or flood-embankment as defined in this Act.

Bengal Embankment Act not applicable to canals.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time declare, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, the officers by whom, and the local limits within which, all or any of the powers or duties hereinafter conferred or imposed shall be exercised or performed.

Power to appoint officers.

OF THE APPLICATION OF WATER FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES.

6. Whenever it appears expedient to the Lieutenant-Governor that the water of any river or stream flowing in a natural channel, or of any lake or other natural collection of still water, should be applied or used by the Government for the purpose of any existing or projected canal;

Notification to issue when water-supply is to be applied for public purposes.

the Lieutenant-Governor may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that the said water will be so applied or used after a day to be named in the said notification, not being earlier than three months from the date thereof.

7. At any time after the day so named, any Canal Officer, acting under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor in this behalf, may enter on any land and remove any obstructions, and may close any channels, and do any other thing necessary for such application or use of the said water.

Powers of Canal Officer.

8. As soon as is practicable after the issue of such notification, the Collector shall cause public notice to be given at convenient places, stating that the Government intends to apply or use the said water as aforesaid, and that claims for compensation in respect of the matters mentioned in section eleven may be made before him.

Notice as to claims for compensation.

A copy of sections eleven, twelve and thirteen shall be annexed to every such notice.

9. When any claim for compensation is made before the Collector in accordance with the last preceding section, the Collector shall issue a notice requiring all persons interested in the matter in respect of which compensation is claimed, to appear personally or by agent before him at a time and place therein mentioned (such time not being earlier than fifteen days after the date of publication of the notice), and to state the nature of their respective interests in the property affected, and the amount and particulars of their claims to compensation for such interests.

Contents of notice.

The Collector shall also serve notice to the same effect on the occupier (if any) of the land entered on, and on such persons known or believed to be interested in the matter in respect of which compensation is claimed, or to be entitled to act for persons so interested, as reside within his district.

Notice to occupiers.

10. The Collector may also require any person on whom a notice may be served under the last preceding section, and who makes a claim for compensation in accordance therewith, to deliver to him a statement containing, so far as may be practicable, the name of every other person possessing any interest in the property affected or any part thereof, as co-proprietor, sub-proprietor, mortgagee, tenant, or otherwise, and of the nature of such interest, and of the rents and profits (if any) received or receivable on account thereof for the year next preceding the date of the statement.

Power to require statements as to name and interests.

Penalty for failure to comply.

If any person shall fail to comply within the time fixed by the notice with a requisition made under this section, the Collector may impose upon him such daily fine as he may think fit, not exceeding fifty rupees; and such fine shall be payable daily until the requisition is complied with, and the Collector may proceed from time to time to levy the amount which has become due in respect of any such fine, notwithstanding that an appeal against the order imposing such fine may be pending;

Provided that whenever the amount levied under any such order shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner, and no further levy in respect of such fine shall be made otherwise than by authority of the Commissioner.

Persons required to make statements to be deemed legally bound to do so.

Every person required to make or deliver a statement under this section shall be deemed to be legally bound to do so within the meaning of sections one hundred and seventy-five and one hundred and seventy-six of the Indian Penal Code.

Damage for which compensation shall not be awarded.

11. No compensation shall be awarded for any damage caused by—

(a) stoppage or diminution of percolation or floods;

(b) deterioration of climate or soil;

(c) stoppage of navigation, or of the means of rafting timber or watering cattle.

Matters in respect of which compensation may be awarded.

But compensation may be awarded in respect of any of the following matters:—

(d) stoppage or diminution of supply of water through any natural channel to any defined artificial channel, whether above or under ground, in use at the date of the issue of the notification under section six:

(e) stoppage or diminution of supply of water to any work erected for purposes of profit on any channel, whether natural or artificial, in use at the date of the said notification:

(f) stoppage or diminution of supply of water through any natural channel which has been used for purposes of irrigation within the five years next before the date of the said notification:

(g) damage done in respect of any right to a water-course or the use of any water to which any person is entitled under the Indian Limitation Act, 1871, Part IV:

(h) any other substantial damage, not falling under any of the above clauses (a), (b), or (c), and caused by the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, which is capable of being ascertained and estimated at the time of awarding such compensation.

Compensation for loss of tolls lawfully levied.

Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (c), compensation may be awarded in respect of the loss of any tolls which were lawfully levied on any river or channel at the time of the issue of the notification mentioned in section six.

Diminution in market-value to be considered.

In determining the amount of compensation under this section, regard shall be had to the diminution in the market-value, at the time of awarding compensation, of the property in respect of which compensation is claimed; and where such market-value is not ascertainable, the amount shall be reckoned at twelve times the amount of the diminution of the annual net profits of such property, caused by the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act.

No right to any such supply of water as is referred to in clauses (d), (e), or (f) of this section, in respect of a work or channel not in use at the date of the notification, shall be acquired as against the Government, except by grant or under the Indian Limitation Act, 1871, Part IV.

Compensation for loss of drinking-water.

12. If any supply of drinking-water is substantially deteriorated or diminished by any works undertaken in accordance with a declaration made by the Lieutenant-Governor under section six, the Canal Officer shall be bound to provide within convenient distance an adequate supply of good drinking-water in lieu of that so deteriorated or diminished, and no person shall be entitled to claim any further compensation in respect of the said deterioration or diminution.

Limitation of claims.

13. No claim for compensation for any such stoppage, diminution, or damage shall be entertained after the expiration of six months from such stoppage, diminution, or damage, unless the Collector is satisfied that the claimant had sufficient cause for not making the claim within such period.

Enquiry into claim and tender of compensation.

14. On the day fixed in the notice mentioned in section nine, the Collector shall proceed to enquire summarily into the claim and to determine the amount of compensation which in his opinion should be allowed therefor, and shall tender such amount to the persons interested who have attended in pursuance of the notice given under section nine.

Power to summon witnesses.

For the purpose of such enquiry, the Collector shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and to compel the production of documents by the same means and, as far as may be, in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Postponement of enquiry.

15. The Collector may, if no claimant attends pursuant to the notice, or if for any other cause he thinks fit, from time to time postpone the enquiry to a day to be fixed by him.

Award in case of agreement.

16. If the Collector and the persons interested agree as to the amount of compensation to be allowed, the Collector shall make an award under his hand for the same.

Award to be filed and to be evidence.

Such award shall be filed in the Collector's office, and shall be conclusive, as between the Collector and the persons interested, of the value of the said property and the amount of compensation allowed for the same.

17. If the Collector and the persons interested do not agree as to the amount of compensation to be allowed, or if upon the said enquiry any question respecting the title to the property of which the value has been diminished, or any rights thereto, or interest therein, arises between or among two or more persons making conflicting claims in respect thereof, the Collector shall refer the matter to the determination of the Court in manner hereinafter provided.

Collector to refer the matter to Court when compensation not accepted as sufficient.

18. If, when the Collector proceeds to make the enquiry as mentioned in sections fourteen and fifteen, no claimant attends, or if any person whom the Collector has reason to think interested, does not attend, the Collector shall hold a proceeding and record the following particulars :—

Collector to record certain particulars in certain cases.

(a) the nature and extent of the property of which the value has been diminished and in respect of which compensation is claimed, and the character and extent of the damage done ;

(b) the names of the persons whom he has reason to think interested in such property ;

(c) the amount fixed by him as compensation ; and

(d) the grounds on which such amount was determined ; and shall place the amount so fixed by him in deposit, there to be held on account of the persons interested, and shall issue a notice to the persons believed to be interested, informing them that the said amount has been deposited as required by this section, and that, should no application be made to the Court (as provided in the next succeeding section) within six weeks of the issue of the notice on the last of the persons named therein, the Collector will pay the amount to any persons legally authorized to receive and to give an acquittance for the same.

And to place the amount of compensation in deposit.

19. Any person on whom notice may be served under the last preceding section, and any person interested in any property in respect of which such notice has been issued, may, within six weeks of the service of such notice, apply to the Court stating his objection to the amount of compensation as fixed by the Collector under the last preceding section, and the amount which he claims as compensation. On receipt of such application the Court shall proceed to determine the amount of compensation to be paid on account of the claim and all other matters, as if a reference had been made to it under section seventeen.

Objections may be made to the amount of compensation fixed by the Collector.

20. In making a reference under section seventeen the Collector shall state, for the information of the Court, the particulars mentioned in section eighteen.

Procedure in making reference under section seventeen.

21. On receipt of a reference under section seventeen the Court shall proceed, as far as may be practicable, in accordance with sections nineteen to twenty-three (inclusive), and sections twenty-six to thirty-six (inclusive) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870.

Procedure on receipt of a reference under section seventeen.

Provided that instead of the last clause of the said section twenty-six, the following shall be read: "The provisions of this section and of section eleven of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876, shall be read to every assessor in a language which he understands, before he gives his opinion as to the amount of compensation to be awarded."

22. Where there are several persons interested, if such persons agree in the apportionment of the compensation, the particulars of such apportionment shall be specified in the award, whether such award be made by the Collector or by the Court, and as between such persons the award shall be conclusive evidence of the correctness of the apportionment.

Particulars of apportionment to be specified.

23. When the amount of compensation has been settled under section sixteen, if any dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof, the Collector shall refer such dispute to the decision of the Court.

Disputes as to apportionment.

All costs entailed by such a reference and the proceedings of the Court thereon shall be paid by the parties who dispute the apportionment of the compensation, in such proportions as the Court may direct, and the Collector shall not be required to disburse any such costs, nor shall any such costs be recovered from the Collector.

24. When the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court, and there is any dispute as to the apportionment thereof, or when a reference to the Court has been made under the last preceding section, the Judge sitting alone shall decide the proportions in which the persons interested are entitled to share in such amount.

Determination of proportions.

An appeal shall lie from every such decision to the High Court, unless the Judge whose decision is appealed from is not the District Judge, in which case the appeal shall lie in the first instance to the District Judge.

Appeal.

Every appeal under this section shall be presented within the time and in manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure for regular appeals in suits.

25. Payment of the compensation shall be made by the Collector in accordance with the award made by him under section sixteen ; or the proceeding held by him under section eighteen, if no application be made to the Court as provided by section nineteen; or the award made by the Court or the decision of the Judge under section twenty-one; or, in the case of an appeal under section twenty-four, in accordance with the decision in appeal, as the case may be.

Payment of compensation.

26. The amount of compensation fixed by any award, proceeding, or decision as specified in the last preceding section, shall be deemed to be the full amount payable by the Government in respect of the claim dealt with therein; and the Government shall not be liable for any further claim to any person whatever in respect of any matter which was the subject of such award, proceeding, or decision, nor shall any such claim be made against the Government in respect of the payment of any portion of such compensation in accordance with any award, proceeding, or decision as aforesaid, or in accordance with any decision of the Judge, or of the District Judge or of the High Court in appeal, as the case may be, under section twenty-four; and no suit shall be brought to set aside an award or decision under this Act.

Government not liable to any further claim.

Liability of person receiving compensation not affected.

27. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall affect the liability of any person who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

Abatement of rent on interruption of water-supply.

28. Every tenant holding under an unexpired lease, or having a right of occupancy, who is in occupation of any land at the time when any stoppage or diminution of the supply, in respect of which compensation is allowed under section eleven, takes place, may claim an abatement of the rent previously payable by him for the said land, on the ground that the interruption reduces the value of the holding; provided that no part of the said compensation shall have been received by the said tenant in respect of such reduction in the value of his holding.

Enhancement of rent on restoration of water-supply.

29. If a water-supply increasing the value of such holding is afterwards restored to the said land otherwise than at the cost of the tenant, the rent of the tenant may be enhanced, in respect of the increased value of such land due to the restored water-supply, to an amount not exceeding that at which it stood immediately before the abatement.

Such enhancement shall be on account only of the restored water-supply, and shall not affect the liability of the tenant to enhancement of rent on any other grounds.

Compensation when due.

30. All sums of money payable for compensation under this Part shall become due three months after the claim for such compensation is made in respect of the stoppage, diminution, or damage complained of, and simple interest at the rate of six per centum per annum shall be allowed on any such sum remaining unpaid after the said three months, except where the non-payment of such sum is caused by the wilful neglect or refusal of the claimant to receive the same.

Interest.

Collector may invest amount deposited or awarded in Government securities.

Provided that the Collector may at any time invest the whole or any portion of the amount payable as compensation under this Act in any Government securities, and such securities shall be held by the Collector for the benefit of the persons interested, and the persons interested shall be bound to receive such securities with any interest which may have accrued upon them as full payment of the sum which the Collector paid for such securities, and of any sum which he may have paid as expenses incurred in purchasing the same, and of any interest which might otherwise have accrued on such sums.

Compensation not claimable in respect of works executed before Act came into force.

31. No compensation shall be claimable under this Act in respect of any works executed before it came into force, or of any damage, injury, or loss caused by such works.

Service of notice.

32. Service of any notice under this Part shall be made by delivering or tendering a copy thereof signed by the officer therein mentioned.

Whenever it may be practicable, the service of the notice shall be made on the person therein named.

When such person cannot be found, the service may be made on any adult male member of his family residing with him; and if no such adult male member can be found, the notice may be served by fixing the copy on the outer door of the house in which the person therein named ordinarily dwells or carries on business; and if such person has no ordinary place of residence within the district, service of any notice may be made by sending copy of such notice by post, in a registered cover addressed to such person at his usual place of residence.

PART III.

OF THE MAINTENANCE OF CANALS.

Entry for inquiry.

33. Whenever it shall be necessary to make any enquiry or examination in connection with a projected canal or with the maintenance of an existing canal, or with a projected flood-embankment or with the maintenance of an existing flood-embankment, any Canal Officer or other person acting under the general or special orders of a Canal Officer, may enter upon such lands as he may think necessary for the purpose, and may exercise all powers and do all things in respect of such lands as he might exercise and do if the Government had issued a notification under the provisions of section four of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, to the effect that land in that locality is likely to be needed for a public purpose; and may set up and maintain water-gauges, and do all other things necessary for the prosecution of such enquiry and examination.

Power to inspect and regulate water-supply.

34. Such Canal Officer or other person may also enter upon any land, building, or village-channel on account of which any water-rate is chargeable, for the purpose of inspecting or regulating the use of the water supplied, or of measuring the lands irrigated thereby or chargeable with a water-rate, and of doing all things necessary for the proper regulation and management of the canal from which such water is supplied.

Power to enter for repairs, and to prevent accidents.

35. In case of any accident being apprehended or happening to a canal or flood-embankment, any Canal Officer or any person acting under his general or special orders in this behalf, may enter upon any lands adjacent to such canal or flood-embankment, and may execute all works which may be necessary for the purpose of preventing such accident, or repairing any damage done.

Notice to occupier of building, &c.

36. When such Canal Officer or person proposes, under the provisions of either of the three last preceding sections, to enter into any building or enclosed court or garden attached to a dwelling-house not supplied with water flowing from any canal, and not being adjacent to a flood-embankment, he shall previously give to the occupier of such building, court, or garden such reasonable notice as the urgency of the case may allow.

Compensation for damage to land.

37. In every case of entry upon any land or building under section seven, section thirty-three, section thirty-four, or section thirty-five, the Canal Officer or person making the entry shall ascertain and record the nature of any crop, tree, building, or other property, to which damage has been done, and the extent of the damage done to any such property, and shall tender compensation to the proprietors or occupiers for all damage done to the same by the entry or by any works executed. If such tender is not accepted, the Canal Officer shall refer the matter to the Collector, who shall thereupon give notice in writing to the persons interested in such land and to the Canal Officer, requiring them to attend before him, on a date to be fixed in the notice, for the purpose of making enquiry as to the amount of compensation.

Appeal from Collector's decision to Commissioner's.

38. After such enquiry as he may think necessary, the Collector shall decide the amount of compensation payable; and such decision shall be subject to an appeal to the Commissioner of the Division, provided that such appeal be presented to the Commissioner, or to the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within thirty days of the decision appealed against.

If no such appeal be preferred, the decision of the Collector, or if such appeal be preferred, the decision of the Commissioner, shall be final and conclusive.

Government to provide means of crossing canals and of drainage.

39. Suitable means of crossing canals constructed or maintained at the cost of Government shall be provided at such places as the Lieutenant-Governor thinks necessary for the reasonable convenience of the inhabitants of the adjacent lands; and suitable bridges, culverts, or other works shall be constructed to prevent the drainage of the adjacent lands being obstructed by any canal.

Collector to certify to the Government that means of crossing canals and drainage have been provided.

On the completion of any canal, or of any convenient section of any canal, the Collector, after causing such inspection to be made as may be necessary, shall certify to the Government that suitable and sufficient means of crossing the canal, and suitable and sufficient means of drainage, as aforesaid, have been provided; or shall report in what respects the provision made for the above purposes is defective; and if at any time after he shall have given such certificate it shall be brought to his notice that the provision made as above has proved insufficient, the Collector shall cause inquiry to be made into the circumstances of the case, and if the statement is established, shall report his opinion thereon for the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Lieutenant-Governor shall cause such measures in reference thereto to be taken as he thinks proper.

PART IV.

OF DRAINAGE.

Lieutenant-Governor may prohibit formation of obstructions within certain limits.

40. Whenever it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that injury to the public health or public convenience, or to any canal, or to any land for which irrigation from a canal is available, has arisen or may arise from the obstruction of any river, stream, or natural drainage-course, the Lieutenant-Governor may, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, prohibit, within limits to be defined in such notification, the formation of any such obstruction, or may, within such limits, order the removal or other modification of such obstruction.

Thereupon so much of the said river, stream, or natural drainage-channel as is comprised within such limits shall be held to be a drainage-work as defined in section three.

Canal Officer may issue notice to person causing obstructions.

41. The Canal Officer or other person authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor in that behalf, may, after such publication, issue an order to the person causing or having control over any such obstruction, to remove or modify the same within a time to be fixed in the order.

Canal Officer may cause obstructions to be removed.

42. If, within the time so fixed, such person does not comply with the order, the Canal Officer may cause the obstruction to be removed or modified, and if the person to whom the order was issued does not, when called upon, pay the expenses of such removal or modification, such expenses shall be recoverable as a demand under the provisions of section one, Bengal Act VII of 1868 (an Act to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of land revenue and public demands recoverable as arrears of revenue).

When drainage works are necessary Lieutenant-Governor may order a scheme to be drawn up and carried out.

43. Whenever it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that any drainage works are necessary for the public health, or for the improvement or proper cultivation or irrigation of any lands in districts to which the provisions of the Bengal Embankment Act 1873 do not apply, or that protection from floods or other accumulations of water, or from erosion by a river, is required for any lands, the Lieutenant-Governor may cause a scheme for such works to be drawn up and carried into execution, and the persons authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor to draw up and execute such scheme may exercise in connection therewith all or any of the powers conferred on Canal Officers by sections thirty-three, thirty-four, and thirty-five, and shall be liable to any or all of the obligations imposed upon Canal Officers by sections thirty-six and thirty-seven.

Disposal of claims to compensation.

44. Whenever, in pursuance of a notification made under section forty, any obstruction is removed or modified; or whenever any drainage-work is carried out under the last preceding section, all claims for compensation on account of any loss consequent on the removal or modification of the said obstruction or the construction of such work, may be made before the Collector, and he shall deal with the same in the manner provided in Part II; but no compensation shall be allowed for any damage arising from increase of percolation.

45. No such claim shall be entertained after the expiration of six months from the occurrence of the loss complained of, unless the Collector is satisfied that the claimant had sufficient cause for not making the claim within such period.

Limitation of such claims.

PART V.

OF VILLAGE-CHANNELS.

46. "Person" in this Part includes any number of persons acting jointly.

Definition of person.

47. The Canal Officer shall keep a register of all village-channels, whether already existing or constructed under this Act, and shall note thereon in respect of every village-channel whether it is a public channel maintained at the cost of the Government, or a private channel maintained at the cost of the owners; and shall register the names of the owners of every such private channel.

Register of village-channels to be kept.

A village-channel made as an extension of, or a branch to, an existing village-channel shall be registered as a separate village-channel; and so much of the length of any village-channel as lies within the limits of any one village or mouzah shall be entered on the register as a separate village-channel. Every section of a village-channel so separately entered on the register shall be deemed to be a separate village-channel in respect of all rights and liabilities imposed by this Act.

Extension or branch of village-channel to be registered.

Provided always that whenever it shall seem fit to the Canal Officer for any special reason to enter upon his register as one village-channel a section of a village-channel which includes portions lying within two or more villages or mouzahs, the Canal Officer may, with the consent of the Collector obtained in writing, register such section as one village-channel, and such section shall be deemed to be one village-channel in respect of all rights and liabilities imposed by this Act.

Canal Officer may register as one village-channel a section including portions lying within two or more villages.

48. Any person may, with the consent of the Canal Officer, acquire the property in an existing village-channel for the purpose of improving or maintaining it—

Any person may acquire an existing village-channel by agreement.

(a) by taking over any village-channel belonging to Government;

(b) by transfer of a village-channel from the owner thereof by private agreement.

49. Any person may, with the permission of a Canal Officer, construct a new village-channel if he has obtained the consent of the owners and occupiers of the land required therefor.

Any person may construct a new village-channel with consent of owners or occupiers.

50. Any person desiring the construction of a new village-channel, but being unable or unwilling to construct it under a private arrangement with the owners and occupiers of the land affected, as mentioned in the last preceding section, may apply in writing to the Canal Officer stating that he desires the said Canal Officer, in his behalf and at his cost, to do all things necessary for constructing such village-channel; that he is ready to defray all costs necessary for acquiring the land and constructing such village-channel.

Any person may construct village-channel by applying to Canal Officer.

51. If the Canal Officer considers the construction of such village-channel expedient, he may call upon the applicant to deposit any part of the expense such Officer may consider necessary, and upon such deposit being made, shall cause inquiry to be made into the most suitable alignment for the said village-channel, and shall mark out the land which, in his opinion, it will be necessary to occupy for the construction thereof, and shall forthwith publish a notification in every village through which the village-channel is proposed to be taken, that so much of such land as is situated within such village has been so marked out, and shall send a copy of such notification to the Collector of every district in which any part of such land is known to be situate for publication on such land.

Procedure when Canal Officer considers construction of village-channel expedient.

Such notification shall also call upon any person who wishes to be admitted a joint owner of such village-channel to make his application in that respect within thirty days of the publication of such notification. If any such applicant appears, and his application is admitted, he shall be liable to pay his share in the construction of such village-channel and in the cost of acquiring such land, and shall be an owner of such village-channel when constructed.

Person wishing to be joint owner must make his application within thirty days.

52. On receipt of copy of such notification, the Collector shall proceed to acquire such land under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, as if a declaration had been issued by the Government for the acquisition thereof under section six of that Act, and as if the Government had thereupon directed the Collector to take order for the acquisition of such land under section seven of the said Act, and (if necessary) as if the Government had issued orders for summary possession being taken under section seventeen of the said Act.

Collector to acquire land.

53. On being put in possession of the land the Canal Officer shall construct the required village-channel; and on its completion shall give to the applicant notice thereof, and of any sum payable by him on account of the cost of acquiring the land and constructing the village-channel. On such notice being given, such sum shall be due from the applicant to the Canal Officer. On receipt of payment in full of all expenses incurred, Procedure after construction of village-channel.

Canal Officer may direct transfer of a village-channel.

54. Whenever a Canal Officer considers that the transfer of a village channel from the owner is necessary for the proper management of the irrigation from such village-channel, he may cause a notice to be served on the registered owner to appear on a certain day, not less than fifteen days after service of notice, and to prefer any objection to such transfer. After hearing such objection the Canal Officer may order that such village-channel shall be transferred to such person as he may think fit, and that such person be registered as owner of the said village-channel:

Provided that no person shall be registered as the owner of a village-channel under this section, unless he has expressed in writing his willingness to be so registered, and until he has paid to the Canal Officer such sum as may be fixed by the Canal Officer under section fifty-six.

A person may be admitted joint owner of an existing village-channel.

55. Any person wishing to become the joint owner of an existing village-channel may petition the Canal Officer to that effect, and on receipt of such petition the Canal Officer may, if he think fit, issue a notice as provided in the last preceding section, upon the registered owner, and after hearing any objection which the registered owner may prefer against the admission of such applicant to be a joint owner, may direct that the applicant shall be registered as such joint owner.

Canal Officer shall determine compensation to be paid for transfer or acquisition of joint ownership.

56. When deciding the question of transfer or of admission to joint ownership under either of the two last preceding sections, the Canal Officer shall also determine what amount shall be paid—as the costs of the proceedings;

as compensation to the previous owners; and the amount so determined shall be due by the transferee or the person admitted to registry as a joint owner, as the case may be; and on payment of such amount, the village-channel shall be transferred, or the applicant shall be registered as owner or as a joint owner thereof, as the case may be.

Canal Officer may fix rent for a village-channel transferred.

57. Instead of awarding payment of compensation under the last preceding section, the Canal Officer may fix an amount of rent to be paid annually to the previous owners by the persons to whom the village-channel is transferred.

Ownership of village-channel.

58. Every person

(a) acquiring a village-channel as provided in section forty-eight; or

(b) constructing a village-channel as provided in section forty-nine; or

(c) receiving possession of a village-channel as provided in section fifty-three; or

(d) acquiring a village-channel by transfer, as provided in section fifty-four, or

(e) being admitted to registration as joint owner in a village-channel, as provided in section fifty-five, shall be deemed to be an owner of such village-channel.

59. Every owner of a village-channel shall be bound—

(a) to construct and maintain all works necessary for the passage across such village-channel of canals, village-channels, drainage-channels, and public roads existing at the time of its construction, and of the drainage intercepted by it, and for affording proper communications across it for the convenience of the occupants of neighbouring lands;

(b) to maintain such village-channel in a fit state of repair for the conveyance of water;

(c) to allow the use of it to others on such terms as may be declared equitable by the Canal Officer as hereinafter prescribed;

(d) to have a supply of water by such village-channel at such rates and on such terms as are prescribed by the rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor under section ninety-nine;

(e) to receive such rent for the use of the village-channel by other persons as the Canal Officer may award him.

If owner of village-channel fails to execute works or make repairs, Canal Officer may execute them on his behalf.

60. If the owner of a village-channel fails to fulfil the obligations mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of the last preceding section the Canal Officer may require him by notice to execute the necessary works or repairs within a period not being less than fifteen days, and in the event of failure, may execute them on his behalf; and all expenses incurred by the execution of such works or repairs shall be a sum due by such owner to Government; and if any such owner who has already failed on one occasion to execute such works or repairs when required to do so, and has left them to be executed on his behalf by the Canal Officer, shall again fail to execute any such works or repairs when required to do so; or if any such owner shall refuse in any respect to fulfil the obligation mentioned in clause (c) of the last preceding section, after having been required to fulfil the same by a notice in writing from the Canal Officer, the Canal Officer may strike such village-channel off the register, and so disqualify it to be any longer a medium for the conveyance of canal water.

Resignation of ownership.

61. Any owner may resign his interest in a village-channel, provided such resignation be duly registered in the office of the Canal Officer.

Owner may transfer interest.

62. Any owner of a village-channel may, with the consent of the Canal Officer, transfer his interest to any other person, provided that the liabilities of the person so transferring shall not cease till such transfer is registered in the office of the Canal Officer.

Procedure on death of owner of village-channel.

63. If any owner of a village-channel dies, his legal representative may apply for registration in his stead. If no such application for registry be made within six weeks from the death of the said owner, the remaining registered owners of the village-channel, if any, shall be deemed to be owners of the entire interest in the village-channel, until some other person shall have established his claim to be registered as owner in place of the deceased. If the deceased shall have been the sole registered owner, the Canal Officer shall be deemed to be his representative for the purposes of this Part, and shall exercise all rights and be bound by all liabilities which attached to the deceased in respect of his ownership of the said village-channel, until some person shall have established his right to be registered as owner thereof in place of the deceased; and the Canal Officer shall account to such person for all sums received and expended in the exercise of the rights and discharge of the liabilities which attached to the deceased in respect of such ownership.

Procedure when any person applies for registration in lieu of deceased owner.

64. When any person applies for registration under the three last preceding sections, the Canal Officer shall serve notice on the other registered owners to prefer any objection to the resignation, transfer, or succession within fifteen days, and if no such objection shall be made, or if the objections made be deemed invalid, shall order such resignation, transfer, or succession to be registered.

Interest of owners equal, unless unequal interests registered.

65. All joint owners of a village-channel shall be held to have an equal interest in it, unless, with the permission of the Canal Officer, they register specific unequal interests.

Person other than owner may have supply of water through village-channel under certain conditions.

66. Any person not an owner of a village-channel, desiring to have a supply of water through such village-channel, may make a private arrangement with the owners for the conveyance of water, or may apply to the Canal Officer for authority to use such village-channel.

Canal Officer may authorise supply.

67. On receipt of such application, the Canal Officer shall serve notice on the owners to show cause why such permission should not be granted, and if no objection be raised, or if any objections be raised, and found invalid, shall authorize the conveyance of such supply on such conditions as may appear to him equitable.

Canal Officer to fix a sum as rent of village-channel.

68. The Canal Officer shall also fix a sum as rent to be paid for the use of such village-channel to the owner. Such rent may be in the form of a percentage on the water-rate of the person using the village-channel, or otherwise, as may be fixed by the Canal Officer.

Owner of a village-channel receiving supply through another village-channel.

69. The owner of a village-channel which receives its water through another village-channel may, at the discretion of the Canal Officer, either be declared a joint owner of such other village-channel, or may be required to pay rent for the use of the same to the owner thereof, as provided in the last preceding section.

Instalments in which rent is payable.

70. All rent payable under either of the two last preceding sections shall be deemed to be due in the same instalments and at the same periods as the water-rate is due, or in such other instalments and at such other dates as the Canal Officer may direct, and may be collected by the Canal Officer on behalf of the person entitled to it, if the Canal Officer thinks fit.

Canal Officer not to pay more than amount actually collected as rent.

71. Any Canal Officer collecting rent under the last preceding section on behalf of any person entitled thereto, shall be bound to pay to the person entitled to the same no more than the amount actually collected by him as rent.

Land acquired for a village-channel may not be used for other purpose.

72. No land acquired under this Part for a village-channel shall be used for any other purpose without the consent of the Canal Officer previously obtained.

Dues how to be recovered.

73. Every sum declared to be due under this Part shall be recoverable by the Canal Officer on behalf of the Government or of the person entitled to receive the same, and shall be held to be a demand under the provisions of section one of the aforesaid Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any other similar Act for the time being in force.

PART VI.

OF THE SUPPLY OF WATER.

Water to be supplied on written application only.

74. Every person desiring that water shall be supplied to his land from a canal, shall present a written application to that effect to the Canal Officer, in the form given in Schedule (B) hereto annexed, or in a similar form, binding himself by the rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor under the powers vested in him by this Act; and no person shall be liable to pay any rate or due whatever, on account of water supplied to his land with the permission of the Canal Officer, otherwise than on such application, nor shall water be supplied otherwise than on such application.

Written permission to be given.

75. If the application mentioned in the last preceding section be granted by the Canal Officer, the Canal Officer shall cause his permission to be recorded in the form given in Schedule (C) hereto annexed, or in some similar form, binding himself by the rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor as aforesaid.

Rules to be subject to certain conditions.

76. All rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor under section ninety-nine shall be consistent with the following conditions:—

Power to stop water-supply;

(a) The Canal Officer may not stop the supply of water to any village-channel, or to any person who is entitled to such supply, except in the following cases:—

(i) whenever and so long as it is necessary to stop such supply for the purpose of executing any work ordered by competent authority;

(ii) whenever and so long as any village-channel is not maintained in such repair as to prevent the wasteful escape of water therefrom;

(iii) whenever and so long as it is necessary to do so in rotation to supply the legitimate demands of other persons entitled to water;

(iv) whenever and so long as it may be necessary to stop the supply in order to prevent the wastage or misuse of water.

(b) No claim shall be made against the Government for compensation in respect of loss caused by the failure or stoppage of the water in a canal, by reason of any cause beyond the control of the Government, or of any repairs, alterations, or additions to the canal, or of any measures taken for regulating the proper flow of water therein, or for maintaining the established course of irrigation which the Canal Officer considers necessary; but the person suffering such loss shall be entitled to such remission of the ordinary charges payable for the use of the water as is authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor:

claims to compensation in case of failure or stoppage of supply;

(c) If the supply of water to any land irrigated from a canal be interrupted otherwise than in the manner described in the last preceding clause, the occupier or owner of such land may present a petition for compensation to the Collector for any loss arising from such interruption, and the Collector shall award to the petitioner reasonable compensation for such loss:

claims on account of interruption from other causes;

Bills of the Bengal Council.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following further Report of the Select Committee, on the Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying estates and revenue-free lands, together with the Bill as re-amended, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the members of the Select Committee to whom the Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying estates and revenue-free lands was referred for further consideration, have the honor to make the following report.

We have considered a communication from the British Indian Association dated 24th February 1876, and also the communications noted in the margin.

From Collector of Burdwan, dated 21st February 1876.
Remarks by Baboo Susibhoosun Chaudhuri, Pleader, Judge's Court, Burdwan, dated 21st February 1876.
From Collector of Jessore, dated 24th February 1876.
From Commissioner of Burdwan, dated 26th February 1876.
From Collector of Cuttack, dated 24th February 1876.
From Collector of Nuddea, dated 25th February 1876.
From Collector of Midnapore, dated 23rd February 1876.
From Collector of 24-Pergunnahs, dated 28th February 1876.
From Officiating Collector of Dacca, dated 29th February 1876.

The following are the main changes which we have made in the Bill as it stood when re-committed to us :—

Section 39.—We have extended the latest date which the Lieutenant-Governor may fix for the compulsory registration of the names of the proprietors of any class of estates from three to five years after the commencement of the Act, and we have reduced the limit of estates of which the Lieutenant-Governor may exempt the proprietors from the obligation to register under the Act to those paying not more than Rs. 20 of land revenue.

Section 54.—We have provided that if a dispute exists as to the right of succession to any interest in an estate or revenue-free property, and the applicant for registration has not obtained possession in accordance with his claim, the Collector may either himself decide the question of right to possession after summary enquiry, and give possession to the party whom he considers best entitled to it, or may refer the question for summary decision by the Civil Court, if he considers that the dispute may more properly be so determined.

Section 65.—We have provided that the penalty imposed on failure to apply for registration within the prescribed time shall not be enforced in any case in which the defaulter applies for registration suo motu at any time before the Collector shall have taken proceedings to compel him to do so.

We have introduced Part V, which makes some amendments in the provisions of Act XI of 1859 as to the opening of separate accounts of land revenue for shares of estates.

Section 67.—We have provided a procedure for closing a separate account which has once been opened; no such procedure has hitherto been prescribed.

Section 71.—We have legalized the opening of separate accounts in respect of shares of estates consisting of undivided interests in specific lands of an estate not extending over the whole estate, thus remedying a defect in Act XI of 1859 which has led to practical difficulty.

Section 73.—We have provided that the Collector shall furnish any extract from his registers on payment of such fees as the Board shall prescribe.

Section 75.—We have provided that whenever a change is made on the registers in the names of the proprietors or managers of any estate, or in the extent of the interest of any proprietor or manager, the Collector shall cause notice thereof to be published on the estate and elsewhere for the information of the tenants.

Sections 76 & 77.—We have introduced these important sections giving indemnity to a person who pays rent to a joint proprietor holding in common tenancy in proportion to the extent of interest in respect of which such proprietor is registered, and relieving the tenant from liability to pay rent to any proprietor in excess of such proportion; and, as a necessary adjunct to the above, we have reintroduced the provision that no person shall be bound to pay rent to a proprietor who is required to cause his name to be registered under this Act unless his name shall have been so registered, or unless his application for such registration be pending.

Section 78.—We have provided that whenever any sum of money shall be payable by the Collector to the proprietor of any estate or revenue-free property jointly, he may pay to any one or more registered proprietors thereof such portion of the sum payable as is in proportion to the extent of their registered interests.

Section 79.—We have saved the conditions of written contracts.

Section 84.—We have provided that the time required for obtaining copies of the orders complained against shall be deducted in computing the time allowed for appeals under the Act.

We recommend that the Bill be passed as now amended by us.

Such notice shall be served in the manner prescribed in section 49, and the date before which such person is required to apply for registration shall not be less than one month after service of such notice.

Fine may be levied notwithstanding appeal.

64. The Collector may proceed from time to time to levy any amount which has become due in respect of any such fine, notwithstanding that an appeal against the order imposing such fine may be pending.

Provided that whenever the amount levied under any such order shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner of the Division, and no further levy in respect of such fine shall be made otherwise than by authority of the said Commissioner.

No penalty on person who applies suo motu.

65. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 63, no fine shall be imposed by the Collector under the said section on any person on the ground that such person has failed to make application for registration of his name within the time fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 39, or on the ground that such person has failed to apply for registration of his name within the time prescribed by section 42, if such person shall, at any time after the expiration of the time fixed or prescribed as aforesaid, of his own motion, and otherwise than after the issue of a requisition by the Collector in that behalf, present such application as is required by this Act for the registration of his name, and of the character and extent of his interest.

Liabilities of proprietors and managers.

66. All the recorded proprietors and managers of an estate or revenue-free property shall be deemed to be jointly and severally liable for the discharge of any duties and obligations which are by any law for the time being in force imposed upon the proprietors of such estate or property; and all persons who are required by this Act to apply for registration shall, from the date on which the obligation so to register is imposed on them respectively by this Act, be deemed to be liable for the discharge of any duties and obligations which are by any such law as aforesaid imposed upon the proprietors of the estate or property in respect of which they are required to apply for registration respectively.

PART V.

OF THE OPENING OF SEPARATE ACCOUNTS IN RESPECT OF SHARES.

No separate account to be opened otherwise than in accordance with registered interest.

67. Notwithstanding anything contained in Act XI of 1859 (an Act to improve the law relating to sales of land, &c.), from the commencement of this Act no separate account shall be opened under the provisions of section 10 or of section 11 of the said Act in respect of the share of any applicant under the said sections otherwise than for a share corresponding with the character and extent of interest in the estate in respect of which such applicant is recorded as proprietor or manager under this Act.

Application to close a separate account.

68. Whenever any share in respect of which a separate account has been opened by the Collector under section 10 or section 11 of the said Act XI of 1859, or under section 71 of this Act, shall no longer correspond with the character and extent of interest held in the estate by any one proprietor or manager, or jointly by two or more proprietors or managers, any proprietor or manager whose name is borne on the General Register under this Act as proprietor or manager of any interest in the share in respect of which such separate account is open, may submit to the Collector a written application setting out the circumstances under which such share no responds with the extent of interest estate by any one or more recorded or manager, or jointly by two or more ...rded proprietors or managers, and specifying the manner in which such share has become broken up and distributed among the proprietors of the estate, and praying that the separate account standing open in respect of such share shall be closed, and, if he so desire, praying that another separate account be opened in respect of any other share or shares which were wholly or partly included in the share in respect of which the previous separate account was open.

Illustration.

In a certain estate separate accounts have been opened under section 10, Act XI of 1859 for the 4 annas share of A, and also for the 6 annas share of B, the accounts of the remaining 7 annas share being kept jointly in the names of the remaining proprietors C, D, and E.

In course of time X has inherited A's 4 annas share, and also C's interest in the 7 annas share, which amounted to 3 annas; X has also acquired by purchase 2 annas out of B's 6 annas share, so that the interests in the estate are now distributed as follows:—

X ... ... 9 annas.
D & E ... 4 „

X, if a recorded proprietor of the estate, may apply to the Collector to close the separate account which is open in respect of A's 4 annas share, and also the separate account which is open in respect of B's 6 annas share, as neither of these shares corresponds with the extent of interest held by any one proprietor, or held jointly by two or more proprietors in the estate; and in the same application X may apply for the opening of a separate account in respect of the 9 annas share which he now holds.

Separate account may be closed and another opened.

69. On receipt of such application the Collector shall cause a copy of the same to be published in the manner provided in section 10 of Act XI of 1859; and if within six weeks from the date of such publication no objection is made by any other recorded proprietor of the estate, the Collector shall close the separate account which then stands open, and shall open a separate account with the applicant as required by him, under section 10, or section 11 of Act XI of 1859, or under section 71 of this Act, as the case may be.

Effect of objection.

70. If any recorded proprietor of the estate, whether the same be held in common tenancy or otherwise, object that the share in respect of which any separate account is open as aforesaid has not been broken up, and does still correspond with the character and extent of interest held by any one proprietor or manager, or jointly by two or more proprietors or managers, or object that the applicant has no right to the share claimed by him, or that his interest in the estate is less or other than that claimed by him, or, when the application is in respect of a specific portion of the land of an estate or in respect of an undivided interest held in common tenancy in any specific portion of the land of the estate, object that the amount of sudder jumma stated by the applicant to have been heretofore paid on account of such portion of land, or on account of the applicants undivided interest therein, is not the amount which has been recognized by the other sharers as the jumma thereof, the Collector shall refer the parties to the Civil Court, and shall suspend proceedings until the question at issue is judicially determined.

Proprietor holding undivided interest in specific lands may apply for separate account.

71. When a recorded proprietor of a joint estate whose share consists of an undivided interest held in common tenancy in any specific portion of the land of the estate, but not extending over the whole estate, desires to pay his share of the Government revenue separately, he may submit to the Collector a written application to that effect. The application must contain a specification of the land in which he holds such undivided interest and of the boundaries and extent thereof, together with a statement of the amount of sudder jumma heretofore paid on account of such undivided interest. On the receipt of this application the Collector shall cause it to be published in the manner prescribed for publication of notice in section 10 of Act XI of 1859.

In the event of no objection being urged by any recorded co-sharer within six weeks from the time of publication, the Collector shall open a separate account with the applicant, and shall credit separately to his share all payments made by him on account of it.

The date on which the Collector records his sanction to the opening of a separate account, shall be held to be that from which the separate liabilities of the share of the applicant commence.

Sections 12, 13, and 14 of Act XI 1859 applicable.

72. Section 12 of the said Act XI of 1859 shall apply to every application made under the last preceding section; and the effect and consequences of opening a separate account under the last preceding section shall be such and the same as are described in section 13 and in section 14 of Act XI of 1859.

76. Except in accordance with a written contract as hereinafter provided, no person shall be bound to pay rent to any person claiming such rent as proprietor or manager of an estate or revenue-free property in respect of which he is required by this Act to cause his name to be registered, unless the name of such claimant shall have been so registered, or unless an application for such registration of the name of such claimant shall be pending before the Collector or before the Civil Court as in this Act provided; and no person being liable to pay rent to two or more such proprietors or managers holding in common tenancy, shall be bound to pay to any one such proprietor or manager more than the amount which bears the same proportion to the whole of such rent, as the extent of the interest in respect of which such proprietor or manager is registered, bears to the entire estate or revenue-free property.

Whenever any sum of money shall be payable by the Collector to the proprietors of any estate or revenue-free property jointly, it shall be lawful for the Collector to pay to any one or more recorded proprietors or managers thereof such portion of the said sum as may be proportionate to the extent of the interest in respect of which such proprietors or managers are registered, and the receipt of such proprietors or managers shall afford full indemnity to the Collector in respect of any sum so paid.

Saving of written contracts and recovery from person receiving money.

79. Nothing contained in the three last preceding sections shall be held to interfere with the conditions of any written contract, or to prevent any person deeming himself entitled to any sum of money from recovering such sum by due process of law from any other person who has received the same.

Every amount due deemed to be a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

80. Every amount which may become due to the Collector under the provisions of this Act in respect of any expenses incurred, of any fees payable, of any notices served, of any costs payable by any party, or of any fines imposed, shall be deemed to be a demand under section 1 of Bengal Act VII of 1868 (an Act to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of land revenue and public demands recoverable as arrears of land revenue) and shall be leviable as such.

Collector may require proprietor to name estate.

Power to Collector to enforce attendance of witnesses.

7. For the purpose of such inquiry, the Collector shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of parties and witnesses, to examine such parties and witnesses, and to compel the production of documents by the same means (as far as may be) and in the same manner as is provided in the case of a court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Collector to draw up report, and to allow persons to take copies of the same.

8. After making the necessary inquiry, the Collector shall draw up a report stating the result of the inquiry, and his own opinion on each of the matters specified for inquiry under section five, and shall publish a notice in his office stating that any person may take a copy of the said report for the purpose of advancing before the Commissioner any objections thereto which he may think fit, and that such objections must be filed in the office of the Commissioner, or in the office of the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within fifteen days of the publication of the said notice.

10. After considering the reports and objections submitted by the Commissioner under the last preceding section, the Board shall issue such instructions as to it shall seem fit, not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, in respect to the determination of each of the matters specified for inquiry under section five, and the Collector shall make an order determining each of the said matters in accordance with such instructions of the Board.

Suits to be transferred to Collector.

11. On receipt of such instructions the Collector shall publish a notice of such receipt at his office, and from the date of the publication of such notice, and as long as this Act is in force in the tract mentioned in section three, all suits of the nature of those specified in section 23 of Act X of 1859, relating to such tract, shall be instituted before, and, except as hereinafter otherwise expressly provided, be cognizable by, the Collector and by no other tribunal.

Collector to send copy of notice to Courts.

12. As soon as possible after publication of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section, the Collector shall send a copy thereof to every Court which had jurisdiction to entertain such suits immediately before the publication of the said notice.

Procedure in suits.

13. In the disposal of such suits the Collector shall, as far as possible, follow the procedure prescribed in Act X of 1859, and all powers exercised by a Collector under the said Act may be exercised by the Collector under this Act, provided that all such suits shall be decided by a reference to, and in accordance with, any order of the Collector determining a matter under section ten, in so far as such order may be applicable.

Power to refer to arbitration.

14. The Collector may, with the consent of the parties concerned, refer any such suit to arbitration, and the provisions of sections 313 to 325 (both inclusive) of the aforesaid Act VIII of 1859 shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

Rules for determining rate of rent.

14A. Whenever in any suit instituted under the provisions of this Act it shall appear to the Collector that a ryot having a right of occupancy is liable to enhancement of the rent previously paid by him on the ground that the value of the produce or the productive powers of the land held by him have been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot; or whenever in any such suit it shall appear to the Collector that such ryot is entitled to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him on the ground that the value of the produce or the productive powers of the land held by him have been decreased by any cause beyond the powers of the said ryot, the Collector shall, if possible, fix the rate of rent payable by such ryot, so that the rent previously paid by such ryot shall bear to the rent so fixed the same proportion as the former value of the produce of the soil, calculated on an average of three or five years rent before the date of the alleged rise or decrease in value, bears to the present value of such produce;

but if in any such suit the Collector shall not be able to ascertain to his satisfaction the former value of the produce as required for the application of the above rule, the Collector may determine the rate of rent payable by such ryot according to any of the following methods:—

(a) by fixing the rent of the ryot so that it shall represent such portion of the existing average gross value of the produce of the land held by him as the Collector shall consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case;

(b) by fixing the rent of the ryot so that it shall represent such portion of the average net profits of the land held by him (after deducting from the average gross annual value of the produce of such lands such a sum as may be deemed proper on account of costs of production and disposal of such produce) as the Collector shall consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case;

(c) by taking as the standard of comparison the rates which are generally paid by ryots having no right of occupancy in adjacent places, or in such places as the Collector may select, for lands of a similar description and having similar advantages; and by fixing the rates of rent to be paid by the ryot having a right of occupancy at such percentage below the rent which would be paid for the same lands by ryots having no right of occupancy as the Collector may consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case.

Suit may be brought by or against any number of ryots collectively.

15. In every suit under this Act of the nature of those specified in the first, second, third, and fourth clauses of section 23 of Act X of 1859, any number of ryots or other tenants may be sued, or may sue collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing or refusing to hear the application that such ryots or other tenants are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided all such ryots or tenants hold land in the same estate; but no order shall be passed in such case unless the officer making such order is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them; and if at any time it shall appear to the Collector that the question between any two of the parties of whom one is so joined with others cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, the Collector may order a separate trial to be held.

Order to specify how far it applies to each ryot.

16. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the first clause of the last preceding section, shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots or other tenants named in the order shall be affected thereby.

Rate of rent once fixed under Act, to be fixed for five years.

17. Every decree of a Collector under this Act in any suit of the nature of those specified in the first clause of section 23 of Act X of 1859 shall have effect, and the rates of rent determined by such decree shall be payable from the beginning of the year in which such suit was instituted (such year being computed according to the era in force in the aforesaid tract), or from such later date as the Collector may fix; and the rates of rent so determined shall not be liable to abatement or enhancement for five years from the first day of the year in which the decree may have effect as provided in this section or in case any part of the tract is comprised within a temporarily-settled estate, until the conclusion of the period of the settlement with Government under which such estate is held, if such period expires before the lapse of five years as aforesaid.

Provided that, during the currency of the term for which the rent has been fixed as aforesaid, any person may bring a suit to enhance the rent of any ryot or tenant whose rent has been so fixed, on the ground that the area of the ryot's or tenant's holding has been increased by alluvion or otherwise, and on no other ground.

And any ryot or tenant may, during the said period, bring a suit for abatement of his rent which has been so fixed, on the ground that the area of the land held by him has been dimi-nished by diluvion or otherwise, and on no other ground.

Collector may refer suit to Civil Court.

18. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, if it shall appear to the Collector that any suit which is pending before him involves any question relating to the title of land or to some interest in land, as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, or any other question which can more properly be decided by a civil court, or, in districts in which Act X of 1859 is in force, by a revenue court under that Act, the Collector may transfer such suit to a civil court or revenue court (according to whether such civil court or such revenue court would have had jurisdiction in the matter if this Act had not been passed); and such court shall thereupon proceed to deal with the suit as if this Act had not been passed, and as if the suit had originally been instituted before such court.

Collector may decide question before transferring suit to civil court.

19. If such suit involves a question of rent or any other question which may properly be settled by the Collector under this Act, as well as a question which may more properly be decided by such civil court or revenue court, the Collector may decide the former question under this Act before transferring the suit to such other court; and such decision shall be subject to the provisions of this Act in respect of appeals, and the civil court or revenue court shall be bound to give the final decision in the suit in accordance with the decision of the Collector or of the appellate authority under this Act on such question, so far as such decision is applicable.

Enforcement of decisions.

20. Every order and decree of a Collector under this Act may be enforced by the same means and in the same manner as if such order or decree were an order or decree to the same effect made under Act X of 1859.

Powers of Collector after withdrawal of Act.

21. Notwithstanding that the Lieutenant-Governor may have issued a notification as provided in section three declaring this Act to be no longer in force in any tract, the Collector shall proceed to decide all suits pending before him on the date of issue of such notification as if no such notification had been issued; and in respect of all such suits and of all other matters and suits which may be pending before the Board, the Commissioner, or the Collector on the date of the issue of such notification, the said Board, Commissioner, and Collector shall, until such matters or suits are finally decided or disposed of, exercise the same powers with respect thereto as if such notification had not been issued.

Suit to contest order or decree under this.

22. No suit to contest any order or judgment of any officer under the provisions of this Act shall be instituted before any court or tribunal otherwise than as provided in this Act.

Control and supervision of Commissioner and Board.

23. In the performance of their duties under this Act, the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general control and direction of the Collector, the Collector to the general control and direction of the Commissioner, and all officers to the general control and direction of the Board.

Appeal to and from Collector.

24. An appeal shall lie to the Collector against every order and judgment of a Deputy Collector under this Act, except as hereinafter otherwise provided; but no appeal shall lie against any order or judgment of the Collector under this Act except as hereinafter expressly provided.

No appeal from any decree of Collector for money below Rs. 100, unless the decision involve some question of right to enhance rents or some question relating to a title to land.

25. PART VI.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st March 1876, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to make their report thereon in a fortnight:—

No. 4 of 1876.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to empower the several Local Governments to prohibit dramatic performances which are scandalous, defamatory, seditious, obscene, or otherwise prejudicial to the public interest; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Dramatic Performances Act, 1876:"

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force at once.

"Magistrate" defined.

2. In this Act "Magistrate" includes a Presidency Magistrate.

Power to prohibit certain dramatic performances.

3. Whenever the Local Government is of opinion that any play, pantomime, or other drama performed, or about to be performed, is—

(a) of a scandalous or defamatory nature, or

(b) likely to excite feelings of disaffection to the Government established by law in British India, or

(c) likely to deprave and corrupt persons present at such performance, or

(d) otherwise prejudicial to the interests of the public, the Local Government, or such officer as it may generally or specially empower in this behalf, may by order prohibit such performance.

Power to serve order of prohibition.

4. A copy of any such order may be served on any person about to take part in the performance so prohibited, or on the owner or occupier of any house, room, or place in which such performance is intended to take place; and any person on whom such copy is served, and who does, or willingly permits, any act in disobedience to such order, shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

Penalty for disobeying order.

Power to notify order.

5. Any such order may be notified by proclamation, and a written or printed notice thereof may be stuck up at any place or places adapted for giving information of the order to the persons intending to take part in the performance so prohibited.

Penalty for disobeying prohibition.

6. Whoever, after the notification of any such order—

(a) takes part in the performance prohibited thereby, or in any performance substantially the same as the performance so prohibited, or

(b) in any manner assists in conducting any such performance, or

(c) is present as a spectator during the whole or any part of any such performance, or

(d) being the owner or occupier, or having the use of any house, room, or place, opens, keeps, or uses the same for any such performance, or permits the same to be opened, kept, or used for any such performance, shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

Power to grant warrant to police to enter and arrest and seize.

7. If any Magistrate has reason to believe that any house, room, or place is used, or is about to be used, for any performance prohibited under this Act, he may, by his warrant, authorize any officer of police to enter, with such assistance as may be requisite, by night or by day, and by force if necessary, any such house, room, or place, and to take into custody all persons whom he finds therein, and to seize all scenery, dresses, and other articles found therein, and reasonably suspected to have been used, or to be intended to be used, for the purpose of such performance.

Saving of Penal Code, sections 124A and 294.

8. No conviction under this Act shall bar a prosecution under section 124A, or section 294 of the Indian Penal Code.

Power to prohibit dramatic performances in any local area, except under license.

9. Whenever it appears to the Local Government that the provisions of this section are required in any local area, it may, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, declare, by notification in the local official Gazette, that such provisions are applied to such area from a day to be fixed in the notification.

On and after that day, the Local Government may order that no dramatic performance shall take place in any place of public entertainment within such area, except under a license to be granted by such Local Government, or such officer as it may empower in this behalf.

The Local Government may also order that no dramatic performance shall take place in any place of public entertainment within such area unless a copy of the piece, if and so far as it is written, or some sufficient account of its purport, if and so far as it is in pantomime, has been furnished, not less than three days before the performance, to the Local Government, or to such officer as it may appoint in this behalf.

A copy of any order under this section may be served on any keeper of a place of public entertainment, and if thereafter he does, or willingly permits, any act in disobedience to such order, he shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The primary object of this Bill is to empower the Government to prohibit Native plays which are scandalous, defamatory, seditious, or obscene. The necessity for some such measure has been established by the recent performance in Calcutta of a scurrilous Bengali drama, to prevent which the existing law was found to be insufficient.

The Bill, first, empowers the Government, or such officer as it empowers in this behalf, to issue an order prohibiting any dramatic performance which, in the opinion of the Government, comes within any of the classes above mentioned. The order may be served on intending performers, or on the owner of the place in which the play takes place. The order may also be notified by proclamation, and penalties are provided for disobedience thereto.

Power is then given to the Magistrates to grant warrants to the police to enter, arrest, and seize scenery, dresses, &c.

Lastly, the Local Government is empowered to order, in specified localities, that no play shall be performed in any place of public entertainment, except under a license from Government, and that a copy of the piece, if written, or a sufficient account of its purport, if it be in pantomime, shall be previously furnished to the proper authorities.

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

HIS HONOR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL, presiding,
The Hon'ble H. L. DAMPIER,
The Hon'ble SIR STUART HOGG, KT.,
The Hon'ble H. J. REYNOLDS,
The Hon'ble H. BELL,
The Hon'ble BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE, RAI BAHADOOR,
The Hon'ble BABOO RAM SHUNKER SEN, RAI BAHADOOR,
The Hon'ble T. W. BROOKES,
The Hon'ble BABOO KRISTODAS PAL, and
The Hon'ble NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI DILER JUNG, C.S.I.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

ON the motion of the HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG, the Bill was then taken into consideration, in order to the further settlement of its clauses.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said the amendments which he had to move were all of a formal character; there was nothing fresh about them, but they were intended to give effect to what was decided upon at the last meeting of the Council.

It was then decided, on the suggestion of the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Bell), that a person who paid Rs. 25 in rates and taxes on account of property in any ward should be entitled to vote in every ward in which he paid rates to that extent; also that a person entitled to vote in several wards should be able to give all his votes to one candidate, instead of, as proposed in the Bill, dividing his votes amongst the several Commissioners to be elected for the wards in which he was entitled to vote. With the view of giving effect to these conclusions, SIR STUART HOGG proposed that section 7 be omitted, and the following be inserted as sections 7 and 7A:—

"7. The remaining forty-eight members shall be elected as hereinafter provided by male persons resident within the Town or Suburbs, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years.

Number of Commissioners to be elected.

7A. Any person qualified as aforesaid who shall have paid, on his own behalf and not otherwise, to the Commissioners on or before the fifteenth day of January, in the year in which the election takes place, any of the rates mentioned in Chapter IV assessed on land or masonry buildings, or taxes mentioned in Parts I and II of Chapter III, or any of the said rates and taxes, for the next preceding year, to the aggregate amount of not less than twenty-five rupees, may vote in one only of the wards mentioned in section ten, and may choose the ward in which he resides, or in which his place of business is situated, or in which any of the said land or masonry buildings is situated.

Qualification of voters.

Any person qualified as aforesaid, who shall have paid, on his own behalf and not otherwise, to the Commissioners on or before the fifteenth day of January, in the year in which the election takes place, any of the said rates for the next preceding year on account of land or masonry buildings situated in more than one of the said wards, shall be entitled to vote in each ward in which he shall have been a rate-payer to the extent of twenty-five rupees, and no such person shall be entitled to vote on account of any taxes paid under Parts I and II of Chapter III.

The word "land" in this section does not include huts erected on land."

The motion was agreed to—

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that before the hon'ble mover proceeded to his next amendment he craved permission to propose the following proviso to section 8, of which he had not had time to give notice:—"Provided that no officer of the corporation shall be qualified for election as a member of the corporation so long as he shall remain a servant of the municipality, except the Chairman and Vice-Chairman as hereinafter provided." It could not be right in principle that the officers of the municipality should be allowed to hold seats in the corporation as long as they remained in the service of the municipality; as officers they would have to carry out the orders of the Commissioners, and it could not be right that they should sit in the deliberative assembly. To compare great things with small, the members of the Indian Council were not allowed to hold seats in Parliament, though the question with regard to them was not so objectionable in principle. He would move this amendment subject to the amendment which stood in his name in another paper.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved the addition to section 10 of the following clause:—

"Every person qualified to vote under sections 7 and 7A may vote for as many candidates as there are Commissioners to be elected in the ward or wards allotted to such person under section thirteen, and may give all or any of the votes which he is entitled to give in any one ward to any candidate in that ward."

It was drawn in accordance with the resolution passed at the last meeting: it provided for the principle which was described as cumulating voting, and which was held to be very good and very desirable for such a city as Calcutta.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said the next amendment was to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to prescribe penalties for breach of the rules to be framed in regard to the mode of election. It was objected to the clause he proposed at the last meeting that no limit was prescribed to the penalty which the Government would be empowered to inflict, and he had therefore proposed to fix a maximum of fifty rupees, which he considered would be sufficient; most of the rules would be mere matters of procedure and would require no penalty. The clause which he proposed to add to section 12 was as follows:—

"The Local Government may declare the penalties which shall be incurred by the breach of any such rule, and any person committing a breach of any such rule shall be liable to the penalty so declared, provided that no higher penalty shall be incurred by the breach of any such rule than a fine of fifty rupees."

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that the next amendment he had to move was also of a formal character, and was intended to give effect to the decision arrived at by Council at the last meeting. The amendment was as follows:—

Section 13, line 8, to insert the following after "aforesaid":—

"and shall, at the same time, if he is entitled to vote in one ward only, name the ward in which he wishes to vote; and if he is entitled to vote in more than one ward, name the wards in which he is entitled to vote."

And the following after "list" in line 12 of the same section:—

"and shall allot to him the ward or wards which he may have named as aforesaid; and no person whose name is not entered in such list at the time of the election shall be qualified to vote or to be elected as a Commissioner.

"If the applicant shall omit to name a ward as aforesaid, the Chairman shall allot to him such ward as to the Chairman may seem fit, and if the applicant shall omit to name the wards as aforesaid, the Chairman shall allot to him the wards in which he is entitled to vote."

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said at the last meeting he was directed to draft an amendment to section 312, which would have the effect of exempting all markets existing before the passing of Act VIII of 1871 from the necessity of obtaining licenses. In accordance with that resolution of the Council he proposed that the following words should be added to section 312:—

"Nothing contained in this section shall be held to impose upon any person the obligation of taking out a license for a market which has been registered under section 6 of Bengal Act VIII of 1871."

And in section 313 he proposed the insertion of the following words after the word "town" in line 2:—

("not being a market registered under section 6 of Bengal Act VIII of 1876.")

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG moved the substitution of the following for paragraph 2 of section 1:—

"And it shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may direct, not being more than three months after the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General."

It would be impossible now to fix the exact date when the Bill should come into effect, because it would be impossible to know when it would receive the assent of the Governor-General. It was necessary that the Bill should come into force on the first day of a quarter, and the object of the amendment was to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to declare in which quarter it should come into force.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said there were two amendments in his name, but they were both connected with one another, and he must therefore ask the Council to take both into consideration at the same time. Section 9 provided that where there was a joint family, a partnership, or a joint occupancy, which paid in the aggregate Rs. 50 in rates and taxes, any member of that joint family should be qualified to serve as a member of the corporation, and there was a proviso added, that the Chairman should decide which of the several members, partners, or joint occupiers was eligible for election, subject to an appeal under section 15. It was the proviso that MR. BELL proposed to omit. The section had been once before discussed in Council, but the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill did not on that occasion see any necessity to make any alteration in it. But the section as it stood seemed so utterly ridiculous and absurd that he thought it would be a reproach to the Council if they allowed it to pass. He would give an illustration of the way in which the section would be likely to work. He would suppose that there were four members of a joint undivided family, who paid in the aggregate Rs. 50 in rates and taxes, each of these four members of the joint family being above twenty-one years of age. Such being the case they would all be eligible for election as members of the corporation. But the proviso said that the Chairman should decide which of them should be eligible, which must mean which of the members was most eligible. But of these four men we would suppose that one was an old man of 70: another a young man of 22: the third a fat man and the fourth a lean one. Now we would suppose that all these men were anxious to have the honor of representing their ward in the municipality, and they all presented themselves before the Chairman. But how was the Chairman to decide which was the most eligible? The Chairman might sympathize with age, and might consider that he might have less opposition from the old man than from the young man, as old persons were supposed to take life easier than the young. Then the young man would appeal to the Magistrate under section 15, and the Magistrate might take a very different view from the Chairman. The Magistrate might consider it very desirable to have in the corporation a young man fresh from college, who was prepared to discuss all questions from sanitation downwards at the shortest possible notice, and he would in that case reverse the decision of the Chairman. Again the Chairman might select the fat man; but the Magistrate might prefer the lean man; and on that account the Chairman's decision might be reversed. He hoped the Council would not think that he was treating this subject with levity. His object was to illustrate the absurdity of the section in its practical working.

What he would suggest was that the member of a joint family, in whose name the rates and taxes were paid, should be deemed to be the person qualified to serve as a member of the corporation. Objection to that course was taken on the ground that in Calcutta the rates were in most cases paid in the names of deceased persons. MR. BELL did not suppose that a deceased person, even in this age of spiritualism, would desire to sit as a member of the corporation, and consequently in such cases the members of the joint family would not be able to avail themselves of the privilege of becoming Municipal Commissioners. His contention was, that if the members of the joint family did desire to avail themselves of the privilege, it was not too much to ask them to nominate from amongst themselves a member whom they wished to seat on the Municipal Board. Therefore he proposed to omit the proviso to section 9 altogether, and to add to section 13 the following proviso. Section 13 provided for the registration of voters and persons qualified to be elected, and to that he proposed to add:—

"Provided that no application made by a person who is a member of a joint family, a partner, or a joint occupier as described in section nine, shall be entertained unless such applicant shall be the person in whose name the rates or taxes are paid, or unless the other members of the joint family, or the other partners, or joint occupiers petition the Chairman to allow the registration of such person's name under this section."

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG could not say that he had been able to follow the hon'ble member in the objection he had taken to section 9. Nor did he see that it would work in the absurd manner in which he anticipated. The hon'ble member first said that under section 9 every member of a joint undivided family which paid rates and taxes to the amount of Rs. 50 was eligible for election. In the case put, SIR STUART HOGG thought the four members were not eligible. Under sections 9 and 11 the whole of the taxes must be paid by one person and not otherwise; it was only then that a person was eligible as a voter, or to be appointed a Commissioner; but under section 10 special provision was made for joint undivided families and partnerships. Four members of a joint family might in the aggregate pay taxes to the amount of Rs. 25 or Rs. 50; in the former case they would be qualified to vote, in the latter case they would not only be qualified to vote, but to stand for election as Commissioners. But paying jointly they would not be paying on their own account; therefore all the members of the family would not be able to vote or to be elected.

If the members of a family were unanimous as to the person who should represent them, it was obvious that the Chairman would not wish to interfere with the choice of the family. But if they were unable to agree in their choice, it became the duty of the Chairman to decide who was eligible. By the first clause of the section it was provided that only one member of a joint family should be eligible—not all the members, but only one; and then there was the second clause which said that the Chairman should decide which of these members was eligible. If the amendment of his hon'ble friend was carried, the effect would be that as the taxes in many cases were paid in the name of deceased persons, all those families would not have a right to vote, or to be elected, which the Bill considered they should have. For these reasons he would vote against the amendment.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the hon'ble mover was quite correct in stating that he raised the question of extending the franchise to joint undivided families, for as the clauses relating to election had been originally framed, joint families would have been excluded altogether from the privilege accorded to other rate-payers. In comparing the amendment moved by the hon'ble member opposite (MR. BELL) with the section as it stood, he could perceive only one distinction, which was this, that where the members of a joint undivided family should name one of their number as their representative, the Chairman should register the name of such person either as a voter or a person to be elected. Otherwise BABOO KRISTODAS PAL did not see any distinction whatever between the amendment and the section in the Bill. On the contrary he must confess that the amendment as framed by the hon'ble member appeared to him to be incomplete. Suppose the members of a joint family did not agree in nominating one of their number to represent them, was that family to go altogether unrepresented? That he was afraid would be the effect. But the provision in section 9 would meet that difficulty. If the members of a joint family should disagree amongst themselves in nominating a representative, the Chairman could then decide which of the members of that family should be eligible. Now the question was this, whether, when the members of a joint family were unanimous, the Chairman should have a discretion in admitting the representative of that family. The hon'ble mover had explained that it would have followed as a matter of course that the Chairman would accept the nomination of the family. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought it was desirable that that principle should be embodied in the Bill. It was, however, open to doubt whether the Chairman, if he did not agree with the choice of the family, would be bound to accept it. He might exercise the discretion vested in him and reject the representative named by the family. It would, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL admitted, be an absurd course when the members of the family had unanimously selected one of their number to represent them, and the Chairman had the power of rejecting their nomination. If therefore section 9 was amended in the spirit of the last portion of the hon'ble member's amendment, namely, that where the members of a joint undivided family or a partnership firm or the joint occupiers of a house, desired to allow one of their number to represent them, then their nomination should be registered by the Chairman; and that where they should disagree, the Chairman should decide, as provided in paragraph 2 of section 9, which of the said members should be eligible,—then the object aimed at would be attained. He entirely agreed with the hon'ble mover that it would not be fair to exclude the representative of a joint family from the privilege of voting or standing as a candidate for election simply because the rates and taxes were paid in the name of a deceased person. In fact he thought that the first part of the amendment, which provided that no application should be made unless by a person in whose name the rates or taxes were paid, would be inoperative, because, as pointed out by the hon'ble mover, many persons in whose names the bills were now made out were dead. But the other clause would cover these joint families; so even if the rates were not paid in the name of a person whose name was registered in the assessment books, still if he was nominated as the representative of the family, he could be brought under registration. Practically, therefore, the first part of the amendment would be inoperative. So taking all these circumstances into consideration BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would suggest that that part of the amendment be adopted which authorized the Chairman to accept registration where the nomination was unanimous, leaving it to his discretion to silect a member where the members of a joint family or partnership or the joint occupiers of a house disagreed in the selection of a representative.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said, if the hon'ble member would remember, this point had been considered very fully. They all agreed that that was the best course, but the difficulty was how to word the section, as it would become necessary for the Chairman to direct a preliminary enquiry as to who were the members of a joint undivided family. How could he know who they were? Three or four persons might come forward and say, "we are the members of a joint family; we pay so much in rates and taxes, and we desire that the name of so and so be registered." Then the Chairman would enter the name of that person in his list, and afterwards three or four other persons might come forward and say that the persons who had previously come were not the only members of the family, and that they did not approve of the name put forward by the others. Various complications might thus arise, and it was to do away with such complications that the proviso in the section was introduced; and he thought it was best to allow the Chairman to decide which member of a joint undivided family was eligible. No Chairman would desire to decide except in a manner which would meet with the wishes of the representatives of the family. That was the only object which he had in introducing the proviso. The question was fully discussed on a former occasion, and the only possible solution of the difficulty was to meet it in the way in which the Bill now stood.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, would there be any difficulty in assuming that the thing would work itself in a good many cases? He would throw the onus of proof on the person objecting. Let a man come forward and say, "I am the representative of such a joint undivided family; it is agreed amongst us, and so I apply." The name of such person would then be admitted as eligible to vote or stand for election, and would be published in the lists, and then throw on the joint family whose name he had taken the onus of coming forward and objecting. Then if they came forward and objected, —they would not come forward if unnecessary, but if there was a split in the family and it was necessary,—MR. DAMPIER would leave the Chairman power to decide. That seemed to him to get rid of the power in all cases in which there was unanimity, which was a great object.

After some conversation it was agreed that to section 9 be added a proviso to the effect that where the majority of a joint undivided family or of the parties in a firm or of joint occupier, agreed to select one of their number, the Chairman should accept the nomination, but if the majority did not agree, then the Chairman should decide which should be eligible for election.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the introduction of the following section after Section 29:—

"29A. The Commissioners shall take from every Collector of Taxes, and every officer or servant of the corporation whose duty it is as such officer to take, receive, keep, or expend any money or property belonging to the Commissioners such security for the honest discharge of his duty as they may think proper."

This section was borrowed from the Bengal Municipalities Bill, and he thought it was a proper safeguard to adopt.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG observed that, according to the proposed section, it would be necessary to take security from the Chairman and the Engineer, and in fact from almost every officer of the Municipality. He thought the section was unnecessary. If the Commissioners desired to take security from any of their officers, they could do so, as in fact the Justices now did from the Collector of Taxes, who was the only officer from whom it had been considered necessary to take security.

After some conversation, the motion was by leave withdrawn.

"118A All officers and servants of the corporation, are prohibited from purchasing any property at any such sale as aforesaid."

This section was intended to guard against abuse of authority by the police or by servants of the corporation in the purchase of distrained property.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG had no objection to the section if the words "and all chowkeedars, constables, and other officers of the police" were omitted. The police had nothing to do with these sales, and chowkeedars were not likely to purchase property at them.

The motion, as amended on Sir Stuart Hogg's suggestion, was agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN moved the omission of the following words from section 140:—

"and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting shall from time to time direct by the person applying for the said connection."

These inspections were, he understood, made by the paid servants of the corporation, and it was quite needless for the rate-payers to pay again for the cost of inspection.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said he could not accept the amendment: the clause proposed to be omitted was in the interests of the public. Everyone knew that plumbers in this country were very inefficient artificers, and it was proposed for the safety of the public that before a house was connected with the pipes and mains of the Municipality the owner or occupier should apply to the Commissioners, and the Commissioners should send an officer to inspect, not the property of the Commissioners, but of the person applying; and for such services it seemed proper that the Municipality should be allowed to demand an equitable fee.

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was about to move certain resolutions regarding the appointment of the Chairman of the Commissioners, when—

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG rose to order. He wished to ask whether it was in order to move at this stage of the Bill an amendment which was opposed to the principle of the whole Bill; if this amendment were carried, the whole of the Bill from first to last would require to be altered. He wished to ask His Honor the President, as a point of order, whether the motion of which the hon'ble member had given notice could be moved.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he wished to explain that at the meeting of the Council when the Bill was referred back to the Select Committee for the consideration of the controlling sections, he suggested the expediency of the Committee being permitted to consider other points involving principles connected with the Bill which were objected to in the memorials which had been received. Upon this the President was pleased to remark that all such questions might be discussed when the Council took into consideration the report which would be submitted by the Committee, but that the attention of the Select Committee must be confined to the particular sections that were referred to them. Consequently, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL abstained from raising those questions in Select Committee.

He would also explain why he had not raised this question at the early stages of the Bill. The Bill when introduced was in the main a consolidation measure. It should be remembered that when the Government was to appoint the Justices, it might be consistent for the Government to appoint also the Chairman. But as the Council had since accepted the elective system, he thought it was fairly a question for consideration as to whether the elected Commissioners should not choose their own Chairman, and whether a Municipal Commissioner should not be appointed to act as the executive officer of the Municipality in the same way as at Bombay, and be confined to executive functions only. He would explain his views fully if he were permitted to move the resolution. He was entirely in the hands of the Council; and if the Council thought he was precluded from raising this question now, he would, of course, submit to their decision. He would remind the Council that the question involved in his motion was raised in the memorials which had been submitted to the Council, and when he suggested that these points should be considered by the Committee, the Council was pleased to decide that these questions might be discussed afterwards.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said, as he understood it, the Bill was only provisionally settled, and there was an understanding, when the Bill was referred back to the Select Committee, that any member might afterwards move substantive amendments in Council.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT having ruled that the motion was in order—

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the following resolutions:—

"At the first meeting of the members of the corporation in each year they shall proceed to elect a Chairman, who shall hold office for a year, and shall be eligible for re-election. The Chairman shall preside over all the meetings of the corporation; and all questions which may come before any meeting of the corporation for decision shall be decided by a majority of the members of the corporation present and voting at such meeting; and in all cases of equality of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote. In case of the absence of the Chairman from any meeting, the members present shall choose one of their number to preside, who shall for that meeting have all the powers of the Chairman elected by the corporation. In case of the death, resignation, or disqualification of the Chairman elected by the corporation, it shall be lawful for the Town Council to convene a meeting of the corporation for the purpose of electing a Chairman for the residue of the term for which the Chairman so dead, resigned, or disqualified was originally elected.

The entire executive power and responsibility for the purposes of this Act shall be vested in one Commissioner, who shall be appointed by the local Government for a term of three years, and shall be eligible for re-appiontment: provided that he shall always be removeable from office by the Government for his misconduct, or neglect of or incapacity to perform his duty, and shall be removed from office by the Government on the votes of not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at a special general meeting of the corporation.

The said Commissioner shall be styled "Municipal Commissioner for the city of Calcutta." He shall receive such allowances out of the municipal fund to be raised under this Act as shall from time to time be fixed by the Government: provided that these allowances shall not be less than rupees two thousand or more than rupees two thousand five hundred a month. He shall not be permitted to hold any other appointment or to follow any other occupation, and shall devote his whole time and attention to the duties of his office. He shall not be eligible to be a member of the corporation; but he shall have the same right of being present at all meetings of the corporation, and of taking part in the discussions thereat, as any member of the corporation, but he shall not be at liberty to vote upon, or to move any resolution submitted to any such meeting."

He said these sections, which he had copied bodily from the Bombay Municipal Act, were, he conceived, the logical development of the measure which the Council was about to pass. As he had already explained, when the Bill provided only a Government machinery for the municipal administration of the town, the question as to whether the Government should retain the power of appointing and removing the Chairman, and whether the Chairman should also hold the office of Commissioner of Police, was different from what it now appeared to be. Now that the Council had thought fit to decide that the town should be governed by an elective corporation, partial though it was, he thought it was but proper that fair play should be given to that body, and that its executive administration should not be over-weighted with a Government nominee.

The Select Committee had now recommended certain provisions for the working of the municipality, which the Government had been pleased to accept, in the interest of the town and for the preservation of that influence of the Government over the corporation which it was thought proper it should exercise. Having done that, he did not think it was now necessary that the Government should retain the power of appointing the Chairman of the municipality. The functions of the Chairman of the municipal corporatian of Calcutta were two-fold; firstly, deliberative, and secondly, executive. In his capacity as Chairman of the deliberative assembly he presided over the meetings of the corporation, conducted the proceedings, laid the resolutions before the Commissioners, and did exactly what the Hon'ble the President of this Council did. In his executive capacity he was the chief executive officer of the corporation. He carried out the orders which he as Chairman of the municipality embodied in the statute-book of the corporation. Now he appealed to the Council to consider whether the combination of this two-fold function in the same person was consistent with the satisfactory working of the municipality. He was inclined to think that much of the friction of which they had heard so much now and then was due to this duality of functions vested in the Chairman of the Justices. If the Chairman had been an independent officer, and had no connection whatever with the deliberations of the corporation, except in so far that he should provide information and furnish facts, so as to enable the Commissioners to arrive at a sound decision upon matters placed before them, there would not have been that conflict and friction which had sometimes caused considerable dissatisfaction in the town.

When the Bill was considered in Committee of this Council at its sitting held on the 26th February last, the Hon'ble the President was pleased to remark, with reference to the control claimed by the Government over municipal affairs, that the position was analogous in Bombay. His Honor had remarked:—

"But how about Bombay? Now Bombay is at least as large as Calcutta; its population is, I believe, greater than that of Calcutta, and is at least as public-spirited and as well educated, and at least as well suited for self-government."

BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was quite willing to follow the example of Bombay. But how did matters stand in Bombay? He found that in 1872 an Act was passed in Bombay, conceding to that town the present system of municipal self-government. That Act provided a body of partly elected and partly nominated Commissioners, and also a Town Council. The Chairman of that body was elected by the Commissioners. The executive authority and responsibility rested with the Municipal Commissioner who was appointed by the Government. And this system had been in operation for the last three years. He had the evidence of the most competent local authority that it had worked fairly. The gentlemen to whom he referred was himself the Municipal Commissioner of Bombay not many years ago; he was reputed to be the author of the present constitution, and had the best opportunities of observing its practical working; and BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was much obliged to that gentleman for giving him his testimony in favour of the Bombay system, which recognized the distinct responsibility of the Chairman and the Municipal Commissioner in the form BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had proposed in the new sections, that was to say, giving the Commissioners the power of electing their own Chairman annually, and to the Government the power to appoint an executive officer answerable for the executive administration of the town. This system had worked satisfactorily; and if it had worked well in Bombay, why should it not work equally well in Calcutta? He saw no reason whatever why it should not.

It would be presumptous on his part to remind the Council that in those civilized countries where the privilege of the elective franchise was enjoyed, the right of nominating the executive officer who administered the municipality was not claimed by the Government. Of course, the position of India was somewhat peculiar, and the experiment of self-government was also new. But the experience gained in the Presidency of Bombay ought to be a fair guide to us in Calcutta. If the people of Calcutta did not fall short of their brethren in Bombay in intelligence and public spirit, he did not see why the people of Calcutta should be treated in a different manner from those of Bombay.

Then the proposition he had embodied in these sections contemplated another material change. He meant the separation of the offices of Chairman of the Justices and Commissioner of Police. And here he might inform the Council that he was not aware of any civilized city where the chief of the Police was the chief of the Municipality. It was not so in civilized Europe as far as he was aware; he believed it was not so in America; and it was not so even in the capitals of Bombay and Madras. If, then, in the sister capitals of Bombay and Madras it had been found quite practicable to carry on the municipal government without uniting the functions of Chairman of the municipal corporation and Commissioner of Police in one person, he saw no reason whatever for centralizing authority in the hands of one executive officer in this town. The practical effect of this centralization was divided responsibility. It could not be contended that the present Chairman of the Justices, with all his energy and devotedness, could perform to his own satisfaction the multifarious duties which devolved upon him; and he believed that those who knew the working of the Police and of the Municipality of Calcutta would agree with him in thinking that practically the administration of the police was left to the Deputy Commissioner, the Chairman of the Justices exercising control only in rare and exceptional cases. If, then, the Deputy Commissioner of Police was the real responsible officer, by all means centre responsibility in him, but do not divide the responsibility. The duties of

Chairman of the Justices were so various and so onerous, that they were sufficient to occupy his whole and undivided attention. He was satisfied that with the energy and ability the present Chairman of the Justices possessed, he would have done much more for the town if his mind had been less fettered with the work of various other departments; if indeed he could have given all his leisure and all his time to the performance of his legitimate duties as the head of the municipality.

There was also another question of principle involved in the centralization of this authority in the hands of the same person. He did not mean to make any personal reflections, but it was quite possible that the power the head of the municipality might possess and exercise as the head of the police might be used to the detriment of the liberty of the subject He might confess that his peculiar notion on the subject was that the head of the health department should not be the head of the thief-catching department. Thus, not only on administrative and on what he might call moral and political grounds was the separation of the functions of the Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Justices in the highest degree desirable, but also on the ground of economy this reform was much needed. He found that the Chairman of the Justices now drew Rs. 3,500 a month; the Vice-Chairman Rs. 1,200, the maximum salary, the present incumbent drawing Rs. 1,000; the Deputy Commissioner of Police Rs. 1,500, making a total of Rs. 6,200. Suppose we followed the scale of pay prescribed in the Bombay Act, from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 2,500 for the Municipal Commissioner, and he believed that if a good and efficient officer could be found in Bombay at a salary of Rs. 2,500, surely the Bengal Civil Service, which boasted of many able and efficient officers, would not be found wanting in giving us such an officer. Taking then the pay of the Chairman at the Bombay scale, Rs. 2,500, and the pay of the Commissioner of Police at Rs. 3,000, the same which was formerly given to the Commissioner of Police when the office was distinct from that of Chairman of the municipality, the total came to Rs. 5,500. He submitted that if it were decided to have a separate officer as the Municipal Commissioner for the town of Calcutta and a separate officer as Commissioner of Police, it would not be necessary to entertain another subordinate officer under the Municipal Commissioner who now held the position of Vice-Chairman. In Bombay a single Commissioner did everything in the executive department, and if the Municipal Commissioner in Calcutta devoted his whole time to the business of the municipality, it would not be necessary to entertain a separate officer as Vice-Chairman. Then, in the same way, if a single individual were charged with the control and administration of the Police, he did not think it would be necessary to entertain a separate officer as Deputy Commissioner. Practically, as he had already observed, the Police administration of the town was carried on by the Deputy Commissioner of Police, and if a single officer could now perform all that was required of him, surely the Commissioner of Police, under the proposed arrangement, with his powers and duties well defined, would be able to administer the Police without requiring the assistance of a Deputy. According to this arrangement, then, there would be a saving of Rs. 700 a month, the Municipal Commissioner being paid Rs. 2,500 and the Commissioner of Police Rs. 3,000; the present expenditure was Rs. 6,200, the proposed expenditure would be Rs. 5,500, giving a saving of Rs. 700.

He hoped he had shown that the changes he recommended were not only desirable in the interests of the municipality, but also in the interest of economy. And if the Council was pleased to accept the principles embodied in these resolutions, it would then be necessary to make the required alterations in the different provisions of the Bill. He had not named any section after which this amendment should come, because he was not sure whether they would be accepted by the Council. But he had felt it his duty to lay the propositions before the Council and hoped they would receive their best consideration. He submitted that when the Government had had the liberality to concede to the town a measure of self-government, it ought to give it fair play; and he did not for a moment believe that if these concessions were made it would end, as was apprehended in certain quarters, in a fiasco. He really believed that what had proved successful in Bombay would, cæteris paribus, prove equally successful in Calcutta.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that, as a member of the Select Committee to whom this Bill was referred to consider the control sections, he must express his surprise at the amendment which had just been proposed. The Select Committee were asked to examine the Bill as it stood, and to consider what control ought to be exercised over the new Municipal Commissioners. Now, he thought it was very possible that if provisions like those proposed by the amendment had been in the Bill when it was referred to the Select Committee, the Committee might have framed very different control sections from those which they had submitted to the Council, and which the Council had passed that day. The hon'ble member had spoken a good deal about the Bombay Municipality, and he had asked the Council to adopt the amendment, because the section formed a part of the Bombay Act. But the hon'ble member had omitted to state that the control section so much objected to in Calcutta formed a part of the Bombay Act. Section 58, which the Select Committee had omitted from this Bill, formed a part of the Bombay Municipal Act, and therefore it appeared to him that there was no analogy between the Bombay Municipal Act, which contained those stringent control sections, and this Bill, from which those identical sections had been omitted. Therefore he thought that in that respect the analogy which the hon'ble member had attempted to draw had altogether failed.

MR. BELL did not propose to enter into an argument on the various points to which the hon'ble member had referred. He thought that if the hon'ble member had wished to introduce an amendment of this sort, it ought to have been brought before the Select Committee. In fact one of the learned Counsel, who had addressed the Select Committee, had pressed upon them these very sections of the Bombay Act, and he was asked by one of the members of the Select Committee whether, if the section now sought to be introduced were adopted, the objections of his clients to section 58 standing part of the Bill would be removed. And as the learned Counsel was unable to give an answer to the question, the Select Committee did not further consider the matter.

MR. BELL did not wish to follow the hon'ble member through the various topics upon which he had touched; but he could not refrain from observing, in conclusion, that it must be very satisfactory to the hon'ble member, the Chairman of the Justices, to hear the highly eulogistic terms in which he was spoken of by his brother Justices in the municipality; but MR. BELL thought he must find it rather difficult to reconcile those laudatory expressions with the recommendation that invariably followed that his salary should be reduced or his appointment abolished.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the hon'ble member who had just spoken had referred to the stringent controlling sections of the Bombay Act. They were sections 40 and 41 of that Act. If the Council would refer to those sections they would find that they gave no power whatever to the Bombay Government to raise taxes, as the Calcutta Municipal Bill in its last form did. The Bombay Act of course gave the Government power to provide funds out of the revenues of the Municipality for meeting any charges for works prescribed in the Municipal Act, but in which there might be default, and in so far the provisions recommended by the Select Committee were substantially in accord with it. The provisions in the Calcutta Bill distinctly declared what were the particular works which were made compulsory upon the Municipal Commissioners. They must, for instance, provide funds for the payment of interest upon the loans, and make provision for the formation of a sinking fund; they must provide for the payment of the police; they must provide so much a year raised by loan for the drainage works; they must provide funds for the water-supply. And there was a further provision empowering the Government to appoint a Commission of Enquiry, if the Municipal Commissioners had failed in making adequate provision for the cleaning and conservancy of the town. Therefore, as far as the obligations of the Commissioners were concerned they had been made sufficiently stringent and sufficiently explicit. And in so far he did not see how, because the Government of Bombay had the power to draw funds from the Bank, whereas the Government of Bengal did not claim that power, but simply declared that the Chairman should carry out the orders of the Government whenever default should be made by the Commissioners in respect of the conservancy of the town, and the Chairman would then be the representative and executant of the will of the Government, there would be a material difference in the position of the two municipalities in that respect.

BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had already explained why he had not proposed an amendment at an early stage of the Bill. In fact, every memorial which had been submitted to the Council complained of the power taken by the Government for the appointment of the Chairman and also of the union of the functions of the Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Municipality in the same person. He drew the attention of the Council to the prayers of the several memorials that had been received by the Council, and asked for leave to discuss the matters therein referred to in Select Committee. The Council was pleased to decide otherwise, and he could not therefore raise the question in Select Committee.

As to what the hon'ble member had said with reference to the tribute of respect which BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had thought it his duty to pay to the hon'ble mover of the Bill who occupied the position of Chairman of the Justices, the Council ought to discuss the question irrespective of personal considerations. If the Council decided that it would be for the interest of the town to appoint a Chairman who should not be the Commissioner of Police, and that the pay of the office should be reduced, he was sure that the hon'ble mover would be the first to second the proposition; he hoped that no personal considerations would be allowed to sway the decisions of the Council in matters like this. The Council ought to discuss all questions for the good of the public and not from a feeling as to how questions might affect the interests of individual officers.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said:—"Although I am not willing to prolong a very long discussion, I must say that I cannot in the least degree concur in the amendment proposed by the hon'ble member, nor can I agree in any one of the arguments which the hon'ble member has adduced. I listened with great interest and attention to all the arguments which have been advanced by him, but I deem it my duty to say that I cannot concur in any one of them. So far from the present arrangement causing divided responsibility, as the hon'ble member seems to think, it appears to me that it has the clearest possible advantage in uniting combined responsibility. It may be that the Deputy Commissioner of Police exercises a great deal of power over the police, and that the Chairman of the Justices does not interfere very much with them. Nevertheless, he does interfere with them in some respects, and in so far as he does interfere, he interferes beneficially. But if his interference was really so rare and exceptional as the hon'ble member supposes, then what possible objection can there be to uniting the functions of Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Justices. Either the Chairman does interfere with the management of the police, or he does not; if he does not, then there is no practical harm in having the power; but if he does, I maintain that he does so with advantage.

"The duties of the Chairman may be varied and onerous, as the hon'ble member seems to consider, but I believe they will not be rendered less onerous by his being shorn of his power as Commissioner of Police, and I believe that the possession of this power renders the execution of his duty as Chairman of the Justices much more smooth than it would otherwise be; and so far from his being able to do much more for the town if he were not also Commissioner of Police (as the hon'ble member supposes), my belief is that he would be able to do much less; and that were the functions of the two offices to be divided, the state of the town would not be so good as we now see it. And as to the combined powers being used to the detriment of the poor and the liberty of the people of the town (as stated by the hon'ble member), I cannot at all believe that to be the case. I do not suppose that the police are always blameless; they may be sometimes in the wrong. But on the whole, I believe that the police powers of the town, as administered by the officer who combines the functions of Chairman of the Justices and Commissioner of Police, are exercised judiciously and considerately towards the people. There may be instances to the contrary, but whenever they occur a prompt remedy is applied. But my impression is that the police administration of the town has been on the whole just and considerate towards the people, and that it is more likely to be so when the two offices are combined in an officer who has so direct an interest in the welfare of the town as the Chairman of the Justices must necessarily have. I desire to put that in the clearest manner as regards the interests of the people, namely, that the Commissioner of Police was more likely to be merciful and considerate when he holds the office of Chairman of the Justices, than if he held the office of Commisissioner of Police only. I believe it is the combination of the two offices that greatly improves the practical adaptibility of the police administration to the needs and feelings of the people.

As regards the experience of Bombay, I need not remind the Council at this moment that I have a great respect for the example of that presidency town, having so recently quoted its experience from this chair. But there are cases in which this Council may be permitted to judge for itself, and I contend that in this matter we have a better system than that which exists at Bombay. We have what is of the greatest benefit, namely, a strong, united, and efficient executive, and I believe the condition of the city and its administration will compare favorably with that of any city in British India; and I do hope that there may be no disturbance of this part of the system, which long experience has shown to work so well."

The motion was therefore negatived.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said—"there is one point I wish to mention and to leave the decision entirely in the hands of the Council. It has been impressed upon me by the second of the two deputations which came to see me that it would give great satisfaction if, in the elective sections of the Bill, the proportion of Municipal Commissioners to be appointed by the Government should be reduced from one-third to one-fourth. I have just received a letter from the Chairman of the Indian League, which presses upon me the same view as that which was urged by the very large deputation to which I have referred. That deputation comprised many gentlemen of rank, wealth, and station, besides the members of the Indian League, and they certainly urged this point very much upon my attention. I understand that they attach very great importance to it. I myself do not see it in the same light; I don't think it very much matters whether the proportion of nominated Commissioners is one-third or one-fourth, so far as the Government is concerned; it is not a point on which the Government is particularly interested. Certainly the Government has no desire to obtain the power of appointing members who would be, as it were, Government nominees. That is not the object with which the section has been introduced. The object of the Council in introducing that section is this, that in the event of the elections not sufficiently representing certain sections of the community, particularly the Mahomedan section of the community and the European section, the Government should have the power of redressing the balance. It was for the purpose of this redressing of the balance that the proportion of one-third was taken. I am myself so far sanguine that the elections will on the whole nearly represent the different sections of the community that I am quite willing to reduce the proportion from one-third to one-fourth, if that shall be the pleasure of the Council. I think it is a concession that may be safely made. Then, on the other hand, I confess I do not attach to it the same importance which the deputation attached to it, and which I understand they still do attach to it. So, considering that it is important to make all such concessions to any important section of the rate-payers as can safely be made, I would desire to say that I for one am prepared to yield that particular point if it shall be the pleasure of the Council. If, however, the Council think otherwise, then I am quite prepared to stand by the first decision referred to. If, on the other hand, the Council are prepared to make this concession which I for one am willing to make, I think the Government will be prepared to accept it. I would not desire to press the point upon the attention of the Council, but would leave entirely to their consideration the concession asked for by this section of the rate-payers. We have had so much discussion upon the point, and the matter is so clear to the mind of every member present, that I would desire to submit the question now for their consideration, and I would ask the Council to be good enough to decide the point one way or the other at the present sitting."

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he thought it would be dangerous to reduce the proportion of nominated Commissioners, if there was to be no restriction as to the proportion of Commissioners of different nationalities that were to be elected. He thought the proportion of Commissioners to be nominated by the Government should not be reduced, while there were such important minorities that were likely to be unrepresented, as it would enable the Government to redress the balance where it might be necessary to do so.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it seemed to him that all the rate-payers, including the members of the deputation with whom he had conversed, who were in favor of reducing the proportion of nominated Commissioners, held this opinion, namely, that the Commissioners appointed by the Government would in the main vote on the side which they thought the Government approved. That was their apprehension. He himself, as the Council knew, did not share that opinion. On the contrary, he might say from past experience that the gentlemen who were nominated by the Government did not always vote with the Government. He did not at all believe that the Commissioners appointed by the Government would vote with the Government. But still there appeared to be in the public mind amongst the native community some apprehension to the contrary, and he was afraid that somehow or other they would not rid themselves of the fear that the Commissioners appointed by the Government would, as a rule, vote on the side of Government. He thought it was important, if the Council reasonably could, to allay these apprehensions. Certainly nothing was farther from the intention of the Government than that any such apprehension should be realized; therefore, the reduction of the proportion of nominated Commissioners would on the whole give confidence to a certain section of the rate-payers, the section who were most in favor of the elective system.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE said he did not think it would be advisable to alter the provisions of the Bill in this respect, and for this reason, that the elective system was an experiment. Some such change might perhaps hereafter be made if the system were found to work well; but when the Council started with a measure which had not been tried, he did not think it would be quite consistent with the position the Municipality held to the Government to reduce the proposed number of nominated Commissioners from one-third to one-fourth of the whole number. But supposing the Council were of opinion that the number might be reduced, then he would propose for the consideration of the Council that it should be provided that the number of Commissioners to be appointed by the Government should be not more than one-third; that would leave a discretion to the Government to appoint any number not being more than one-third of the whole number.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI and the HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN expressed themselves in favor of the proportion of one-third.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that the proposition made by the hon'ble member on his right (Baboo Juggadanund Mookerjee) might perhaps be improved by providing that the number of nominated Commissioners should be not more than one-third and not less than one-fourth. The Lieutenant-Governor would then be in a position to fix the number according to what he considered the necessities of the case. The position of the matter seemed to be this. The Council seemed to think that one-third was the smallest number that could safely be fixed for this experiment, but the executive Government took a more liberal view, and was inclined to try with a less number. The Council thought it dangerous to do so, but they did not wish to refuse the Government its wish of making the more liberal attempt. They did not wish to say to the Government "you shall not be more liberal than we are."

The Hon'ble Sir Stuart Hogg considered the suggestion impracticable; it would necessitate an entire reconstruction of the constitution clauses of the Bill.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said that as he was in favor of the lesser proportion, and had suggested the proportion of one-fourth when the question was proposed in the first instance, he would, to bring the matter to an issue, move that in section 6, line 1, the number "eighteen" be substituted for "twenty-four," and that in section 7, line 1, the word "fifty-four" be substituted for "forty-eight."

The Hon'ble Mr. Brookes said he was in favor of the proportion of one-third. When one-fourth was suggested, the Bill provided for the election of Commissioners of the different nationalities in certain proportions, and it was his suggestion that under those circumstances the Government should have power to nominate eighteen Commissioners, so that the Government might have power to balance the nationalities if the elected Commissioners should consist entirely or almost entirely of Hindoos. He thought it very wise that the Government should have such power, and he should therefore support the proportion of one-third and vote against reducing it to one-fourth.

The Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds said he thought the proportion of one-fourth nominated Commissioners was sufficient, but the opinion of the majority of the Council seemed to be the other way.

His Honor the President thought that those rate-payers who were anxious that the proportion of one-third should be substituted for one-fourth, would see that the question had been fully put before the Council and had been exactly considered, and that the sense of the Council was decidedly against it; there seemed to be no doubt of that being the opinion of the Council. He himself did not attach to it that importance which the members of the deputation to which he had referred seemed to attach to it; and being quite certain in his own mind that the fear they entertained would not be realized, at least in his time, he should not very much care, as far as he was personally concerned, which way the question was decided; for he should certainly not appoint members to the municipal commission with the view of their voting with the Government. The Government had no interest in the matter except that the policy of improvement should continue.

The Council then divided:—

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 23rd March 1876.

READ—

A letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 85A, dated the 17th February 1876, showing the position and remuneration of the managers of the estates administered by the Court of Wards.

The report of the Board of Revenue on the administration of wards' and attached estates for the year 1874-75.

THE compilation of the annual report on wards' estates for the year 1873-74 was suspended in consequence of the famine, many of the largest and most important estates under the Court being situated in the distressed districts. The appendices, however, to the present report contain the figured statements for both years, though the report itself is for the year 1874-75.

2. The report, though submitted somewhat late, gives a very clear and complete review of this important department of the administration, and the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the Member in charge for the careful and comprehensive manner in which the report has been drawn up, and for the valuable information which it gives regarding the history and position of the estates to which it refers. The report, in fact, is not merely a narrative of the transactions of the year, but it forms a manual of reference which will be of permanent usefulness and interest.

3. As regards the general principles upon which these estates should be managed, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to adhere to the views which he has already expressed, and which are quoted in the 7th paragraph of the report. It should be the aim, he thinks, of the officers of Government to make a ward's estate a model of a well managed property. On the one hand, it should not be a primary object to add to the area of the estate by fresh purchases of land, or to accumulate large sums of ready money, or to raise the rent-roll by enhancements which would impoverish the cultivators, or to resume plots of land which are held rent-free in accordance with the customs and feelings of native proprietors. On the other hand, the due rights of the landlord should be maintained unimpaired, the punctual payment of reasonable rents should be insisted on, and more money should not be spent on improvements, or for such purposes as schools and dispensaries, than an enlightened and liberal minded landlord might be expected to lay out upon objects of the kind. Surplus funds may always be spent upon reproductive improvements, which will return a fair interest on the outlay; but the officers of Government are not required, any more than the landlord himself could be required, to devote to charity, to education, or to other benefits to the tenantry, a larger sum than is in accordance with the circumstances of the estate and the position of the proprietor. The fiduciary nature of the management of these estates by Government must be carefully kept in mind in all expenditure which may be proposed. At the same time Sir Richard Temple desires to record an expression of his concurrence in the view taken by the Member in charge that a zemindar who has leased out his estate should not regard himself as occupying the position of an annuitant, and is not relieved from all moral obligation to contribute to improvements affecting the condition of the cultivators. He should remember that he is still the zemindar of the estate.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the same principles should be applied to the selection of the system which it may be thought advisable to adopt for the management of these estates. He entirely accepts the opinion of his predecessor that the farming system ought not, as a rule, to be permitted. But he would prohibit it, not only because it is inconvenient to the ryots, but because it is prejudicial to the best interests of the landlord. It happens that large estates are managed by the Court of Wards in two parts of the country in which the farming system is very generally adopted by native proprietors, namely, in Behar and in Chota Nagpore. Experience has shown that in Behar objectionable results have followed from this system. The farmer has sometimes been a mere outside speculator, whose only object it was to realize all he could during the brief term of his management, and whose interests were consequently directly opposed to those both of the ryots and of the proprietor. The Lieutenant-Governor is therefore glad to learn that in the wards' estates in Behar great progress has been made in the introduction of a system of direct settlement between the zemindar and the cultivators. In Chota Nagpore, on the other hand, the farming system is not only in accordance with popular feelings and habits, but is found to be productive of practical benefit, and to afford the best inducement to improvement. The farmers on these estates are leading men of the ryot's own class, and the farms have often been hereditary in their families for several generations. It is for the interest of the farmer to extend cultivation, to assist the tenantry in a bad season, and to develope the resources of the property. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that where these conditions are found to exist, the true interests of the proprietor, which are inseparable from those of the cultivators, are in no way imperilled by a continuance of the farming system under the vigilant supervision of the authorities, and he accordingly approves of the orders of the Member in charge which have sanctioned a partial recurrence to the plan of farming leases in Chota Nagpore.

5. During the year 1874-75 there were 111 properties, comprising 1,806 separate towjih estates, under the management of the Court of Wards. This number of estates is exclusive of the properties of Narail in Jessore, and Kissengunge in Purneah, the returns for which have not yet been received. Besides these, 327 attached estates were managed by the revenue authorities. Of these, no less than 306 are petty estates sequestrated for debt in the Chota Nagpore division. The current demand of rent for 1874-75 on account of wards' and attached estates was Rs. 72,48,116, and the arrear demand was Rs. 1,16,37,836, making a total of Rs. 1,88,85,952. The Government revenue of the estates was Rs. 28,51,230, and Rs. 5,72,806 were payable as rent to superior landlords. The collections of rent during the year were Rs. 66,86,077, or a percentage of 35·4 to the total current and arrear demand. The cost of management is moderate, only in a few exceptional cases amounting to as much as 20 per cent. on the current demand, and being in the great majority of estates much below this ratio. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the assurance of the Member in charge that every effort is used to administer these estates with as much economy as circumstances will permit. The remissions of rent granted during the year amounted to Rs. 32,81,166; but nearly the whole of these were nominal, and were granted upon two estates, the Satkhira estate in the 24-Pergunnahs, and the zemindaree of the minor Rajah of Cooch Behar. The remissions upon the former of these properties amounted to Rs. 28,87,592, and upon the latter to Rs. 2,46,391, the remissions upon other estates being mostly insignificant. It is explained that the large remission on the Satkhira property is merely nominal, and consists in the writing off of old arrears which accrued before the property came under the Court, and which have never been recoverable.

6. The percentage of demand realized during the year is admitted in the report to be unsatisfactory, but the smallness of the amount is to be explained partly by the special circumstances of the year, and partly by the general condition of the estates which come under the management of the Court. In the districts which had suffered from the famine it was impossible to press the ryots, and consequently the collections, though better than those of the year 1873-74, fell short of the amount realized in 1872-73. But in addition to this temporary difficulty there are permanent causes which operate to prevent wards' estates as a whole from showing in any year a satisfactory percentage of collections. The Court is sometimes called upon to assume the management of estates the papers of which show large nominal balances which are practically irrecoverable. For example, the Satkhira property, with a rent-roll of less than 3¼ lakhs, came under the charge of the Court in 1872 with outstanding balances of more than 60 lakhs of rupees. Besides this, the managers appointed by the Court have unavoidably to take charge without previous knowledge of the circumstances of the property, and there are sure to be, in some cases, persons whose interest it is to thwart and obstruct the manager and to hinder his obtaining accurate information. Sometimes again, when, after continued efforts, the management is at last brought into smooth working order, the ward attains his majority, the estate passes out of the hands of the Court, and the same difficulties have to be encountered and overcome in a new set of estates. When these adverse circumstances are duly considered, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the measure of success which has been attained in the collection of rents is creditable to the energy and perseverance of the officers of the Court of Wards.

7. The financial position of each estate is explained at length in the report, but in this Resolution it is not possible to take more than a general review, and separate instructions will be issued regarding such matters of detail as appear to call for particular notice. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that a considerable number of estates have come under the management of the Court either on the application of the proprietors themselves, or in accordance with the testamentary dispositions of deceased proprietors. The condition of the tenantry in estates under the Court is stated to be generally good, and the relations between the managers and the ryots are amicable. There are, however, reasons which make it desirable that a fuller enquiry should be instituted regarding the condition of the ryots on some of the large estates in Behar, and orders for this enquiry have already been issued.

8. Assistance to the people was liberally given during the famine from the surplus funds of the estates under the Court, especially on the important properties of Hutwa and Durbhunga. Extensive relief works were prosecuted, and advances of cash and grain were made to the distressed tenantry. The Lieutenant-Governor has already remarked, in his Minute of the 31st October 1874, that these relief measures were carried out with the entire approval and concurrence of the families of the minor proprietors.

9. The education of the minors whose estates are under the management of the Court is carefully attended to. Eleven of them are now in the Calcutta Wards' Institution, others are being educated at Benares, or in the several zillah and high schools of the districts in which their estates are situated. The wards in the Calcutta Institution attend the Hindu School. Their general conduct is favorably spoken of by the Director.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor lately called for a report showing the position of the managers of estates under the charge of the Court, and this report has been furnished in the letter which is quoted at the head of this Resolution. It appears from this that the great majority of the managers are not in Government employ, and that the Commissioners are divided in opinion upon the question whether the employment of a Government servant is desirable or not. The Member in charge considers that it will generally be found most expedient to appoint qualified Government officers as managers, but that a discretion may properly be left to the Court to appoint other persons when the circumstances of the estate or peculiar personal qualifications may render such a measure expedient. In this opinion the Lieutenant-Governor generally concurs. The Lieutenant-Governor remarks that the Paikpara estate, which is one of the most successfully managed properties under the Court, is in the charge of a gentleman who is not a servant of Government.

11. In concluding this review, the Lieutenant-Governor desires again to express his recognition of the value of the supervision exercised by Mr. Schalch over this important department of the administration.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,
